METROPOLITAN POLICE DEPARTMENT

March 4, 2015

The Honorable Kenyan McDuffie
Chair, Committee on the Judiciary
1350 Pennsylvania Avenue, NW
Washington, DC 20004

Dear Councilmember McDuffie:

This letter is in response to your correspondence of February 14, 2015, in advance of the Committee’s Fiscal Year 2014 Performance Oversight hearing of the Metropolitan Police Department (MPD).

- 1. Please provide, as an attachment to your answers, a current organizational chart for the agency that shows where all FTE positions are allocated. Please include the number of vacant, frozen, and filled FTEs marked on each box. Also include the effective date on the chart.

The organizational chart is attached, and a table with the personnel information is below. The table below identifies civilian vacancies that are funded and approved for hiring. It does not reflect sworn “vacancies,” as deployment is allocated according to the current staffing levels. All new recruits are assigned to patrol upon graduation from the training academy, and veteran sworn members are allocated to address current and emerging issues as needed.

2. As an attachment, please provide a list of all positions, department-wide, with the names of the employee filling each position. Please include columns for: duty status, whether acting rank above, and whether detailed elsewhere (identifying detail).

Please see the attached document.

3. Of the total number of positions, how many are sergeants? Please provide a list of those positions, including the name of the person filling that position and where they are assigned and/or detailed.

There are currently 434 sergeants. In addition, four sergeants are serving as acting lieutenants and counted in question 4. Please see the attached document for details.

4. Of the total number of positions, how many are lieutenants? Please provide a list of those positions, including the name of the person filling that position and where they are assigned and/or detailed.

There are currently 128 lieutenants, which includes four sergeants acting as lieutenants, and excludes one lieutenant acting as a captain. Please see the attached document for details.

5. As an attachment, please provide a roster of all details and special assignments.

Please see the attached document. Per General Order 201.04 Special Assignment Positions (also attached), for members below the rank of Sergeant, all non-patrol assignments are special assignments.

6. Please provide, as an attachment, a Schedule A for the agency, which identifies all employees by title/position, duty status, current salaries, fringe benefits, and program office, as of February 1, 2015. This Schedule A should also indicate any vacant or frozen positions in the agency.

Please see the attached document provided by the Office of the Chief Financial Officer (OCFO).

7. For fiscal year 2014, please list each employee whose salary is $110,000 or more. Provide the name, position title, and salary. Also, state the amount of any overtime and also any bonus pay for each employee on the list.

8. For fiscal year 2015, please list each employee whose salary is $110,000 or more. Provide the name, position title, and salary. Also, state the amount of any overtime and also any bonus pay for each employee on the list.

Please see the information requested in questions 7 and 8 in the tables below. Please note that the list has expanded in FY15 because of raises granted by the previous administration after the conclusion of the collective bargaining with the Fraternal Order of Police. In addition, although sworn members of the rank of Inspector and above are not eligible to earn overtime, they may have earned compensatory time while they were in lower ranks which had been carried over to the present. In FY14, when the District Department of Human Resources switched to a newer version of Peoplesoft, DC Comp time balances that had been carried by command staff members were converted to FLSA. Rather than accrue the FLSA balances, the District paid these down so that they do not accrue to eventually be paid at potentially higher rates of pay. None of these employees earned any bonus pay.

All information related to these figures was provided by the OCFO.

9. Please list in descending order the top 25 overtime earners in your agency in fiscal year 2014. For each, state the employee's name, position or title, salary, and aggregate overtime pay.

The top overtime earners are listed below. Only 6 percent of this overtime is funded by local dollars for court, and 18 percent for local law enforcement overtime. The majority (54%) is for automated traffic enforcement (ATE). Although this used to be classified as an O-Type fund, it was moved to local funds. Nevertheless, it is still supported by the ATE revenue. All of the members in the table below earning 10 percent or more from court or other (non-ATE) local dollars are detectives or their supervisors for whom the overtime is used to support criminal investigations.

10. Please provide a description of how and when overtime shifts are created and how officer selections are made to fill overtime slots.

Planned overtime shifts – as opposed to unanticipated overtime needed for law enforcement issues such as processing arrests, call backs, or holding members over to deal with emergencies (such as weather and critical incidents) – vary by event type.

- On-premises alcohol establishments: Businesses licensed for on-premises alcohol consumption can request from MPD “reimbursable details.” By law, officers may not work part time for these establishments, but can work overtime, during which they are working for and accountable to the Department. In accordance with federal law, these members are paid at an overtime rate to be reimbursed by the establishment. A coordinator in each relevant police district tracks the assignment. The overtime slot is available on a first come basis to members who have taken an online training, with first preference giving to members in the district. If a slot is not filled by a district member, the opportunity is paged out department wide, and filled by officers who have taken the training based on who calls in first. If officers violate the Reimbursable Detail directive (for instance by not showing up for an assignment or not providing a required report), they are prohibited from participating for 60 to 90 days.

- Crime-related overtime: Occasionally, overtime to address a specific crime issue may be available. Police district commanders create a plan of action, identify deployment areas, and assign officers from the relevant districts who volunteer to work this overtime.
- Special events: When a special event on public space is approved by the Mayor's Special Event Task Group, MPD receives a request for reimbursable police services. The special event or request for police services is then assigned to the Special Operations Division (SOD) – Planning & Logistics Unit, which works with the event planners to assess the number of officers needed to staff the event. The actual number of personnel required for each special event or detail is determined by the specific concerns associated with each special event, and the number of personnel needed to maintain public safety during it. In general, these special events are deemed to be reimbursable details in which the overtime is paid by the organizer.

After the initial SOD planning process, a teletype is issued department-wide outlining the overtime positions required to staff the special event and instructing members how to sign up for the overtime. The overtime staffing is filled on a "first come" basis utilizing email time stamps. The selected members are then notified by email that they have been selected and where to report for the overtime assignment.

This process is utilized when the special event has been planned in advance, and there is sufficient time to announce the overtime positions to the Department. However, in the instances of certain dignitary movements where there is insufficient time to issue a teletype, or if there is a late vacancy in the staffing, the overtime is announced to the entire Department through the RSAN Alert system, which reaches members' cell phones, email accounts, or other selected electronic device designated by the member.

- Specialized Units: Certain overtime assignments for specialized or technical positions are filled internally within the Special Operations Division, where specific SOD personnel are required to perform the specific assignment, such as a Detail Commander, EOD Technician, EOD K9 Handler, Boat Operator, Tactical Officer, Motor Officer, and Motorcade Escort Officer.
- Automated Traffic Enforcement: Only trained and certified police officers can work the overtime shifts that ensure the photo enforcement equipment is deployed per our operating schedule and that all speed enforcement units are set up, tested, and operating properly. They are also used as the last step in our review and approval process prior to mailing tickets. The officers were selected for training and certification in 2010 and 2011 based on a randomly assigned number, with approximately the first three hundred receiving training. Each month, certified officers sign up for one or two shifts per week, on a first come, first served basis.

- Traffic and other Grant Funded enforcement: The Department receives several grants that allow for overtime traffic enforcement. When an initiative is scheduled, a teletype notification is issued department wide instructing members on how to sign up for the special event overtime, and when they can begin signing up. The overtime staffing is filled on a “first come” basis utilizing email time stamps.

Certain grant funded programs, such as some impaired driving enforcement, car seat installation, or underage tobacco sales must rely on members with specialized training. Because the number of members with such training is small, the notice is usually issued to members with the training.

Events for which we receive limited notice may be handled differently in order to ensure that members with the appropriate training and experience are available and on site.

11. Please explain how overtime abuse is identified and dealt with, and how overtime abuse will be prevented in the future.

MPD monitors overtime abuse by: (1) establishing expectations of all managers that it is their responsibility to manage all resources entrusted to them; (2) holding managers specifically accountable for the overtime used under their command; and (3) regularly auditing overtime and conducting integrity checks to monitor its usage. These three initiatives have contributed to the overall reduction in overtime. As shown in the last several years, the top 25 overtime earners are either members who are earning their overtime in functions that are ATE-related, reimbursed, or are detectives.

All MPD employees are aware that efficient use of total resources is a primary objective for me, and all resources, to include labor, are to be managed in the most efficient and effective way possible.

12. For fiscal years 2013, 2014, and 2015 (to date), please provide a list of employee bonuses or special award pay granted that identifies the employee receiving the bonus or special pay, the amount received, and the reason for the bonus or special pay.

The information below was provided by the OCFO. There were no Bonuses or Special Pays awarded during fiscal years 2014 and 2015 (to date).

Year	Name	Type	Amount	Reason
2013	Chintan Patel	Bonus Pay	5,000	Hiring bonus for a hard to fill IT position.

13. For fiscal years 2014 and 2015 (to date), please list all intra-District transfers to or from the agency.

14. For fiscal years 2014 and 2015 (to date), please identify any special purpose revenue funds maintained by, used by, or available for use by your agency. For each fund identified, provide: (1) the revenue source name and code; (2) the source of funding; (3) a description of the program that generates the funds; (4) the amount of funds generated by each source or program; and (5) expenditures of funds, including the purpose of each expenditure.

The information below was provided by the OCFO.

FY15 Special Purpose Revenue Funds

Agency Fund: 1555 Reimbursement from other Government Agencies (non-DC)

Authority to Charge Fee: Administrative Authority

Authority to Dedicate: D.C. Official Code § 1-204.24d (this section of the Home Rule Act provides general statutory authority for accounting procedures and fund controls)

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: The purpose of this lapsing fund is to reimburse the Police and Fire Clinic, which is administered by MPD, for the costs of serving outside law enforcement agencies such as the U.S. Park Police and the U.S. Secret Service. The clinic provides medical evaluation and care to injured officers. Starting in FY2011 and going forward, this fund is also used for reimbursements from the federal government (and states) for participation in regional task forces (e.g., Money Laundering Task Force, Regional Fugitive Task Force, Joint Terrorism Task Force, etc.). These reimbursements—governed by an MOA—are predominantly for reimbursement of overtime incurred during an MPD officer’s participation in a regional task force.

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: The fund receives revenue from reimbursements paid by other law enforcement agencies.

Fiscal Year	Fund Detail	Revenue	Expenditures
2014	1555 – Reimb. from Other Governments	$1,261,429	$1,040,936
2015*	1555 – Reimb. from Other Governments	$52,762	$85,913

Authority to Charge Fee: D.C. Official Code § 47-2826, Title III of the FY2015 Budget Support Act of 2014 (under Congressional Review), and DCMR Title 24, Chapter 38.

Authority to Dedicate: D.C. Official Code § 1-204.24d (this section of the Home Rule Act provides general statutory authority for accounting procedures and fund controls) and Title III of the FY2015 Budget Support Act of 2014 (under Congressional Review)

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: The purpose of this lapsing fund is to reimburse the Metropolitan Police Department (MPD) for the cost of overtime needed for the MPD to staff certain bars and clubs in DC, and special events such as parades, carnivals, and movie productions.

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: The Fund receives revenue from the owners, managers, or promoters of bars, clubs, and special events. Although the managers or promoters of an event must pay a license fee of $205 per day (which is collected by the Department of Consumer and Regulatory Affairs), the statute further provides that, “The Mayor may adjust the license fee to cover the costs to the District of providing, police, fire, and other public services that are necessary to protect public health and safety.” Furthermore, Title III of the FY2015 Budget Support Act of 2014 (under Congressional Review) provides that MPD can charge and collect reimbursable fees for providing police escorts, staffing special events, and providing security details to establishments such as bars, nightclubs, and sports teams which are necessary to protect public health and safety. Currently MPD charges a rate of $65.45 per officer hour, unless otherwise specified in a separate agreement. This rate, provided in DCMR Title 24, Chapter 38, will increase by 3% on October 1st of each fiscal year.

Fiscal Year	Fund Detail	Revenue	Expenditures
2014	1614 – Miscellaneous, Overtime	$3,957,926	$3,957,926
2015	1614 – Miscellaneous, Overtime	$2,668,512	$1,800,686

\ As of 2/18/15*

Agency Fund: 7278 Asset Forfeiture

Authority to Charge Fee: United States Code Title 21, Section 853; Title 21, Section 881; Title 18, Section 981; and Title 19, Section 1616a

Authority to Dedicate: D.C. Official Code § 1-204.24d (this section of the Home Rule Act provides general statutory authority for accounting procedures and fund controls)

DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE OF FUND: This is a non-lapsing fund that supports a variety of law enforcement functions of the Metropolitan Police Department, such as reward payments, witness protection, and confidential informants. Beginning in FY2019, this fund will no longer be receiving revenue as a result of Act 20-619, the “Civil Asset Forfeiture Amendment Act of 2014.” Details are provided below.

DESCRIPTION OF REVENUE SOURCE: The revenue for the fund comes from asset and property seizures by federal law enforcement agencies for violations of the controlled substances and racketeering acts. Under the “Equitable Sharing “ program, the U.S. Attorney General has the authority to share property, as well as proceeds from the sale of the property, with state and local law enforcement agencies that participated directly in the seizure or forfeiture. Federal law allows revenue allocated to state and local law enforcement agencies through the Equitable Sharing program to be used for law enforcement purposes.

Act 20-0619, the “Civil Asset Forfeiture Amendment Act of 2014,” requires that any proceeds from a federal asset forfeiture case be deposited into the general fund beginning on October 1, 2018 (FY 2019). This would be in violation of the requirements of the Equitable Sharing program, and will result in the loss of equitable sharing revenue and effectively eliminate participation in the program. Therefore, this fund will no longer be receiving revenue beginning in FY2019.

Revenues derived from asset forfeitures conducted independently by the D.C. government are already deposited into the general fund.

Fiscal Year	Fund Detail	Revenue	Expenditures
2014	7278 – Asset Forfeiture	$792,076	$74,032
2015	7278 – Asset Forfeiture	$141,612	$120,377

*As of 2/18/15. Fund 7278 is a non-lapsing fund. In FY14, the OCFO transferred expenditures during the year-end close process to Local since the Local budget had a sufficient surplus.

24. For fiscal years 2014 and 2015 (to date), what was the total cost (including, but not limited to equipment and service plans) for mobile communications and devices?

Device	FY2014		1QFY2015
	Count*	Cost	Count*	Cost
Cell Phones (devices with Voice/Data plans)	880	$590,322	903	$150,279

Total		$1,253,675		$321,809

*Note: counts include spare equipment and equipment pending disconnection

**Note: includes tablets, laptops, photo enforcement cameras, license plate readers and hand-held ticket writers

For 2015, per unit plan costs are trending down from 2014 due to a change in telecomm management practices resulting in greater efficiency; phones and plans are being recycled rather than cancelled and started anew.

25. Please provide the total number of vehicle accidents involving your agency's vehicles for fiscal years 2014 and 2015 (to date).

As of February 20, 2015, there were 325 preventable accidents, 370 non-preventable accidents, 134 incidents of damage or destruction to MPD vehicles, and 56 incidents that have not been ruled on by the Crash Review Board (CRB) for Fiscal Year 2014.

Additionally, there were 56 preventable accidents, 47 non-preventable accidents, 25 incidents of damage or destruction to MPD vehicles, and 205 incidents that have not been ruled on by the CRB for Fiscal Year 2015, as of February 20, 2015.

The Commander of MPA is a member of the CRB and attends every meeting. Reports are regularly reviewed to incorporate any deficiencies identified in the field into the driver training curriculum. (e.g. backing is a good example of an area that we continue to focus on due to the number of preventable crashes).

26. In table format, please provide the following information for fiscal years 2013, 2014, and 2015 (to date) regarding your agency's authorization of employee travel: (1) individuals (by name and title/position) authorized to travel outside the District; (2) total expense for each trip (per person, per trip, etc.); and (3) justification for the travel (per person).

The OCFO is preparing this information, and it will be submitted as soon as possible.

If your agency employs WAE contract, or term personnel, please provide, in table format, the name of each employee, position title, the length of their term or contract, the date on which they first started with your agency, and the date on which their term or contract expires.

28. Please provide your anticipated spending pressures for fiscal year 2015. Include a description of the pressure, the estimated amount, and any proposed solutions.

The agency is currently facing a $21.1 million spending pressure for personnel services expenditures due to the sworn union salary increase decided in arbitration on February 3, 2014. For FY 2015, the increase is budgeted in the Workforce Investment fund. To address this pressure, the funds will be transferred from the Workforce Investment fund to the MPD local budget.

29. Please provide, as an attachment, a copy of your agency's fiscal year 2014 performance plan. Please explain which performance plan objectives were completed and whether or not they were completed on-time and within budget. If they were not, please provide an explanation.

30. Please provide, as an attachment, a copy of your agency's fiscal year 2015 performance plan as submitted to the Office of the City Administrator.

In response to questions 29 and 30, the Department's FY14 and FY15 Performance Plans and FY14 Performance Accountability Report addressing each individual project are attached.

31. What are your top five priorities for the agency? Please provide a detailed explanation for how the agency expects to achieve or work toward these priorities in fiscal years 2015 and 2016.

Homicide Reduction: Reducing homicides remains MPD's highest priority. The Department continues to analyze the underlying causes of all homicides in the District to determine trends and their impact on crime, disorder, and calls for service. For instance, in 2014, the number of domestic homicides nearly doubled, and more homicides occurred inside a car or structure. These issues highlight the need for comprehensive interventions that go beyond traditional patrol and policing strategies. Other agencies, organizations, and the community as a whole play a vital role in preventing violence. Mayor Bowser is committed to focusing the resources of the District government on reducing violent crime in our communities. In 2015, MPD will continue the focus on deploying additional resources to the Sixth and Seventh Districts, where over 50 percent of the homicides occurred in 2014. Moreover, our Nightlife Units have had a substantial impact on the areas in which they patrol. There have been fewer homicides related to nightlife establishments this year, and it is clear that the Nightlife Units are also a large reason that robberies declined by 18 percent compared to 2013. This is critical because violent robberies can all too often "go bad" and become a homicide.

Body Worn Cameras: After researching the potential deployment of body worn cameras (BWC) for 18 months, MPD launched a pilot project on October 1, 2014. The Department worked with other law enforcement agencies, criminal justice partners, and various civil justice groups in developing the pilot program and policy. The presence of cameras will benefit the community and MPD members by improving police services, increasing accountability, and enhancing public safety. The pilot began with the testing of five BWC models to determine which model meets our needs. The Department has selected the Taser camera and system, and is expanding the deployment by converting approximately 250 pilot project cameras to the preferred model. Once all of the cameras are on the same platform, the cameras will be redeployed to patrol and the Special Operations Division. The number of new cameras available will be contingent on funding, but the deployment is scalable to the amount of funding available. The cost to outfit one member with a BWC and provide the storage solution the cost is approximately $1500 per person per year.

Addressing the Retirement Bubble: In 1989, MPD began a massive hiring effort that culminated in approximately 1,500 members being hired in less than two years. Since sworn members hired at that time are eligible for retirement once they have served 25 years and reached 50 years of age, we have reached the long anticipated “retirement bubble,” during which the number of members eligible to retire will skyrocket. One of the resulting challenges is that the Department is now in the position where more officers will be leaving each year than it can responsibly hire while maintaining high standards. Civilians can do many of the jobs that officers are doing, but whenever funding is cut or frozen, their salaries and positions have historically been the first to go. In FY15, MPD can use vacancy savings from the higher attrition to hire civilians. This will allow us to return officers to operational functions far faster than the Department can recruit, hire, and train officers. The long term costs to the city are lower as well.

Modernize Drug Enforcement & Crime Prevention: Law enforcement must recognize that major shifts have taken place in the criminal drug industry, as well as in the attitudes about effective government response to substance abuse. MPD is working with our partners to develop a progressive strategy that focuses on prevention and intervention, rather than incarceration. MPD will design a strategy that not only addresses the street level drug trade, but also targets the growing sophistication of the violent criminal enterprises that are often associated with illegal drugs, goods, and guns.

Family Division: The Department is launching a multi-year effort to create a multi-faceted, family-focused approach to youth in an effort to protect children, build strong families, and prevent juvenile crime. Crime involving youth, both as victim or offender, is a complex and challenging problem, and the government and community approach to these challenges needs to be comprehensive and sophisticated. As a first step, MPD has moved the two units with the greatest responsibility for engaging and interacting with youth and families, the Youth Investigations Division and School Security Division, under one command. Later in 2015, the Department will also move the Domestic Violence Unit under this single command to create a robust Family Division. This will allow the Department to craft a comprehensive and cohesive strategy, involving the participation of all our vital partners, to refocus our efforts and improve our engagement of youth and families.

In addition, other citizen volunteers and interns contributed an additional almost $1 million dollars in supplemental volunteer services contributions.

36. Describe MPD's recruiting efforts for fiscal years 2014 and 2015 (to date).

The Department's current hiring standards are the most rigorous they have been in decades. We currently hire about one out of every 25 people who submit applications. In other words, in order to hire a class of 30 recruit officers, we need 750 people to fill out an application. This is a more selective hiring rate from just a few years ago when we hired about one in 10 applicants. And it is an extraordinary improvement from the hiring standards from the late 1980s and early 1990s. Moreover it is significantly more selective than most other police departments.

The Department has been able to achieve this while still meeting its hiring goals by analyzing and improving its outreach strategy and reorganizing its vetting process so that people who are not committed to law enforcement or have clear disqualifiers are eliminated early in the process.

The Department's Recruiting Division conducted several outreach efforts during FY2014 to Present. Our recruiting strategy is focused on web-based advertisements that reach a diverse community and job fairs at various locations throughout DC/MD/VA/NY. The Department is advertising with a variety of websites that target specific audiences, including:

- Adicio Networks, which includes Diversity-In-Careers, All-Diversity, Hire-A-Hero, Military1, MilitaryVetJobs, DC-Military, and CareerCast;
- NaceLink.com, which reaches more than 500 colleges nationwide, including Historically Black Colleges and Universities (HBCUs) and Hispanic Servicing Institutions (HSIs), and more than 40 colleges in the Washington-Baltimore area;
- Monster.com and Military.com;
- DCJobs.com, which has been a successful recruiting tool for diverse applicant pools and has several related sites in cities like Baltimore, Detroit, Atlanta, and Chicago;
- WashingtonPost.com, which is linked to numerous local and national job boards, such as DiversityWorking.com, LatPro.com, Diversity-Job.com, and several veteran-focused sites; and
- CareerBuilders.com, which is one of the largest job boards.

37. Please provide the number of MPD recruits hired since October 1, 2014. Include the number of recruits per class and the date each class was hired.

Five classes have been hired in FY 2015, for a total of 111 hires:

- 25 hires on October 20, 2014
- 20 hires on November 17, 2014.
- 20 hires on December 15, 2014
- 23 hires on January 26, 2015
- 23 hires on February 23, 2015

38. Please provide the number of sworn officers, separated by rank, currently eligible for retirement.

39. How many additional sworn officers will be eligible in 2015?

In response to questions 38 and 39, please see below a detailed report of retirement eligibility between now and the end of 2017. The proportion of the sworn members who are eligible to retire will more than double – from 7 percent to 15 percent – in the next 10 months. By that time, half of all command staff – which is members of the rank of inspector and above, will be eligible to retire.

As of February 23, 2015

40. In the 2012 One City Performance Review, it was noted that MPD staffing levels may not align with current demands. Specifically, the review mentioned that MPD had twice as many officers per crime and that a reduction could lead to significant savings. Has MPD adjusted staffing levels based on this review? If so, please explain the efforts MPD has undertaken to adjust staffing levels.

This review was not conducted in conjunction with the Department. We had not seen this document until the Councilmember’s staff shared it. Therefore I would conclude that the Gray Administration did not support it. However, identifying the “right” number of officers for the District of Columbia is certainly not a novel issue. Indeed, I discussed it at length with the Council at a hearing on Bill 19-226, Metropolitan Police Department Minimum Staffing Amendment Act, back in June 2011. I have attached this testimony as it discusses many of the same issues raised in this document, as well as other issues – such as sworn staffing targets, the retirement bubble, and civilianization – that are just as important today as they were in 2011.

41. Has MPD conducted a time study analysis to target activities where officers spend an excessive or inefficient amount of time? If so, please attach the study and give an explanation of the time study results.

No, the Department has neither conducted nor contracted out the completion of a time study analysis. Nevertheless, the focus for the past eight years has certainly been on making the Department more efficient. For instance, overtime was historically a primary cost-driver for MPD budget overruns. That is certainly no longer the case. Working aggressively with the court and prosecutors, MPD has been able to encourage needed reforms that reduced court-related overtime costs for the District and freed up on-duty officers to be on the street instead of waiting for trials or meetings. As a result, court overtime is significantly lower than it was when Chief Lanier’s tenure began. In FY2007 through FY2009, court overtime averaged almost 250,000 hours per year. After significant efforts to reform papering and court processes, the average annual court overtime dropped 43 percent, to an average of approximately 140,000 hours per year (FY09-FY13). MPD has consistently reduced other law enforcement related overtime hitting the local budget through better oversight and management of overtime hours.

Another frequent task that was an inefficient use of officer time and city resources was hospital details. Prior to FY2014, MPD managed the Central Cell Block (CCB), where all arrestees held overnight pending court arraignment were housed. At CCB, no on-site medical services were available to arrestees. If an arrestee complained of minor “non-urgent” medical ailments (e.g., headache, joint pain, toothache), the arrestee would be transferred to a local hospital emergency room by D.C. Fire and Emergency Management Services (FEMS) or MPD. In addition, often at least two officers would accompany the arrestee. In 2012, approximately 90 percent of MPD accompanied trips to D.C. area emergency rooms resulted in the arrestee-patient waiting in excess of one hour to be triaged and treated.

In addition, historically, on any given night, 18 to 40 officers were pulled off the street to sit on hospital details with arrestees. The total time officers would spend out-of-service was equivalent to 7 to 13 officers for a full tour of duty. Moreover, since an individual arrested on a Saturday who must await arraignment on Monday morning stays in CCB for two nights, the hospital visits were most frequent on Saturday nights, exactly when officers were needed on the street most.

This changed after a joint year-long planning process that resulted in the responsibility and authority for CCB being transferred to the Department of Corrections on October 1, 2013. In addition, on December 9, 2013, DOC treated its first arrestee-patient in the new Central Cell Block Clinic (CCBC). Over five years in the making, the CCBC was a result of MPD and DOC collaborating on a visionary initiative that is expected to yield tremendous benefits to District residents. In addition to it returning officers to the streets, the project allows the District to provide immediate on-site, quality medical triage and treatment of routine, non-life threatening ailments to arrestees with minor cuts, abrasions, asthma, diabetes, hypertension and other medical conditions.

Investments that have made routine police work more efficient are perhaps the greatest advances. Laptops and handheld devices have enabled officers and detectives to do more work from the field – completing reports, identifying suspects, and solving crimes without having to go back to a desk. An online distance training program implemented seven years ago enables officers to spend more time on patrol instead of in a classroom. Now, tens of thousands of hours of training are delivered online each year, allowing our officers to spend more time on patrol.

As part of a new records management system that is expected to be launched in late 2015, the Department is implementing ways to increase the use of non-custodial arrests, otherwise known as “citations in lieu of arrest” for minor offenses prosecuted by the Office of the Attorney General. With criminal citations, “arrestees” are able to respond to a police station within 15 days instead of being placed in handcuffs and immediately brought to the station. This reduces the risk of escalation in a low-level police contact. Police officers will also be able to spend more time on the street. Moreover, minor arrests can be handled more expeditiously, allowing criminal justice resources to focus on more serious offenders. Thus the use of non-custodial arrests benefits the public while minimizing the drain on criminal justice resources for minor offenses. All of these are but a few examples of the way the Department has worked and continues to focus on most efficiently using manpower.

The Department is always looking for ways to improve efficiency, whether by holding members accountable for or seeking ways to leverage resources outside the Department so that officers can focus on our core mission. This is one of the key ways that we will be able to weather the rising attrition and shrinking workforce over the next few years. Indeed, a looming challenge can help break down barriers to innovation. Several of our ideas have been explored in the past but did not receive the necessary support – such as civilianization of police positions, increasing civilian enforcement in other agencies, increasing diversion programs for those arrested for minor crimes, or modifying how the District handles calls for service for security alarms, which, according to national statistics, are false alarms 96 percent of the time. We will be discussing with the new administration efforts to allow MPD to focus on its mission.

42. Please provide a detailed description about any new technology acquired in fiscal year 2014, including the cost, where it is used, and what it does. Have there been any issues with implementation?

There have been no significant implementation issues with the projects below.

Tech	Cost	Used by	Function/Detailed Description
Kronos software products	$1,624,014	MPD Members	Includes an automated staff scheduling tool that provides supervisors the ability to set up a work schedule for sworn and civilian members as well as a time and attendance tracking component.
AWARE	$1,330,809	Command Information Center (CIC)	Data aggregation tool that provides real-time situational awareness through multiple data sources, including computer aided dispatch (CAD), license plate reader information (LPR), gunshot detection, and closed circuit television (CCTV).
Body Worn Camera Pilot	$282,967	Patrol Services	Body Worn Cameras, mounts, docking stations and software to support MPD's pilot program.
Commander	$142,764	Detectives	Video management tool that categorizes and stores closed circuit television (CCTV) videos associated with crimes.
Records Management System	Donation	MPD	Requirements, analysis and design of a new records management system (RMS) that will support police operations.

43. Please describe the progress MPD has made with regards to obtaining Breath Alcohol Testing vehicles, testing equipment, supplies, and training?

The Department works in partnership with the Offices of the Attorney General and the Chief Medical Officer to support a strong Breath Alcohol Testing program. We have focused efforts on training standardized field sobriety test (SFST) members as breath test operators (Intoximeter). MPD is implementing a train the trainer program across all districts. The Traffic Safety and Specialized Enforcement Branch (TSSEB) senior instructors have trained district members as SFST trainers. This allows the training to be done more widespread throughout the department while members stay within their districts.

The TSSEB also obtained a National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (NHTSA) grant through DDOT to purchase a state of the art impaired driving support van. The van was designed and manufactured during the 2014 calendar year and delivered at the beginning in 2015. It will be deployed for public traffic safety and enforcement as well as an educational deterrent for roadway users. This grant also helped fully outfit the van with an Intoximeter and live scan instrument and purchase three traffic safety police cars.

44. Has MPD made any progress on CCTV integration? If so, please explain in detail.

MPD has made progress on CCTV integration on a number of fronts:

- AWARE: AWARE is a data aggregation tool that provides officers in the Command Information Center (CIC) with real-time situational awareness. AWARE presents data from multiple sources, including recorded and real-time camera feeds from closed circuit television cameras (CCTV). This CCTV integration coupled with computer aided-dispatch (CAD) information allows officers to view locations where 911 calls have been received.
- Pantascene/Shotspotter: Shotspotter is gunshot detection system that listens for the sound of a gun fire and triangulates its location. With the integration of Pantascene, when Shotspotter detects a gun shot, cameras in the vicinity are automatically pointed to where the gunshot was detected.
- Starlight: Starlight is a crime research tool that provides intelligence analysts with the ability to review multiple pieces of information associated with crimes. The ability to view recorded closed circuit television video is integrated with Starlight, allowing intelligence analysts the opportunity to analyze video evidence in a crime or crimes.
- BriefCam/Commander: In FY2015, MPD integrated BriefCam on top of our closed circuit television video management system, Commander. BriefCam takes video from a fixed camera position, freezes the background and creates a synopsis of all the movement in the video. This allows detectives and others to view hours of videos in minutes. Upon finding a person or object of interest, the detective can then jump to the actual video and view the scene in regular time.

45. Please discuss the implementation of body cameras on MPD officers. What is the timeline for full integration?

The Department has approximately 160 body worn cameras (BWC) currently in use. MPD has concluded the pilot and selected the solution for the program. The first expansion is underway and includes converting approximately 250 pilot project cameras to the preferred model. Once all of the cameras are on the same platform, the cameras will be redeployed to patrol and the Special Operations Division. The level of the deployment is contingent on funding, but it is scalable to the amount of funding available. The cost to outfit one member with a BWC and provide the storage solution the cost is approximately $1500 per person per year.

46. Has MPD been able to create a multi-agency review process with the SART team? If so, please describe the process in detail.

Yes, members of the SART Team meet every other month to review approximately five cases randomly picked by Dr. Heather DeVore. The review team consists of a Sexual Assault Nurse Examiner, an Assistant U.S. Attorney, an NVRDC advocate, MPD's Criminal Investigation Division Commander, a Department of Forensic Science member, a member of the Mayors' Office of Victim's Services, and the Independent Consultant hired per the Sexual Assault Victims Rights Amendment Act of 2014.

During SART Case Review Committee meetings, specific individual reports are discussed. This provides a multidisciplinary approach to review and improve system-wide responses to reports of sexual assaults. An effective case review process allows Case Review Committee members to sensitively, confidentially, and objectively discuss specific issues and then provide relevant feedback and recommendations to the entire DC SART. The benefits of a case review process include ensuring a uniform, consistent response to reports of sexual violence, improving communication and coordination of efforts among agencies, improving the delivery of services to sexual assault victims and the community, and increasing advocacy for public education and awareness of issues surrounding sexual violence.

47. Has the Office of Risk Management conducted an audit of bicycle crash reports in 2014? If so, please attach.

The MPD ORM is currently conducting the review of the 2014 crashes involving bicycles. Through a sampling method, ORM will be reviewing the thoroughness of the reports; whether all parties were interviewed, to include non-involved witnesses; whether appropriate liability was assessed for cause; and whether the investigation justifies the charge on the Notice of Infraction, if issued. It is anticipated that the audit will be completed by May 2015.

48. Please provide a copy of the 2014 Annual Report.

The 2014 Annual Report has not yet been issued, but the 2013 report is attached.

49. Discuss the use of Automated Traffic Enforcement cameras, including any current maintenance and enforcement issues.

Since 1999, the Department has been operating a successful Automated Traffic Enforcement (ATE) program, focused initially on red light and then speed enforcement. To meet the demand from residents for safer streets through automated enforcement, in 2011 the District released a Request for Proposals to build new photo enforcement units to detect violations causing crashes, damage to District streets, or impeding traffic, including gridlock, stop sign and crosswalk, intersection speeding and motor carrier violations. Over the past 18 months, many variables with the overall ATE program have been changing.

- Equipment: In mid to late 2013 to date, we have been deploying new technology from new vendors.
- Service / maintenance: Along with procuring new equipment from new vendors, the District brought several functions, including installation and maintenance of the new equipment, in-house. This was done because the city now had equipment from three different vendors, and no single firm supports all three of them. In addition, it was seen as an opportunity to employ District residents through the ATE program.
- Ticket processing: The Department of Motor Vehicles' ticket process contract is also a variable because the processing technology had to be aligned with the new camera types and vendors.

With these many moving pieces in the ATE program, it is difficult to determine whether the effectiveness and efficiency of the new equipment and service model. In order to do a comprehensive and independent review, the Department has decided to hire an outside auditor to evaluate the issues above. At this time, it is not even clear whether we are receiving the information from the vendors that would be necessary to do a robust review of these changes.

Although the Department is commissioning an audit to help us identify which of these changes are most (or least) effective and efficient, I want to state unequivocally that this is not about the validity of the ticket issuances. Indeed, the Office of the Inspector General's 2014 audit of the District's ticketing program demonstrates the overall quality of the tickets issued through the ATE program. However, it does not address whether the next generation of ATE enforcement is best suited to meeting the traffic safety needs of the District. We hope that a comprehensive and independent audit can help answer that question.

50. Does the Department have any new policy updates regarding responding to victim requests for information? For example, in the event that victims of sexual assault want to know the results of their toxicology reports and their sexual assault examination kits, they can only obtain that information through the detective investigating their case, and that decision is left to the detective's discretion. How has MPD ensured that victims have timely access to information about their cases?

The current policy mandates that upon request, the detective shall provide victims with the results of their toxicology analysis and the results of their Physical Evidence Recovery Kits. It is not left to the discretion of the detective. In addition to having the detective communicate with the victim, all victims of sexual assaults are assigned an MPDC victim advocate who reaches out to them and is available to assist the victim in obtaining information.

51. Many victims of sexual assault are afraid for their safety after they report a sexual assault and want to be notified when police speak to the suspect and alert the suspect of the allegations against him/her so that victims can take extra precautions for their safety.

a. What does MPD do to protect victims of sexual assault and make them feel safe after they report?

MPD has a Witness Protection Unit that is available to assist in getting victims temporary housing in order to ensure a victim's safety. In addition, if an arrest has not been made, MPD's Victims Assistance Unit will assist in obtaining funds to move victims when necessary for their safety. If an arrest has been made, the US Attorney's Office has a witness protection plan.

b. Is there any reason not to make a requirement for detectives to provide a notification to victims when they have spoken to suspects, if such notification is requested?

Current MPD policy is to make such a notification.

52. As an attachment, please provide a curriculum for the specialized training given to officers in the Sexual Assault Unit.

A brief overview of the courses attended by various members of the SAU and its supervisors is provided below. Curricula for some training are provided as an attachment for question 53. We do not necessarily have the curricula for all of the outside specialized training.

53. Please provide the curriculum for the training that is given to all officers regarding how to interact with sexual assault victims. Include the number of hours in each of these trainings and information about the instructors (name and relevant experience).

54. How do you ensure that these policies are being put into practice correctly?

The Department monitors this through several means. Proactively, Sex Assault Unit (SAU) supervisors are required to conduct case reviews of all open cases of sexual assault and allegations of sexual assault. Supervisors conduct initial case reviews within 24 hours. During this initial review process, supervisors are ensuring the case has been classified correctly and that all viable leads are investigated and the lead detective receives any needed assistance. Additional case reviews are conducted and documented within 7, 15, 30, and 60 days of the report until all investigative leads have been exhausted and/or the case is closed

(i.e., warrant issued/declined, suspect arrested). The case review consists of reviewing the investigative file and noting any investigative actions that remain to be taken or could be taken.

Secondly, in June 2013, the Department's Office of Victims Services began conducting a survey of a random selection of victims of sex assault. Of the 210 victims selected, all but two chose to participate in the survey. More than half of all victims rated the service from the detective as excellent. More than four out of five victims rated the service as good or excellent. Of the remaining respondents, 24 reported that the service was fair, and 11, or 5 percent, rated it as poor. The Branch Captain follows up with each of the victims who rated the service as poor, to determine the reason for the unsatisfactory rating and identify ways to improve the response from SAU. In the event of an unfavorable survey, the detective is counseled or disciplined depending on the severity of the concern.

55. Please describe any new efforts MPD is undertaking to make cycling in the District safe for cyclists and drivers.

The Department operates two specific enforcement programs during the year targeting pedestrian and bicyclist safety: "Road Rules," a DDOT/MPD program, and the regional Council of Governments-coordinated "Street Smart" campaign. These programs combine MPD education and enforcement efforts with a strong emphasis on education and awareness. They are multi-pronged approaches, targeting cyclists, motorists, and pedestrians. The goal is to educate about the rules of the road and safety measures for all parties. "Street Smart" is primarily targeted at pedestrians and drivers, while "Road Rules" emphasizes biking rules pertaining to riding on the sidewalk as well as the street. Every calendar quarter, specific locations are designated for focused education and enforcement, specifically on driver, pedestrian and bicyclist behaviors and violations that impact the safety of all road users. In addition, MPD officers patrol the bicycle lanes where they conduct education and enforcement efforts.

Both "Road Rules" and "Street Smart" education and enforcement programs are based on data driven information that show the time frames (time of year), locations of high pedestrian/bicycle traffic and/ or incidents, and contributing behaviors to inform targeted enforcement of bicycle laws for pedestrians, drivers and cyclists. These campaigns promote a positive approach to safe walking, biking and driving by focusing on the rules of the roadway by advertising on the TV, radio, transit shelters, and on the insides and outsides of metro buses, and that message is back up by visible enforcement efforts.

MPD has several initiatives in place regarding bicycle education, enforcement and outreach. We work closely with the Department of Transportation, the Washington Area Bicycle Association, the National Highway Traffic Safety Association, the DC Pedestrian Council, and the DC Bicycle Council to continue strengthening our efforts in promoting safer behaviors by all road users, pedestrians, bicyclists, and drivers throughout the city.

56. Please describe whether the transferring of responsibilities for crime scene response from MPD to the Department of Forensic Sciences (DFS) has been successful.

The transfer of responsibilities for crime scene response from MPD to the DFS has not been completed. As the DFS has initiated control of the Central Evidence Unit (CEU) and the Evidence Garage, several other duties and responsibilities remain under the guide and control of the MPD. Although the DFS has physically assumed control of the CEU and Evidence Garage spaces within the CFL, MPD is occasionally needed to backfill, assist, or handle assignments, tasks, and other duties. Manpower and staffing appears to be amongst the primary challenges for the agency. As a result, DFS frequently withdraws from crime scene response duties leaving MPD responsible to cover assignments as necessary.

The transition of crime scene responsibilities from MPD to DFS remains incomplete. Gaps in DFS staffing and manpower has a significant impact on the success of this endeavor. Moreover, given the current MPD attrition levels that are expected to accelerate over the next three years, at least, it is imperative that civilians take over these functions as envisioned so that officers can return to operational duties. In addition, it appears that there is still significant difference between the visions and goals of DFS, MPD, and other partners. Frank discussions are needed to align these so that MPD and other agencies can respond and plan as needed.

57. As an attachment, please provide an agenda, including the name of the instructor for each segment, for the following:

- (a) The last three MPD investigator schools; and
- (b) The last three MPD in-service/professional development courses.

The requested information is attached.

58. Please identify the criteria used to evaluate an officer's performance.

- a. How are officers reviewed for promotions and raises?
- b. How much weight does the number of arrests an officer makes carry?
- c. Is there a higher value, performance wise, for arrests of certain crimes over other crimes?

Officers receive annual performance ratings each fiscal year. Performance ratings are based on a cumulative evaluation of seven criteria, which include job knowledge, problem solving, professionalism, interpersonal relations, communication, work habits and general policing. Ratings are conducted by each officer's immediate supervisor, and reviewed by the rater's supervisor. Numerical scores are given in each of the seven criteria, and averaged for an overall rating. The highest rating is Significantly Exceeds Expectations (5), followed by Exceeds Expectations (4), Meets Expectations (3), Needs Improvement (2), and Does Not Meet Expectations (1). Officers may appeal their ratings, pursuant to Chapter 14 of the District Personnel Manual, and union members may follow the process provided in General Order 201.20 (Performance Rating Plan) pursuant to Article 27 of the labor agreement.

Salary increases are strictly governed by the Collective Bargaining Agreement between MPD and the Fraternal Order of Police, and only members who achieve Meets Expectations performance ratings receive salary and step increases. As career service employees, promotions from Officer all the way up to Captain are based on a competitive civil service examination process, and members who are rated below Meets Expectations are ineligible to compete in those processes.

The number of arrests made by an officer in and of itself is not a significant factor in the annual performance process. Depending on an officer assignment, general productivity in terms of arrests, tickets, and so forth may receive some level of consideration in one of the seven overall evaluation criteria – general policing. Otherwise, there is absolutely no emphasis or even direct notation of number of arrests on the evaluation. The Department does routinely recognize officers for outstanding police work, which in some instances reflects the closure of cases, especially major cases with a significant impact on public safety.

59. Do officers receive overtime pay for their time spent in court?

Officers may receive overtime depending on whether or not their regular tour of duty overlaps with court time. If the time is concurrent, then they simply work their regular tour of duty, but are out of service at court. If it is not concurrent, then they earn overtime.

60. What is the average amount of time it takes to close a case for drug possession? Burglary? Theft from auto?

The time it takes to close a case of a reported crime is calculated by determining the number of days from the date the incident is reported to police to the date the case is closed by police. Time to closure is only calculated for closed cases, and does not include open cases. Drug possession is an arrest charge, not an offense category like burglary or homicide, so there is not a time to closure. In other words, there is no crime reported (case opened) and then closed with an arrest. Rather, the case is “opened” at the time that police encounter someone in possession of drugs, and an arrest is made. For burglary cases, the average case closure time in 2014 was approximately 24 days. The average case closure time for theft from auto in 2014 was approximately 18 days.

61. Property crimes have increased slightly in the month of January 2015 compared to January 2014. What, if anything, is MPD doing to combat this growing problem?

As a data- and intelligence-driven police department, we are continually monitoring and analyzing the crime trends in order to identify the critical issues related to crime, evaluate the many factors that impact crime, and craft prudent and targeted strategies to address those issues and factors. That said, it is important to take a comprehensive and thoughtful view of the data over various periods of time and space especially since crime numbers are continually fluctuating and changing. Case in point, while you note that the month of January 2015 ended with a slight 2 percent increase in property crimes compared to the same time period in 2014, when taken in the current context as of February 27, 2015, property crime is down -3 percent so far this year; a full 5 percent change in less than a month. Without minimizing this important issue, this example highlights the importance of looking at the data within the full context and not solely within isolated time frames. A slight increase during an isolated time period may not be a “growing problem”, but rather a small fluctuation over the larger course of time.

We have seen, however, a general increase in reported property crime over the past couple years. Some of that increase may be attributed to the implementation of the MPD Citizen Online Reporting Tool, which allows members of the public to quickly and easily report certain types of property crimes – such as theft, theft from auto, and damage to property – through an online form on our public website. The online reporting tool was first introduced as a service to the public in 2012, and the community has embraced the tool, submitting more than 4,300 reports in 2014, and more than 10,250 total reports in the three years since its release. The online reporting tool has undoubtedly impacted the overall property crime numbers, but it also allows MPD to remain even better informed of what is happening in the community and adjust our patrol strategies accordingly.

We continue to study the various factors impacting property crimes, including the substantial city growth, immense economic development, and numerous environmental and social aspects. Using that information and analysis, we engage in a variety of patrol strategies and conduct vast outreach with the community in order to combat property-based offenses.

In addition to distributing crime safety information, we have increased police visibility in targeted areas. For instance, the deployment of our Nightlife Unit has resulted in a substantial reduction in all types of crimes in and around the entertainment areas in which they patrol. Our work combating the robbery and theft of mobile devices has resulted in nationwide strategies and important changes to the industry. Additionally, our Pawn Unit and the officer liaisons in each patrol district continue their efforts to hold accountable those unlawful secondhand dealers who profit from stolen goods.

Nearly 84 percent of all crime in 2014 was property offenses. We do not take those incidents lightly, and understand that property offenses not only impact the victim, but can also impact the sense of safety within an entire community. We will continue to work tirelessly and employ numerous strategies to reduce property crime.

62. Please provide a copy of the form MPD gives to persons requesting a record check. Since D.C. Code § 2-1402.66 became effective in 2013, MPD is required to provide full arrest records to the public.

- a. What is the Department doing to make the public aware of the more extensive record check now available?
- b. How much does MPD currently charge for a copy of one's full arrest record?

MPD provides on its website a description of the two purposes for which the public may make a request for criminal history services: <http://mpdc.dc.gov/service/police-clearances-arrest-and-criminal-history-section>. The cost for either record is $7.

- Type A: An individual may request production of his or her arrest record for the purposes of determining eligibility for sealing or expunging that record pursuant to DC Code Title 16, Chapter 8, or similar sealing statutes in the District or in another jurisdiction, and may request production of his or her arrest record for filing a sealing or expungement motion. This document will contain a listing of all adult arrests, regardless of the disposition of each arrest, and regardless of the date on which the arrest, conviction, or completion of the sentence occurred.
- Type B: An individual may request production of his or her arrest record or authorize another person to request production of his or her arrest record for any other purpose. Pursuant to the Duncan Ordinance (DC Municipal Regulations Title 1, Chapter 10), this document will contain a listing only of adult convictions for which the sentence was completed not more than 10 years before the date on which the records were requested and forfeitures of collateral in a court proceeding that have occurred not more than 10 years before the date on which the record was requested.

63. Please give the number of missing minors cases opened in FY14 and FY 15, to date.

- a. How many of these were closed as ‘found’?
- b. How many were identified as cases ‘no command post’? ‘Non-critical cases’? ‘Critical command post’?
- c. How cases many had documented investigative contacts?
- d. Of the total documented investigative contacts, how many were: Face-to-Face with family or residence, call with family or residence, face-to-face visit with school, call with school, face-to-face visit with friend or relative, call friend or relative, checked hospitals (call or face-to-face), checked Juvenile Processing Center or the Criminal Justice Information System, contacted National Center for Missing and Exploited Children, contacted other jurisdictions, checked WALES/NCIC, other contacts.

	CY12	CY13	CY14
Total Juvenile Missing Person Cases	2609	2062	2215

(b-2) Non-critical?	657	422	407
(b-3) Command post established?	81	67	91
(c) Documented investigative contacts?	All	All	All

For part (d), the investigative protocols below are followed on all missing person cases:

- The reporting officer interviews family member/guardian.
- All local hospitals, and the District’s Juvenile Processing Center, Comprehensive Psychiatric Emergency Program, and the Medical Examiner’s Office are checked, usually by phone.
- The National Center for Missing and Exploited Children receive immediate notification via NCIC of all missing juveniles reported in DC.
  - In 2013 NCMEC received a follow-up notification, including a poster, in 37 cases.
  - In 2014 NCMEC received a follow-up notification, including a poster, in 60 cases.
- Officers check relevant law enforcement databases.

The other investigative procedures including both face-to-face and phone contacts with other relatives, friends, and schools are conducted as needed on a case by case basis. The types of contacts are determined by the facts of the individual case. The investigators will examine the circumstances of the missing juvenile to identify the leads and contacts. In the past three years, this has resulted in more than 99.9 percent of all missing juveniles being found. However, without reviewing all of these case files, we cannot identify the specific contacts made in each case.

64. Did YID sign off on all closed missing minors cases, even those closed by patrol? If not, how many did YID not sign off on?

YID acts as the MPD clearinghouse for all missing persons cases and reviews those closed by patrol to ensure compliance. Additionally, YID Missing Persons Coordinators document all cases in the Missing Person database, including information concerning where the MP was located and where they reported they were during their absence.

65. How many reported missing minors were under the care of Child and Family Services Agency (CFSA)? Court Social Services (CSS)? Department of Youth Rehabilitation Services (DYRS)? Nonprofit homes?

We do not track this information, nor do we always know whether a minor reported missing has interactions with another agency.

66. How many reported missing minors were reported missing more than once? How many times were each of these ‘repeat’ missing minors reported? How many of them are in the CFSA system? CSS? DYRS? Nonprofit homes?

Total individuals	360	350
Total reports concerning these individuals	1094	1140
Total reports	2062	2215
% of all reports from repeat missing youth	53%	51%

Per the response to question 65, MPD does not have access to the information about which juvenile is involved with or under the care of other agencies, including DYRS, CSS and CFSA.

67. Of the total number of missing minor cases, how many were closed with an interview with the missing minor upon being located and returning to family or place of residence? How many cases were closed by information given by family or place of residence about the located minor? How many were closed with neither of these?

Every juvenile missing person can only be closed by an in-person attempt to interview the child; we must “put eyes on” all missing juveniles.

68. How many missing youth were ‘repeat runaways’? What work is being done in collaboration with human services agencies and community-based organizations to address the needs of this sub-population?

In 2013 and 2014, more than half of all missing juvenile reports concerned an individual who was a repeat runaway. We have attempted to engage city agencies and community-based organizations, but the resources are not always available to assist with this population. Some of the programs we have invited to partner with us include: Parent and Adolescent Support Services (PASS), a diversion program under the Department of Human Services, and all five of the community collaboratives, with varying results. In addition, the Department has briefed the Human Trafficking Task Force, the Superior Court Juvenile Subcommittee, and the Juvenile Justice Advisory Group, and requested support and partnerships for referrals. At this time, the DHS PASS program, Sasha Bruce, and the Georgia Avenue Collaborative have committed to accepting referrals when they have the space and resources available.

69. *How many minors were arrested for sex-work related crimes in FY14 and FY15, to date?

Three juveniles were arrested for offenses related to sex work in FY14; none have been arrested in FY15. As we have discussed with the Council, juveniles arrested for offenses related to sex work are generally not prosecuted. However, the arrest is often the tool by which MPD can take the juveniles into custody, both so that the juvenile can be connected with a service organization, and so that the Department can investigate and hopefully hold accountable those who would exploit and endanger minors.

70. *Has training on human trafficking been put in place for MPD officers, as required by the Sex Trafficking of Children Prevention Amendment Act of 2014? If not, when will it be implemented? What agency/organization is providing the training?

As we communicated with the Committee on the Judiciary, because the law was not passed until December 2014, this would not be included in 2015 training. It will be addressed in 2016 Professional Development Training, which has not been developed yet.

71. *How have MPD officers been notified that mandatory reporters can file a missing persons report for a youth, as outlined in the by Sex Trafficking of Children Prevention Amendment Act of 2014?

Mandatory reporters have always been able to report missing persons, so no change in policy is required.

72. *How many youth has MPD reported to the National Center for Missing and Exploited Youth in FY 14 and FY15, to date?

NCMEC received immediate notification via NCIC of all missing juveniles reported in DC

- In 2013 NCMEC received a follow-up notification, including a poster, in 37 cases.
- In 2014 NCMEC received a follow-up notification, including a poster, in 60 cases.

73. *What is the new agency protocol regarding referring minors suspected of being involved in sex work to both CFSA and other appropriate services? What department of CFSA is MPD working on developing this protocol with? What other agencies and community-based organizations is MPD developing referral protocols with for this matter? If no written policy has been completed, when will it be completed?

This provision of the law does not require any change in agency protocol. A current policy is to notify CFSA of juveniles suspected of being involved in sex work, with the notification being made via the CFSA hotline.

MPD also refers these juveniles to both Fair Girls and Courtney's House, two community-based organizations.

I hope you find this information helpful. Please do not hesitate to contact me if you have any further questions.

Sincerely,

Patrol Services & School Security Bureau

SUMMARY OF SERVICES

Patrol Services & School Security Bureau – coordinates crime prevention and reduction efforts in the seven police districts. In addition to providing professional and effective patrol services throughout the District, this division responds to all calls for police service. The division also manages security in all District of Columbia Public Schools and works to reduce juvenile victimization and delinquent behavior through a variety of programs. This division contains the following 4 activities:

- Patrol Services – provides focused law enforcement, responds to calls for service, and provides crime prevention services to residents, visitors, and commuters;
- Community Services and Youth Outreach – coordinates proactive outreach to community members and youth, directs the School Resource Officer program, and manages the security contract for D.C. Public Schools;
- Special Liaison Unit (Patrol Support) – provides targeted outreach and specialized response to historically underserved communities; and
- Central Cell Block – processes and supervises persons arrested in the District.

OBJECTIVE 1: Safeguard the District of Columbia and protect its residents and visitors. (One City Action Plan, 3.1.3)

INITIATIVE 1.1: Support safe travel options by enhancing our partnership and collaboration with Metro and the DC Taxi Cab Commission.

Safe transport options are critical for a thriving urban environment. To support our partners at Metro and the DC Taxicab Commission, MPD will enhance its partnership such as by focusing on youth safety in transit and at bus stops, and programming to improve reporting of and deter assaults on bus and taxi drivers. Deadline: September 30, 2014

OBJECTIVE 2: Provide the highest quality police service with integrity, compassion, and a commitment to innovation.

INITIATIVE 2.1: Expand outreach to the District's Asian and Pacific Islander community.

A cornerstone of Chief of Police Cathy L. Lanier's policing philosophy is that in order to combat crime, the police must have a strong and trusting relationship with the community. The Department's Special Liaison Units—including the Asian Liaison Unit—work closely with historically underserved communities, serving as a model for community policing. In FY14, MPD will enhance our partnership the city's Asian and Pacific Islander community by hiring a civilian outreach specialist. Deadline: September 30, 2014

INITIATIVE 2.2: Expand our youth outreach through the Junior Cadet program.

The Junior Cadet Program was launched in partnership with the Washington Police Foundation, a group that works to support key unmet public safety needs identified by the Chief of Police and other public safety leaders in the District. The program provides opportunities to participate in activities that instill a sense of community pride, self-discipline and leadership ability in an overall positive environment. Participants experience opportunities to travel to important civic centers, meet community leaders, and develop relationships with MPD mentors. The program also connects with parents and guardians of students to keep them informed of student progress. During the 2013/2014 school year, the program will be expanded to three elementary schools. Deadline: September 30, 2014

OBJECTIVE 3: Improve police service to the public through the integration of the Department’s people, technology and business systems. (One City Action Plan, 3.1.3)

INITIATIVE 3.1: Implement the transfer of the Central Cell Block to the Department of Corrections.

Transfer responsibility for the Central Cell Block (CCB) – where arrestees awaiting arraignment in court are housed overnight – to the Department of Corrections (DOC). This would place the responsibility for housing arrestees with the agency with the greatest expertise in this function, while allowing MPD to focus on its more specific mission of ensuring public safety in the District. This transfer will allow MPD officers to spend more time on the street and less time guarding arrestees in hospitals and transporting them to court for arraignment. Although the initial transfer will occur on October 1st, the transition is expected to roll out over several months. Deadline: January 1, 2014

INITIATIVE 3.2: Increase patrol training and focus on vending laws and regulations.

The Districts vending laws and regulations, which are enforced by both MPD and the Department of Consumer and Regulatory Affairs, are important protections for consumers. Vending requirements protect the safety of patrons and the appropriate allocation of public space for all. In FY14, MPD will work to improve training for officers in police districts with a significant vending presence. Deadline: September 30, 2014

Investigative Services Bureau

SUMMARY OF SERVICES

Investigative Services Bureau – works with the community to solve crimes, helps bring offenders to justice, supports the recovery of victims, and protects witnesses. As part of this responsibility, this division, in conjunction with the Department of General Services, is working to design, build, and operate the District’s Consolidated Forensic Laboratory to enhance the District’s capabilities for crime scene investigations and evidence analysis. This division contains the following 5 activities:

- Criminal Investigations Division – investigates and solves crimes so that offenders are brought to justice, and provides assistance to victims;
- Narcotics and Special Investigations – provides proactive criminal enforcement services so that citizens can live in neighborhoods free from drug dealing, drug-related crime, and prostitution;
- Forensics Science – processes crime scenes and coordinates evidence analysis;
- Youth Investigations Division – investigates abuse of minors, sexual abuse, internet-related crimes against minors, and human trafficking; and processes all juvenile arrestees; and
- Firearms and Tool Mark Examination – conducts ballistics and unique mark identification analysis on criminal firearms evidence.

OBJECTIVE 1: Safeguard the District of Columbia and protect its residents and visitors. (One City Action Plan, 3.1.3)

INITIATIVE 1.1: Reduce robbery and theft of small personal electronics by targeting the illegal secondary market for stolen goods.

Across the nation, cities are fighting a surge in crimes involving the theft of cell phones and other small personal electronic devices. Criminals target these devices because they are easy to steal and can easily be converted into cash, and all too often the crimes become very violent. MPD investigations have revealed that most stolen personal electronics are not bought and sold by licensed secondhand dealers, but rather by stores illegally purchasing and reselling used goods, which are frequently stolen. In FY13, MPD successfully lobbied the Council to pass legislation to enable the Mayor to hold these businesses responsible, with the legislation expected to pass in September 2013. In FY14, we will work with our partners at the District of Consumer and Regulatory Affairs and the Office of the Attorney General to investigate and take enforcement action against businesses supporting violent crimes in our community by trafficking in these goods.
Deadline: September 30, 2014.

OBJECTIVE 2: Provide the highest quality police service with integrity, compassion, and a commitment to innovation.

INITIATIVE 2.1: Improve feedback on investigations by implementing a survey for sexual assault victims.

The investigation of sexual assaults is a vitally important yet sensitive matter. Sexual assaults can be particularly traumatizing to victims, which poses unique challenges for investigating and prosecuting these crimes. Feedback from victims can be especially helpful to ensuring that investigative techniques do not unduly re-traumatize the victim. MPD will launch a survey tool to elicit feedback from victims to help the Department to continually improve services. Deadline: September 30, 2014.

OBJECTIVE 3: Improve police service to the public through the integration of the Department’s people, technology and business systems.

INITIATIVE 3.1: Improve criminal investigations by enhancing MPD’s ability to quickly and efficiently retrieve privately captured video footage related to major crimes. Deadline: September 30, 2014.

Private security cameras, which are prolific in the District, can be very helpful developing leads and identifying suspects and witnesses that lead to solving crimes. Anyone who believes that a camera has captured a crime or events before or after a crime is strongly encouraged to contact the police. To support the efforts of detectives investigating crimes, crime scene search technicians will focus on identifying private cameras around a crime scene and working with the owners to identify any useful footage. Deadline: September 30, 2014.

Homeland Security Bureau

SUMMARY OF SERVICES

Homeland Security Bureau – integrates intelligence and operational functions to ensure that the District is well protected and that the government prevents and is prepared to respond to threats and critical incidents. The division also works directly to support patrol operations to reduce crime and fear of crime with specialized patrol and tactical resources, and works constantly to improve information-sharing, process relevant information, and provide actionable intelligence to relevant personnel. This division contains the following 2 activities:

- Special Operations – provides specialized patrol, tactical, rescue, and security services to the public, businesses, and government in the District; and
- Intelligence Fusion – seeks to improve information-sharing, process information, and provide actionable intelligence to relevant personnel; and coordinates gang-related and intelligence operations.

OBJECTIVE 1: Safeguard the District of Columbia and protect its residents and visitors (One City Action Plan, 3.1.3)

INITIATIVE 1.1: Establish a Real-Time Crime Center

The hiring of nine civilian investigative support positions will serve as the foundation of the creation of a Real Time Crime Center and provide vital support to detectives during their investigation of major crimes. As the first hours immediately following the report of a serious crime are the most critical in any investigation, these dedicated personnel will be available around-the-clock to provide “real-time” investigative support to detectives. Additionally, with the growing use of high-tech applications and systems in investigations, the investigative support personnel will provide immediate technical and analytical expertise to help detectives identify offenders and close cases. The goal of this initiative is to quickly close cases and get dangerous offenders off of the streets and out of the community.

INITIATIVE 1.2: Expand the use of automated traffic enforcement to improve safety of District Roadways (One City Action Plan Action 3.1.3).

MPD will strategically deploy automated safety enforcement equipment throughout the District to address locations where safety issues exist, such as speeding, running red lights and stop signs, and failing to stop for pedestrians in crosswalks. Additional enforcement tools will be used to combat commercial motor vehicle violations to protect District infrastructure and improve quality of life issues in neighborhoods. Units designed to detect vehicles failing to clear intersections causing gridlock will improve traffic flow and safeguard pedestrian traffic. These measures will be evaluated to determine the impact on public safety and quality of life issues. Education and outreach will also be expanded. Deadline: September 30, 2014

INITIATIVE 1.3: Reduce robbery and theft of small personal electronics by improving data collection for criminal investigations of electronics that are stolen, transported, or trafficked, within the District of Columbia.

Across the nation, cities are fighting a surge in crimes involving the theft of cell phones and other small personal electronic devices. Criminals often target these devices because they are easy to steal and can easily be converted into cash. As crimes involving the theft and robbery of these devices rise, law enforcement is tasked with evolving its investigative and preventative methods to counter and repress the current trends. This comprehensive effort will support detectives investigating individual crimes by developing investigative leads, new ways to track and recover devices taken in a crime, and preventative strategies for the Department and private citizens to undertake. Deadline: September 30, 2014.

OBJECTIVE 3: Improve police service to the public through the integration of the Department's people, technology and business systems.

INITIATIVE 3.1: Complete integration between CCTV, gunshot detection and CAD systems

Complete the integration between the District's closed circuit television (CCTV), gunshot detection, and Computer Aided Dispatch (CAD) systems so that cameras can automatically turn toward gunshot alerts and in the directions indicated by CAD. The integration software is flexible to allow specific directional programming so that an area covered by multiple CCTV can have cameras turn toward likely areas of escape as well as the incident. Playback shortly after the event by the CIC enables critical information to be relayed to on scene supervisors such as the direction of flight for both suspects and witnesses or if they returned to the scene following the police response. This integration will provide a real time advantage to responding units and increase the evidentiary value of the current CCTV system. Deadline: September 30, 2014.

Support Services<sup>10</sup>

SUMMARY OF SERVICES

The Department's Support Services include three bureaus that furthering the agency mission and operational efforts of patrol, investigations, and homeland security. These include:

Strategic Services – integrates recruiting and training with program and policy development and strategic analysis and planning to support MPD and the District by identifying and implementing innovative policing and business practices. This division contains the following four activities:

Recruiting – recruits individuals for police officer positions; the Police Academy – provides training to MPD recruits and MPD sworn personnel to create a capable, knowledgeable, and professional staff; Strategic Change – coordinates strategic planning, government relations, legislative affairs, and performance management; and Policy and Standards – develops policies and procedures for the department;

Corporate Support – oversees the major administrative, technical, and business functions of the department that are critical to keeping the complex and large agency running effectively and efficiently, including human resources, fleet management, equipment and supply, and evidence and property control. There are three primary activities: Office of Human Resource Management – hires, retains, and makes appropriate duty status determinations for sworn personnel; General Support Services – provides support for equipment and supply, evidence and property control, reproduction, and fleet services; and Police Business Services – provides services to the public and the criminal justice community by maintaining police records, regulating security officers, and registering firearms.

Internal Affairs – ensures officer accountability through comprehensive investigations of alleged misconduct and uses of force. This division contains the following three activities: Internal Affairs – conducts general investigations into allegations of police misconduct and serves as the liaison to the Office of Police Complaints; Equal Employment Opportunity Commission (EEOC) – ensures compliance with equal employment opportunity laws and regulations; and Court Liaison – coordinates officer appearances related to criminal and traffic cases.

OBJECTIVE 2: Provide the highest quality police service with integrity, compassion, and a commitment to innovation.

INITIATIVE 2.1: Enhance the Department's integrity check program

The integrity of our individual officers reflects on the integrity of the entire Department. Ensuring this integrity includes not only training and making sure officers have the right information and tools to do the job, but also conducting regular audits and integrity check operations. Over the past four years, Chief Lanier launched an "Integrity Check" program

<sup>10</sup> This Division corresponds to (4001) Strategic Services Bureau, (5001) Corporate Support Bureau, (6001) Professional Development Bureau, and (7001) Assistant Chief Internal Affairs Bureau on MPD's FY 14 Operating Budget and FTEs by Division and Activity (Table FA0-4) in the Operating Budget and Financial Plan (Vol. 2 – Part 1); only (4300) Strategic Change Division and (4500) Policy & Standards Division within (4001) Strategic Services Bureau are included as part of the Support Services Division.

to root out any corruption in the Department by conducting planned audits and random checks, and investigating any intelligence about corruption. In FY 14, Internal Affairs will work with the Office of Risk Management in conducting integrity checks of certain high risk functions, as well as continue with criminal integrity checks and abuses of outside employment and sick leave. Deadline: September 30, 2014

INITIATIVE 2.2: Educate officers about ethics and appropriate decision making for officers

The actions of individual officers, whether on or off duty, not only reflect on the entire Department, but can also ruin a promising or otherwise stellar career. Internal Affairs will continue its work to educate officers about the importance of their choices, by both producing a video for officers on the dangers of driving impaired and conducting trainings for new recruits on ethics and misconduct. Deadline: September 30, 2014

INITIATIVE 2.3: Continue the recruitment, hiring and training of new recruits to increase the size of the sworn force, as funded by the Department's FY14 budget (One City Action Plan Action 3.1.2)

A stable police force is important to public safety in the District. In FY13, MPD will work to ensure that we screen and hire as many officers as are funded in FY13 and establish a steady hiring pipeline for the coming years. The Department will enhance screening capabilities by adding additional applicant checks to ensure we hire the best qualified candidates. Additionally, the Department will continue to restructure its recruiting operations to streamline operations and successfully process candidates within a six month timeframe from the time of application. Deadline: September 30, 2014

INITIATIVE 2.4: Launch an internal campaign to renew officer focus on professionalism and customer service

Exhibiting a high level of professionalism and delivering excellent customer service are important components of an effective police force with strong community relations. In FY14, MPD will launch an internal initiative to renew focus on these basic yet essential functions. The comprehensive effort will include, among other things, updated training at the Academy and posters and videos featuring MPD members. Deadline: September 30, 2014.

OBJECTIVE 3: Improve police service to the public through the integration of the Department's people, technology and business systems. (One City Action Plan, 3.1.3)

INITIATIVE 3.1: Use of the tactical village to enhance training and improve officer performance

The use of the tactical village will support and enhance the level of training and confidence for the new officers. Practical Scenario based labs can be performed in realistic settings which will afford the opportunity to present a situation that requires the officer to multitask. The tactical village will provide recruit officers with a more realistic setting in which to first use the information gained from classroom instruction. Simulated training for professional development of the veteran sworn members will also be enhanced. Deadline: September 30, 2014

INITIATIVE 3.2: Launch recruit training on social media, including its importance for effective community policing and investigations, and an MPD officer's personal and legal responsibilities in using it.

The new police recruits joining MPD are more technology savvy than ever before. However, they may not have considered the unique risks of public servants and law enforcement officers using social media and network and, the responsibilities and legal liabilities of a member of MPD as a user. Moreover, using social media to support patrol and investigations may be an entirely new concept for them. These issues and others will be addressed in a new seminar in the Recruit Officer Training Program. In turn, training staff may learn new technology and trends from the recruits. Deadline: September 30, 2014

INITIATIVE 3.3: Improve customer service by launching online access to publicly available police documents

Certain police records, such as crime reports, are available to the public. However, they are currently only available by mail or in person at select police facilities. In FY14, MPD will improve access to certain publicly available documents by providing a mechanism for electronic request, payment, and delivery. Deadline: September 30, 2014

INITIATIVE 3.4: Enhance awareness on how to retrieve lost/stolen property

Improve public awareness of how to retrieve property seized as part of a criminal investigation but no longer needed for the investigation by improving information on MPD's public website. The new site will include step by step explanation of the process, from seizure to disposition, the type of documentation needed to request the return of the property, and the estimated timeframes. Deadline: September 30, 2014

INITIATIVE 3.5: Implement a pilot project to support a Sustainable DC by installing anti-idling devices in vehicles

To further increase the overall fuel economy of the fleet and contribute to a Sustainable DC, MPD will purchase and install fuel-saving devices that allow retrofitted cruisers to operate without having to constantly run the gasoline engine. This pilot project will purchase, install and evaluate two forms of fuel-saving technology. For the Photo Radar (PR) fleet (20 cruisers that park on the roadside to monitor and enforce speed limits in the District), the pilot project will install five (5) on-board battery units that allow constant operation of the vehicles' electronic systems, and five (5) idling controllers that automatically cut the engine off when idling but re-start the engine when the unit detects low battery level. Additionally, MPD will install and evaluate these idling control units on half of the new Ford Police Interceptor vehicles that are coming into service. This technology will aid in fuel savings within this portion of the MPD fleet by allowing mobile units, which are frequently stationary for long periods of time, to operate on-board electronics when not in motion. Deadline: September 30, 2014

(One City Action Plan, 3.1.3)

INITIATIVE 1.1: Establish a Nightlife Unit to safeguard patrons in entertainment zones while maintaining the quality of life for area residents.

Over the past decade, the District has evolved from what was once commonly considered a commuter city that emptied at night to a city with many thriving nightlife and entertainment areas. This expanding social scene has in turn created a need for increased police attention. By creating a specialized Nightlife Unit, the Department can dedicate staffing for entertainment zones to ensure the city continues to thrive. This approach supports community policing by enabling neighborhood officers to stay on their beat, instead of getting shifted to deal with high-demand entertainment areas. Moreover, rather than being based on police districts, MPD will have the flexibility to assign this cadre of officers to the hottest, highest-demand areas that move around the city as development dictates. These officers will be on foot, bike or Segway, and specially trained to address the common issues and unique challenges of policing nightlife and entertainment areas.
Deadline: September 30, 2014.

OBJECTIVE 2: Provide the highest quality police service with integrity, compassion, and a commitment to innovation.

INITIATIVE 2.1: Establish a private/public partnership for creating a safe city and supporting further growth.

The MPD and the D.C. Building Industry Association are collaborating in a unique public-private partnership with the goal of creating a safe city and support further growth. Cities have often approached police services and economic development as two separate issues; however, given how each of those issues impacts the other, it is imperative that we collaborate to make the necessary preparations for future growth. This public-private partnership will increase vital communications between the development community and MPD. As one of its first actions, the group will establish a Development Pipeline that will provide MPD with detailed information on upcoming construction, development, or special events. This allows us to work with builders and developers to review and assess the public safety and security issues of specific development sites and areas. By

MISSION

The mission of the Metropolitan Police Department (MPD) is to safeguard the District of Columbia and protect its residents and visitors by providing the highest quality police service with integrity, compassion, and a commitment to innovation that integrates people, technology, and progressive business systems.

SUMMARY OF SERVICES

MPD provides crime prevention and response services through patrols, investigations, and homeland security services. The Patrol Services and School Security division delivers community policing to the District's neighborhoods through 46 police service areas in seven police districts and oversees the provision of security services to the District of Columbia Public Schools. The Investigative Services division investigates violent, property, and narcotic crimes and provides forensic support for those cases. The Homeland Security division coordinates domestic security and intelligence operations as well as traffic safety and for special events. The Internal Affairs Bureau investigates use of force, potential equal employment opportunity violators, and other complaints against MPD officers and employees. The Strategic Services, Professional Development and Corporate Support Bureaus support the work of the entire department through research, crime analysis, strategic direction, recruitment, hiring and training personnel, fleet management, procurement, and other administrative support services.

ACCOMPLISHMENTS

- ✓ Issued the Navy Yard After-Action Report. In the wake of the tragic September 2013 shooting at the Navy Yard that claimed the lives of 12 victims, MPD coordinated with all involved agencies to evaluate critical incident response capabilities. A team of officials has been implementing the report recommendations to improve relevant policies, training, and equipment.
- ✓ Launched a body-worn camera pilot project. In FY14, MPD conducted extensive research and preparation to launch a 6-month body-worn camera pilot on October 1, 2014. The Department worked with other law enforcement agencies, criminal justice partners, and various civil justice groups in developing the pilot program and policy. The presence of cameras will benefit the community and MPD members by improving police services, increasing accountability, and enhancing public safety.
- ✓ Reduced robbery by -18% citywide. The Department conducted several successful efforts to reduce robberies in the District. Together with the District of Consumer and Regulatory Affairs and the Office of Attorney General, MPD worked targeted the secondary market for stolen phones and other personal electronic devices that are frequently taken in robberies by addressing businesses illegally buying and selling used goods without a secondhand dealer business license. In addition, MPD established an innovative Nightlife Unit, which has successfully provided high visibility patrols on foot, bicycle, and Segways during the nightlife hours. As a result, robberies decreased by more than -40% in all nightlife areas.

Homeland Security

OBJECTIVE 1: Safeguard the District of Columbia and protect its residents and visitors.

INITIATIVE 1.1: Establish a Real-Time Crime Center

Fully Achieved; MPD hired nine highly-qualified individuals to establish the Real-Time Crime Center. All members possessed an understanding of investigations and analysis, and each had diverse knowledge of law enforcement applications and technology. The nine members attended a 12-day training program at the Police Academy and also worked weekly rotations with several investigative units in order to better understand their roles and responsibilities. The investigative support unit has since been deployed 24 hours a day, 7 days a week. In FY14, the unit has assisted in the preliminary investigation of 5,251 cases/reports of serious incidents (e.g., homicides, shootings, robberies, carjackings, weapons offenses, sex assaults, aggravated/felony assaults, burglaries, kidnapping, etc.). There have also been many examples of detectives quickly closing cases after the investigative support unit was able to assist in identifying the suspect and/or making a connection to another offender or prior incident. The Real-Time Crime Center has allowed the Department to quickly identify and apprehend violent offenders and remove illegal weapons off the streets. Moreover, all investigative units have come to rely on the real-time service and support provided by the investigative support staff.

INITIATIVE 1.2: Expand the use of automated traffic enforcement to improve safety of District roadways (One City Action Plan Action 3.1.3)

Partially Achieved; Due to improvements in portable camera technology including enhanced video image and no-flash technology, MPD's Automatic Traffic Enforcement Unit (ATEU) was able to provide enforcement in FY14 at locations that were previously unenforceable, such as neighborhood streets and intersections where speeding was an issue. In addition, MPD also deployed other new enforcement technologies such as intersection speed, stop sign, and oversized commercial vehicle cameras. ATEU deployed new cameras at over 100 locations, issuing a combined total of 77,000 warning and live tickets. The automated safety enforcement equipment has been an effective tool because it provides enforcement at all hours. As a result of the initiative, MPD has seen a 60-80% reduction in violations within the first two to four months when cameras were moved to new sites. ATEU has not yet been able to deploy gridlock and crosswalk enforcement cameras due to the challenges with power source, staffing, and unpurchased support vehicles. MPD is currently working with DDOT to complete deployment of other technologies by mid FY15. With the completion of the initiative, the public will see improved traffic safety as measured by fewer traffic fatalities and crashes with serious injuries.

INITIATIVE 1.3: Reduce robbery and theft of small personal electronics by improving data collection for criminal investigations of electronics that are stolen, transported, or trafficked within the District of Columbia.

Fully Achieved; In FY14, the focus of MPD's Pawn Investigations and Enforcement Unit was to become a more proactive intelligence gathering and sharing unit. As a first step, the unit trained and created the district pawn liaison officers who were tasked with communicating with the citizens in their districts and gathering intelligence information on pawn and fencing trends. In addition, the unit utilized social media and online websites in efforts to track stolen electronics and conduct undercover operations based on leads received from the pawn liaison officers and district detectives. In FY14, 37 pawn liaison officers and 273 Criminal Investigative Division (CID) personnel were trained to use the MPD's new pawn database where the serial numbers of more than 220 stolen devices were monitored by the Pawn Unit. In addition, the Pawn Unit conducted 10 undercover operations based on leads and recovered $10,605 worth of stolen properties. Follow ups with victims by the Pawn Unit members to obtain vital information such as complete property descriptions and serial numbers also proved to assist in the search for and recovery of their property. As of September 1, 2014, all pawn shops and secondhand dealers have been required to report electronics into MPD's pawn database, and thereby transactions conducted are immediately recorded and readily available for search by law enforcement. Victims now stand a greater chance of having their stolen devices returned to them.

OBJECTIVE 2: Improve police service to the public through the integration of the Department's people, technology and business systems.

INITIATIVE 2.1: Complete integration between CCTV, gunshot detection and CAD systems

Fully Achieved; In FY14, MPD completed the integration of the District's Closed Circuit Television (CCTV), gunshot detection system, License Plate Recognition (LPR) cameras, and the Computer Aided Dispatch (CAD) systems so that cameras can automatically turn towards the area of an event. There were 33,163 incidents during the past fiscal year where the integration software changed the direction of at least one CCTV camera. In one shooting incident, the gunshot detection system triggered a CCTV camera to move, and MPD officers were able to respond two minutes before the first 911 call and identify potential suspects and witnesses from the CCTV camera footage. In addition to having a significant impact in assisting investigations and prosecution of crimes, the integration of CCTV, gunshot detection, LPR, and CAD systems has also enabled faster responses by emergency personnel.

Investigative Services Bureau

OBJECTIVE 1: Safeguard the District of Columbia and protect its residents and visitors.

INITIATIVE 1.1: Reduce robbery and theft of small personal electronics by targeting the illegal secondary market for stolen goods

Fully Achieved; In FY14, MPD collaborated with the District of Consumer and Regulatory Affairs (DCRA) and the Office of Attorney General (OAG) to identify businesses that were buying and selling used goods without a secondhand dealer business license. MPD's Criminal Investigative Division and Intelligence Division conducted undercover operations and identified eight locations that were believed to be fencing stolen electronic devices. For one of the locations, DCRA issued a license revocation letter, and the case is currently on appeal at the Office of Administrative Hearings. As a result of the initiative, the city has had a reduction of businesses buying and selling stolen items, and consequently, the number of robberies involving cell phones also decreased by 22% from FY13 to FY14.

OBJECTIVE 2: Provide the highest quality police service with integrity, compassion, and a commitment to innovation.

INITIATIVE 2.1: Improve feedback on investigations by implementing a survey for sexual assault victims

Fully Achieved; In FY14, MPD's Sex Assault Unit (SAU) conducted surveys to victims of sex assault in order to evaluate and improve the Department's services. SAU used the survey results to improve performance and provide feedback to detectives regarding how the victims perceived MPD's ability to investigate their case while ensuring their needs were met. Each month, 10 surveys were conducted totaling 120 surveys for FY14. Of them, 54% rated MPD's service as Excellent, 28% as Good, 11% as Fair, 5% as Poor, and 2% with no rating. The Department will continue to improve its service to sex assault victims based upon information obtained from future surveys, and the public will see a victim-oriented response to sexual assault investigation by the MPD.

OBJECTIVE 3: Improve police service to the public through the integration of the Department's people, technology and business systems.

INITIATIVE 3.1: Improve criminal investigations by enhancing MPD's ability to quickly and efficiently retrieve privately captured video footage related to major crimes

Fully Achieved; In FY14, MPD's officers and detectives took extra measures to locate and submit requests for CCTV videos when an incident was believed to have video evidence. This step significantly assisted the Crime Scene Investigation Division (CSID) during major events in gathering accurate video evidence and identifying suspects and witnesses. Although there were instances where the knowledge of video evidence was not surfaced until further investigation, MPD's goal was to acquire and produce video evidence within 24 hours of the request. Due to the increased efforts, CSID extracted over 894 videos and prepared in excess of 300 digital images for detectives during FY14. Moreover, the public has seen a significant increase in the number of videos that have been presented seeking for assistance in resolving criminal cases; the number of videos uploaded on MPD's YouTube portal (<https://www.youtube.com/user/OfficialDCPolice>) more than doubled (171% increase) from FY13 to FY14.

Operations/ Agency Management

OBJECTIVE 1: Safeguard the District of Columbia and protect its residents and visitors.

INITIATIVE 1.1: Establish a Nightlife Unit to safeguard patrons in entertainment zones while maintaining the quality of life for area residents.

Fully Achieved; In FY13, MPD conducted a comprehensive economic development analysis on planned and ongoing developments throughout the city. The analysis identified several highly populated and dense entertainment areas that demanded a different type of police deployment. As a result, on October 1, 2013, MPD established the Nightlife Unit and deployed 90 officers in the following five nightlife areas of the city: H Street NE Corridor, Adams Morgan, Columbia Heights, DuPont Circle, and U Street NW Corridor. All 90 officers received targeted training on how to handle and deescalate incidents in the entertainment areas. The Nightlife Unit has successfully provided high visibility patrols on foot, bicycle, and Segways during the nightlife hours and worked with nightclubs and liquor-licensed establishments to provide a safe environment. Based on the one-year evaluation analysis, all five nightlife areas experienced significant reductions in violent crimes. Most notably, robberies decreased by more than 40% in all five areas from FY13 to FY14 with Adams Morgan having the largest decrease in robberies (70%). MPD will continue to support the city's successful restaurants and nightlife industry while working with business owners and community members to provide the safest entertainment areas for its citizens.

OBJECTIVE 2: Provide the highest quality police service with integrity, compassion, and a commitment to innovation.

INITIATIVE 2.1: Establish a private/public partnership for creating a safe city and supporting further growth.

Fully Achieved; In FY14, MPD developed a formalized process to review and provide feedback on proposed development. Through the DC Building Industry Association (DCBIA), builders and developers are now able to request MPD for site visits and feedback on proposed development during the critical planning process. MPD has conducted site visits/reviews for several DCBIA members (builders and developers) over the past fiscal year. The Development Pipeline has also allowed MPD analysts to be aware and well-informed of the upcoming projects in order to assess the potential impact of growth on public safety. Additionally, through a collaborative process developed by the Chief of Police, Deputy Mayor for Public Safety and Justice, and Deputy Mayor for Planning and Economic Development, the Zoning Commission has provided MPD with an opportunity to comment and provide feedback on large development/zoning requests that may have a substantial impact on public safety and the community. In FY14, MPD has reviewed and provided feedback on nine large development/zoning requests provided by the Zoning Commission. This information allowed MPD to assess the impact of the proposed development and craft strategies that are mindful of the economic growth. It is this type of information related to city growth that led the Chief to create the Nightlife Units that reduced crime and disorder in thriving entertainment areas.

OBJECTIVE 3: Improve police service to the public through the integration of the Department's people, technology and business systems.

[There is not an initiative for this objective]

Patrol Services & School Security Bureau Patrol Services & School Security Bureau

OBJECTIVE 1: Safeguard the District of Columbia and protect its residents and visitors.

INITIATIVE 1.1: Support safe travel options by enhancing our partnership and collaboration with Metro and the DC Taxi Cab Commission

Fully Achieved; In Fiscal Year 14 (FY14), the Metropolitan Police Department (MPD) strengthened its partnership with the Metropolitan Transit Police Department (MTPD) and the DC Taxi Cab Commission (DCTCC). MPD and MTPD held six joint youth and school summits during the 2013/2014 school year, conducted joint patrols on flagged bus routes, and enhanced safe passage patrols at Anacostia, Deanwood, Minnesota, and Ft. Totten Metro stations. In addition, MPD and MTPD also hosted seminars in 15 elementary and eight middle schools in Ward 8 to prevent children from throwing rocks. Due to the increased partnership with MTPD, police visibility has increased at Metro stations, and MTPD has attended more youth outreach events with MPD than previous years. With the DC Taxi Cab Commission, MPD established a new policy in FY14 where any incident involving a taxi or a taxi cab driver is shared with the DCTCC; 100% of reports on taxi drivers were forwarded to DCTCC in FY14. Moreover, MPD and DCTCC hosted multiple joint police-taxi safety patrols and safety inspections in late 2013 and early 2014. DCTCC also attended five police roll call sessions in the 2nd and 3rd Districts. As the result of the initiative, citizens now have more safe travel options in the District.

OBJECTIVE 2: Provide the highest quality police service with integrity, compassion, and a commitment to innovation.

INITIATIVE 2.1: Expand outreach to the District's Asian and Pacific Islander community Fully Achieved; MPD hired an Asian outreach coordinator in FY14 in efforts to expand the Department's outreach with the Asian community. The outreach coordinator's responsibilities have been to overcome the language access barriers in services offered by the MPD, identify crime trends that are unique to the Asian community (e.g. mail, credit card, and identity frauds), and educate the Asian community on public safety issues and reporting practices. The outreach coordinator has successfully utilized her public relations and language skills to identify the community needs, promote awareness, find volunteers, and organize events that benefit the agency. The initiative has enhanced partnership and allowed MPD to work closely with the members of the Asian and Pacific Islander community to educate the importance of public safety.

INITIATIVE 2.2: Expand our youth outreach through the Junior Cadet program

Fully Achieved; In FY14, the Junior Cadet Program was successfully expanded to include fifth graders in four elementary schools (Seaton, Hendley, and Stanton Elementary Schools and Friendship Blow-Pierce Public Charter School). The students participated in weekly interactive classroom presentations where MPD's School Resource Officers discussed topics related to safety, civics, life skills development, and academic achievement. Moreover, the program provided school supplies, Thanksgiving baskets, and Christmas toys to students and hosted field trips to the Air and Space Museum (Dulles, VA), Gettysburg Battleground (Gettysburg, PA), Luray Cavern (Luray, VA), and the US Capitol (Washington, DC) where they met US Delegate Eleanor Holmes Norton. As a result of the initiative, teacher assessments of the overall behavior and academic achievements of participants increased.

OBJECTIVE 3: Improve police service to the public through the integration of the Department's people, technology and business systems.

INITIATIVE 3.1: Implement the transfer of the Central Cell Block to the Department of Corrections

Fully Achieved; In FY14, MPD successfully transferred the adult prisoner processing and housing responsibilities to the District of Columbia Department of Corrections (DOC). This transfer has been a positive change on many fronts and has enhanced MPD's daily critical mission functions. The Central Cell Block now has a medical facility that is staffed by a nurse and a Physician's Assistant (PA) and is capable of administering minor medical procedures and medication. This change has diminished hospital details in which otherwise would require uniformed police officers to handle. The Department also no longer staffs the facility with uniformed members (10 sworn officers and three sergeants), thereby making its dedicated manpower available for patrol duty. Moreover, the Department has reduced its exposure to civil liability by transferring duties to a government agency that has expertise in the monitoring, accountability, and management of prisoners.

INITIATIVE 3.2: Increase patrol training and focus on vending laws and regulations

Fully Achieved; In March 2014, MPD held training sessions for two officers from each police district on the new vending regulations. The training sessions including a one-day in-field exercise were led by the Department of Consumer and Regulatory Affairs (DCRA) and an MPD officer (1D/vending certified). MPD also conducted outreach to current vendors and provided roll call trainings to MPD officers on food truck and vending rules. In addition, the First and Second Districts conducted joint enforcement exercises with DCRA, Metro Transit Police, and Park Police.

With MPD's enhanced vending violation enforcements, officers have been able to address more vending violation complaints from the community.

Support Services

OBJECTIVE 1: Provide the highest quality police service with integrity, compassion, and a commitment to innovation.

INITIATIVE 1.1: Enhance the Department's integrity check program

Fully Achieved; MPD instituted a Police Misconduct Board in FY14 consisting of police executives and officials who review at-risk members based on the Supervisory Support Program (SSP) indicators and prior disciplinary cases conducted by the Internal Affairs Bureau (IAB). Since the beginning of the initiative, the Board's review process has become a standard operation for IAB where the Board routinely identifies management and training needs and intervention programs for at-risk members. In FY14, the Board conducted 110 integrity checks, resulting in five officers needing additional review by IAB. The initiative has allowed MPD to ensure that officers are conducting operations within departmental guidelines and procedures.

INITIATIVE 1.2: Educate officers about ethics and appropriate decision making for officers

Fully Achieved; In efforts to improve integrity within the department and educate officers about the importance of their choices, Dinner to Dismissal, a video which highlights the impact of alcohol abuse and domestic violence in law enforcement career was uploaded on the MPD intranet for all members to view. In addition, a total of four internal Public Service Announcements (PSAs) were created during the past fiscal year which highlighted the consequences of off-duty drinking and driving for law enforcement personnel; the announcements were added in various training videos and other internal media resources so that they can be viewed like commercials. Moreover, supporting posters and digital media were also created to be distributed to the district stations.

INITIATIVE 1.3: Continue the recruitment, hiring and training of new recruits to increase the size of the sworn force, as funded by the Department's FY14 budget (One City Action Plan Action 3.1.2)

Fully Achieved; In efforts to maintain the strength of the force and the safety of District residents, all FY14 hiring goals were met. MPD hired 244 new officers in addition to 427 applicants in the pipeline (as of September 30, 2014) awaiting various stages in the hiring process. The Department also improved the process flow of the applications to meet timely hiring practices, and all applicants were hired within or in many cases less than six months of applying. At the same time, the Department incorporated more in-depth screening methods by including additional checks to ensure all applicants are meeting psychological and medical requirements. In FY14, higher level of college graduates also applied to join the Department than in previous years; 46% of hires in the past two years had Bachelor's, 4% Master's, and 1% Juris Doctor degrees.

INITIATIVE 1.4: Launch an internal campaign to renew officer focus on professionalism and customer service

Fully Achieved; Each citizen deserves a fair and professional service from every MPD member they meet. In efforts to meet those standards, MPD updated its training curriculum in FY14 to include an emphasis on customer service. A training website on customer service was created to ensure each contact MPD officers have with the public is a successful exchange, whether that contact is for an arrest, traffic stop, gun registration, or accident report. Moreover, taking on the theme of “I am MPD”, a poster campaign was launched focusing on positive messaging to inspire officers to consider the customer service that they provide in their daily interactions with the public. The posters focused on various aspects of customer service elements that were identified through feedback from the public as areas where officers needed reminders – such as being patient and answering questions, treating everyone with respect and dignity, maintaining a positive, engaged attitude, and being committed to quality customer service. A video dedicated to the proper wearing of the Sam Browne belt (the utility belt worn by patrol officers) was also created to renew officer focus on professionalism. MPD will continue to emphasize the importance of customer service and professionalism in the FY15 professional development training.

OBJECTIVE 2: Improve police service to the public through the integration of the Department’s people, technology and business systems.

INITIATIVE 2.1: Use of the tactical village to enhance training and improve officer performance

Fully Achieved; During the past fiscal year, all members engaged in highly participatory and rigorous scenario training programs at the MPD’s tactical village. MPD recruit officers participated in team building exercises to improve their preparation and situational awareness while veteran officers completed the newly designed active shooter training. Moreover, the tactical village was also used to initiate the Rescue Task Force Drills where 473 members from MPD and the District of Columbia Fire and Emergency Medical Services Department trained on incident and scene management. Other ancillary MPD units such as the Crime Scene Investigations Division and Major Narcotics Branch also used the center for work specific training. All training sessions received high accolades from veteran members on a regular basis. As a result of the initiative, the public has benefited from police officers having improved situational awareness, decision making skills, and delivery of service.

INITIATIVE 2.2: Launch recruit training on social media, including its importance for effective community policing and investigations, and an MPD officer’s personal and legal responsibilities in using it

Fully Achieved; In FY14, MPD conducted two trainings related to security awareness and social media. MPD’s Security Awareness Training entailed topics related to storing/securing sensitive data, proper usage of government technology, protecting passwords, desktop/mobile security, and phishing/pharming. Officers were also trained on the security policy and the proper usage of the FBI’s Criminal Justice Information Services. Furthermore, the Social Media and Internet Awareness for Law Enforcement Training highlighted the importance of security risks for law enforcement personnel when using personal social media accounts outside of work as well as using social media as an investigative tool. MPD also paid special attention to and reiterated the Department policy on social media usage to recruit-level officers. The initiative provided an opportunity to better protect police officers and their family members from potential dangers and reduce citizen complaints regarding officer behaviors on social media.

INITIATIVE 2.3: Improve customer service by launching online access to publicly available police documents

Partially Achieved; This initiative has not been achieved due to ongoing procurement process. The initial business requirements were documented, and a statement of work was created, reviewed, and approved for submission through the DC Government’s Procurement Automated Support System. A Request For Information (RFI) was completed and publicized, and the Department received three responses from interested vendors. MPD is currently awaiting final approval, and the procurement process remains in progress. Once the initiative is completed, the public will have the convenience of satisfying their public report requests without the need to make a physical trip to MPD's headquarters. In addition, the automated process will increase the speed of delivery and enhance tracking of requests.

INITIATIVE 2.4: Enhance awareness on how to retrieve lost/stolen property

Fully Achieved; Every year, MPD handles over 100,000 recovered or seized property cases. In an effort to improve public awareness on how to recover properties from the Evidence Control Warehouse, MPD revised its public website with a step-by-step explanation of the process; information included general timeline, required documents, and contact information of the Evidence Control Branch and District Property Offices. Moreover, a Frequently Asked Questions section was added to include detailed information on police auctions and methodologies to recover stolen vehicles.

INITIATIVE 2.5: Implement a pilot project to support a Sustainable DC by installing anti-idling devices in vehicles

Fully Achieved; In FY14, MPD installed 218 idle reduction (IR) devices on fleet vehicles to further increase the overall fuel economy. An internal analysis of fuel data was conducted in two police districts comparing a population of vehicles with the IR device to a population of cars without it from July to September 2014. In the 2nd District, the analysis indicated that the average fuel cost per mile for marked patrol vehicles with the IR device was 12% more fuel efficient than vehicles without it. In the 3rd District, the average fuel cost per mile was 8% more efficient. In addition to the cost savings from reduced fuel usage, there were environmental savings from releasing less vehicle emission.

Patrol Services Bureau<sup>3</sup>

SUMMARY OF SERVICES

Patrol Services Bureau – coordinates crime prevention and reduction efforts in the seven police districts. In addition to providing professional and effective patrol services throughout the District, this division responds to all calls for police service. This division contains the following two activities:

- Patrol Services – provides focused law enforcement, responds to calls for service, and provides crime prevention services to residents, visitors, and commuters; and
- Special Liaison Unit (Patrol Support) – provides targeted outreach and specialized response to historically underserved communities.

OBJECTIVE 1: Provide the highest quality police service with integrity, compassion, and a commitment to innovation.

INITIATIVE 1.1: Enhance partnership with the LGBT community (Age-Friendly DC Goal: Domain # 5).

In December 2011, Chief Lanier asked the Anti-Defamation League, a national leader on the issue of hate crimes, to assist the Department by conducting an impartial review of MPD's hate crimes and community programs, comparing them with programs in other departments in the nation, and identifying any areas that might be strengthened. The Task Force issued its report in February 2014. In the spring of 2015, MPD will complete its work with the community on the most important recommendation of the report by launching an enhanced training curriculum for all of its members on hate crimes and LGBT cultural competency.

Deadline: February 28, 2015

OBJECTIVE 2: Improve police service to the public through the integration of the Department's people, technology and business systems.

INITIATIVE 2.1: Deploy Telestaff system to automate officer time and attendance.

The Department is continually seeking new ways to improve police processes to maximize resources in operations. To automate and streamline time and attendance practices, MPD will deploy the Telestaff system that will allow card/biometric access, time/record keeping of all personnel, automation of leave request and ceiling limits, and tracking of personnel details and assignments. Deadline: September 30, 2015

INITIATIVE 2.2: Improve processing of field arrests and alternative release options for minor offenses.

Using non-custodial field arrests (criminal citations in lieu of custodial arrest) and alternative release options for arrestees can benefit the community, the Department, and arrestees. By using non-custodial field arrests, police officers will be able to spend more time on the street. Moreover, minor arrests will be able to be handled more expeditiously, allowing criminal justice resources to focus on serious and violent offenders. A new law, the Post-Arrest Process Clarification Amendment Act of 2014, is projected to become effective in December 2014. It will streamline some of the requirements and processes of arrest and release, allowing MPD and the criminal justice system to make it easier for officers to use non-custodial field arrests, while ensuring appropriate mechanisms are place to use the tools fairly and consistently with the public. Deadline: September 30, 2015

INITIATIVE 1.2: Establish a Financial and Cyber Crimes Unit within the Special Investigations Branch of the Criminal Investigations Division to investigate crimes facilitated in the cyber realm.

The Financial and Cyber Crimes Unit (FCCU) will be the primary unit within the MPD that will receive, review, and investigate allegations of crimes that are facilitated within a cyber environment. Additionally, the FCCU will partner with the Federal Bureau of Investigation's Cyber Division and the United States Secret Service's Electronic Crimes Task Force to receive training in the investigation of cyber crimes and to assist in the investigation of criminal allegations that have a multi-jurisdictional and/or international aspect. Bill 19-226, *Metropolitan Police Department
Minimum Staffing Amendment Act*

Phil Mendelson, Chair
Council of the District of Columbia

John A. Wilson Building

Chairman Mendelson, members of the Council, staff and guests, I appreciate the opportunity to testify today about Bill 19-226, the Metropolitan Police Department Minimum Staffing Act of 2011, and about police staffing generally. The text of my prepared testimony is posted on the Department's website, www.mpdc.dc.gov.

There is no doubt that the most important resource in the Metropolitan Police Department (MPD) is the people. Our sworn and civilian men and women work around the clock to safeguard the nation's capital, and to serve the residents of and visitors to our vibrant city. I am grateful for their commitment and dedication, and I know the Council is as well. However, in order to ensure that we continue to have a full-strength Department, we must plan strategically for the future. The Department, the Administration, and the Council should work together to establish staffing goals so as to stabilize MPD sworn and civilian staffing to best support public safety.

The proposed legislation presents a fairly straightforward plan – that MPD should have a minimum of 4,000 sworn members. Although this seems simple enough, it is in fact merely a starting point for a critical discussion of principals of policing and human resources, including how to identify the “right” number of officers, how a Department maintains that number, and the role of civilians in an effective and efficient Department. Although I appreciate the intent of this legislation to show strong support for the Department, I am concerned that by legislating a number, important issues will be glossed over, establishing false perceptions about what the legislation would accomplish.

The “Right” Number

Chiefs of police around the country are frequently asked how many police officers their department should have. Most often a police chief will answer that there is no magic number. As I told this Committee in March, although many people study the issue and will make recommendations, there is no scientific formula for policing. One reason is that community expectations, which are a significant factor in determining how many police officers to have, are difficult to quantify. Communities with similar crime or disorder issues but varying expectations for response time or proactive policing might staff their police departments at different levels. Another issue is that studies are based on a static snapshot. A police department needs to be able to respond to changing conditions. The faster a jurisdiction changes, the more flexible a department needs to be, either to change staffing levels, deployment plans, or services offered, or to be able to look for more efficient and effective ways to operate.

In the past, the District has devoted resources to studies of the police department, with varying returns on the investment. For example, in December 1996, the Control Board retained Booz•Allen to conduct a comprehensive review of MPD and, to some extent, all of the partners involved in the criminal justice system. The $6-to-7 million evaluation was commissioned in response to a number of troubling perceptions, including that:

- Crime in the District was “out-of-control” and “chronic”;
- “...the Department [had] been ineffective in delivering basic policing services”; and
- “In large part due to the unacceptably high crime levels, the District [had] experienced a large exodus of citizens, which [had] significantly decreased the tax base and consequently the city's ability to address the public's concerns.”

The goal of the review was not to establish a target number of police officers, but rather to overhaul the entire Department and the way the District's criminal justice system operated. Clearly, the Department and the city were in crisis when this extensive study was commissioned. The city, the Department, and its partners are not facing these issues now, and such an extensive study is in no way needed. The Department is effective, responsive, and accountable, and our government partners are generally supportive of our efforts. Of course we are continually seeking ways to improve service delivery, but overall, the Department is a high-functioning agency, and feedback and polls indicate that vast majority of residents are very satisfied with it.

At the other end of the spectrum, the city commissioned a $168,000 study in 2009 on staffing needs. The study recommended that the Department:

- Have 3,675 sworn members and 863 civilians, 176 fewer sworn officers and about 350 more civilians staff members than we have today.
- Reduce the force at the time by 211 officers, eight detectives, 39 sergeants, 31 lieutenants, and six captains, and increase the force by 2 commanders and 44 desk sergeants.

In short, the primary finding was that the Department should reduce the ranks of front line workers – with 92 percent of the recommended reduction coming from officers and sergeants, including a recommendation to reduce the number of officers on patrol by 232. Needless to say, the recommended reduction in patrol is contrary to what the police and Council hear every day from our community members. Although I no longer hear that community members don't see police in their neighborhoods, they certainly aren't saying that there are too many police officers in our neighborhoods.

It is important to note that the recommended staffing level did not include any recruit officers, which means the staffing level is not sustainable. For instance, if the goal is to have a stable department at 4,000 members a year, and if we have an average attrition rate of 175 officers a year, we need to hire 175 officers throughout the year to maintain a stable force. However, this would mean that there are really only 3,825 fully trained officers available. If, however, the attrition rate rises to 300 or more officers a year – which is likely in a few years when the retirement bubble hits – then to maintain a relatively stable force, we would need to hire 300 members a year, leaving only 3,700 fully trained officers. Thus any staffing targets must take into consideration the need to have recruits in training and more employees working in workforce development<sup>1</sup> in order to maintain a stable force. This is a shortcoming of any snapshot study, and highlights an important question with the legislation: is the 4,000 member target for the number of trained members, or the total number of members? When the time comes to develop budgets, will the 4,000 truly be seen as a floor so that the Department could get additional funding to hire above the floor when attrition rises, or will it be interpreted as a ceiling?

The problems with the recommendations from the study reinforce what I believe to be true – our best measures of appropriate police staffing are community satisfaction, and performance on basic police performance measures, such as response time, and reducing and solving crimes. As I testified to this Committee in March of this year, I believe that under current conditions, the city should try to retain a force of at least 3,800 sworn members. Based on more than 20 years of policing in the District, I am beginning to see indicators that concern me. For instance, I receive a page notifying me of pending calls for service every hour, as well as any time more than five calls are pending in a police district. Over the past several months, I have seen the number of pending calls rising. To me this means that more people are waiting when they call 911, which is not a trend I want to continue.

For many years, city leaders agreed that the Department should have 3,800 members. However, less than two years after the Department finally reached that number in 2004, the Council took up discussions of increasing the size of the force, with proposal including increasing the force up to 5,400 officers. In the Fiscal Year (FY) 2007 budget, the Council decided on a target of 4,200 officers, and the Department and Council established a three-year hiring strategy. As we all know, the fiscal pressures and budget cuts in FY09 derailed this plan, which is why we are discussing this again today. I recognize that the city's policy makers face difficult choices in establishing the budget, and the proposed legislation is one option for ensuring that in future years the funding for MPD is maintained at a certain level. Although yesterday's budget vote highlighted that commitments to police staffing can be very short-lived, locking a staffing target into a legislative straightjacket may hinder the Department more than it helps.

While we are discussing the optimal size of MPD's force, I would like to address an oft-repeated concern that MPD has more officers per capita than any other city police department. This is indeed true, but the comparison between the District and other city police departments is not entirely valid. In addition to the law enforcement functions fulfilled by most local police department, MPD also fulfills significant functions commonly provided by county or state law enforcement agencies – such as prisoner transport, warrant service, highway patrol, and licensing and regulation of firearms and the security industry. Moreover, our residential population swells significantly with commuter and visitors to the city, which only a few US cities can match.

Needless to say, these responsibilities do not even touch on all that MPD handles solely as a function of policing the nation's capital. No other US jurisdiction provides police service on a daily basis for the President, Vice President, and their families. No other jurisdiction has over 400 official visits from foreign dignitaries and 3,000 foreign dignitaries visiting a year. And when the President and Vice President travel outside of Washington, roads are cleared of all traffic, parked cars, and such, and spectators are often kept behind barricades. We don't do this in DC because shutting down the routes for every motorcade would make it virtually impossible to navigate much of the city on a continuous basis. We are committed to ensuring that the city doesn't take on the character of an armed fortress. But the cost of this freedom is a high level of coordination among the various police forces.

And although there are other law enforcement agencies in the District, only two – the U.S. Park Police and the Uniformed Secret Service – have full police powers throughout the District. Others, such as the U.S. Capitol Police and Metro Police, have full authority in a limited area of the city. Most uniformed forces exercise only limited authority – not full police authority – within specific boundaries, many only on the property they guard. Most importantly, these federal agencies have their own priorities and constraints, and are not chartered to serve the District government and residents. The Metropolitan Police Department is the only agency in the District with primary responsibility for investigating crime, responding to calls for service, and partnering with our community to help address crime and disorder problems.

Maintaining Sworn Strength

As we discuss the optimal number of officers, it is important to look at some of the factors that must be balanced just to maintain sworn strength, including recruitment, hiring, and attrition.

Although MPD has not had funding to hire any officers for the past 12 months, interested applicants continue to contact MPD. Since 2007, we have not had any shortage of interested and qualified applicants. Moreover, MPD has several programs to attract young District residents to careers in policing.

- The Department's Police Cadet Program employs recent high school graduates in civilian positions. Working about 20 hours a week, the cadets rotate through a variety of assignments – helping MPD fulfill its mission while providing the cadets with valuable exposure and experience. In addition to providing a salary for their work, MPD pay the tuition for Cadets at the University of the District of Columbia. Cadets convert to career police status upon completion of the Associate Degree program and enter recruit training. The Cadet Program increases the pool of talented recruit officers from DC and provides access to employment opportunities, secondary education, and a career in public service to District youth.
- Most recently, MPD launched a Junior Cadet Program and a Junior Academy. The Junior Cadet Program was launched in partnership with the Washington Police Foundation, a group that works to support key unmet public safety needs identified by the MPD Chief of Police and other public safety leaders in the District. The program will provide opportunities to participate in activities that instill a sense of community pride, self-discipline and leadership ability in an overall positive environment. Participants will experience opportunities to travel to important civic centers, meet community leaders, and develop relationships with MPD mentors. The program will also connect with parents and guardians of students to keep them informed of student progress. The approximately 75 participants from 5th grade classes at the Winston Education Center and Seaton Elementary School are also receiving scholarships to participate in Camp Brown this summer. The Foundation and its business partners are providing the participants with t-shirts, hats, and backpacks filled with toiletries for their time at camp.
- In addition, this summer, MPD will host approximately 60 teens from the Mayor's Summer Youth Employment Program in a Junior Police Academy to introduce them to law and the criminal justice system. The 6-week program is an opportunity for students who are curious about law enforcement and the criminal justice system to gain an insider's perspective. Participants will get first hand experience to compare the crime dramas they see on TV and the movies with reality. In addition to weekly classroom sessions, participants will meet with homicide detectives, police commanders, and other MPD personnel, visit the Superior Court and interact with local judges, meet city prosecutors, and participate in MPD community outreach events such as National Night Out and All Hands on Deck.

Overall, the Department's retention trends are very positive. In particular, I would like to set the record straight that the Department does not have an attrition "problem" that is leading to low staffing levels. The concern is not about recent attrition, but about a lack of funding to hire new officers. In addition, we are anticipating a significant increase in attrition because of an approaching "retirement bubble". With an average attrition rate of just 4.5 percent over the past four years, MPD's attrition rate is extremely low, below that of the federal government and the private sector. According to a November 2010 report, Beneath the Surface: Understanding Attrition at Your Agency and Why it Matters (Partnership for Public Service and Booz Allen Hamilton), "At 7.6 percent in fiscal 2008, the federal attrition rate was below that of the private sector, which was reported by the Saratoga Institute to be 9.2 percent in 2008. Federal attrition further declined in fiscal 2009 to 5.85 percent."

At 4.5 percent, MPD's attrition rate has actually been lower over the past four years than it was for the previous seven years (5.6%). It is important to keep in mind that attrition is a normal process for any organization, including police departments. Attrition includes voluntary separations (retirement or resignations) and involuntary separations (disability retirement, termination, and death). People retire, move, or change careers. Involuntary attrition is also inevitable. If someone is unfit to serve in any industry – but particularly in a position of public trust like a police officer – then they should be terminated. And unfortunately, because of the nature of policing, disability retirements and deaths are higher than in many other professions.

The concern now is that MPD is anticipating an unprecedented increase in attrition because of a significant retirement “bubble” as we reach the 25th anniversary of the hiring surge of the late 80s and early 90s. More than 1,100 officers – or almost 30 percent of the current force – will be eligible to retire within the next four years. At the end of 2011, more than 300 members will be eligible to retire. Although many members have traditionally stayed on longer than 25 years, it is difficult to predict how macro issues – such as the economy, changing expectations of different generations – will influence individual decisions. What is clear is that when optional retirements are combined with other sources of attrition – disability retirements, terminations, resignations, and death – we can conservatively expect to need to hire more than a thousand new recruits over the next four years just to break even.

Civilianization

Although MPD’s civilian employees receive much less attention from the community members and the policymakers, their work and dedication are critical to the daily operations and overall success of the Department. From operational functions such as collecting and analyzing evidence, to critical support functions such as analyzing crime data, researching new police tools, writing policy, and keeping our fleet and facilities functioning, civilians improve the effectiveness and efficiency of the police departments in countless underappreciated ways.

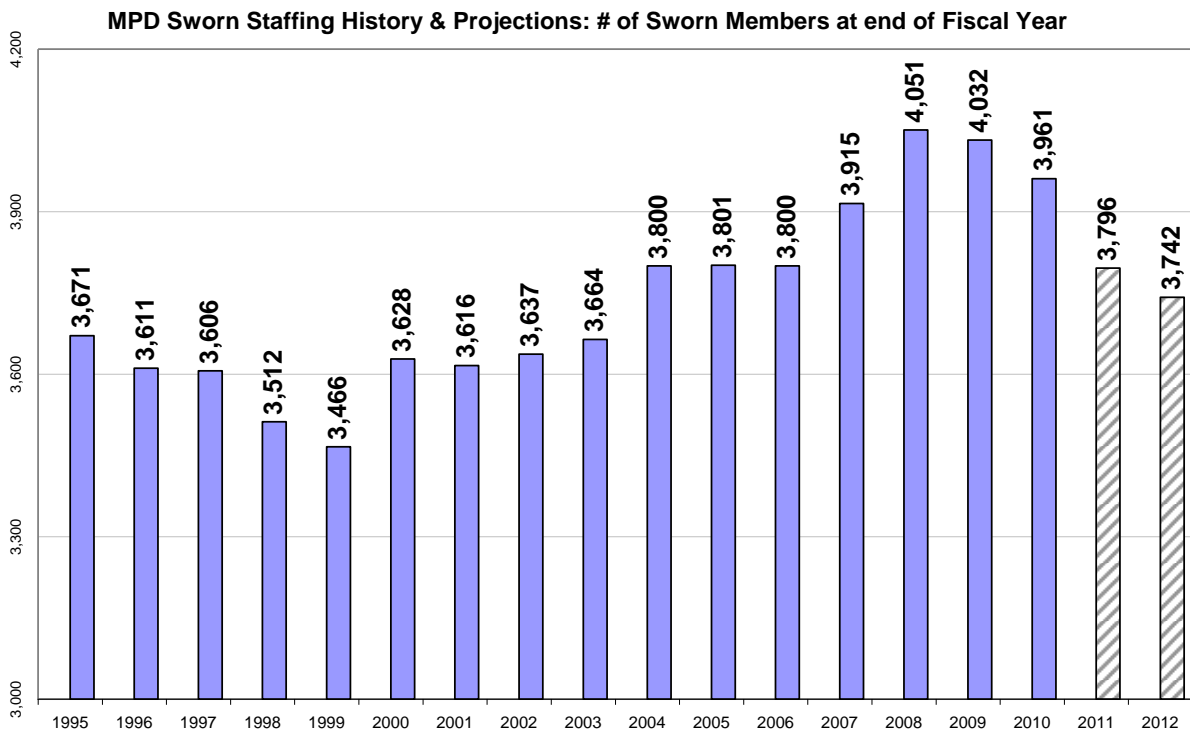

Accordingly, another option for more police service to the city—including enhanced officer visibility on the street—is to significantly expand civilian support for those officers. Civilianization replaces sworn members in specific positions or relieves them of various tasks and responsibilities that can be performed by personnel without police powers. It also helps to professionalize areas of the department by bringing in highly skilled employees in such specialty areas as information technology and data analysis. In most cases, because of less training time, hiring a civilian will result in an officer being returned to operational functions faster than hiring a new officer. Civilianization can cost less than using police members because they do not have to be outfitted with equipment and uniforms and do not have the same ongoing training costs. Civilian salaries for lower grade positions are usually lower than starting salaries for officers, and civilians at higher grades and salaries usually have specialized skills and training that allows them to be more efficient and effective than a sworn member without that training.

The civilianization plan was first developed in 1999, and then expanded in 2004 and in 2007. However, the District’s fiscal challenges have fallen heavily on the Department’s civilian force. Not only were the civilianization positions frozen, but backfilling essential positions has been delayed, hampering critical work. For example, the turnover among fingerprint and firearms examiners is hindering the city’s ability to get accreditation, which could delay movement into the new forensic lab. Investing in both sworn and civilian staffing can result in a more effective and efficient Department, so focusing just on sworn staffing can be counterproductive.

In short, I support and appreciate efforts to ensure that the Department is fully staffed so that we can achieve our mission to safeguard the District. However, because of the complexity of the issue, I am not convinced that simply setting a number in legislation is the best way to achieve our goals. I thank you again for the opportunity to appear before you to discuss this critical topic. I will be happy to address your questions at this time.

NOTE: FY11 & FY12 year end figures represent the staffing estimates given staffing as of May 31, 2011, estimated monthly attrition of 14.5 members, and projected hiring of 120 members in FY12. These numbers are projections only and are subject to change.

11. Enhance follow-up in all aspects of the Department to meet community needs.

MESSAGE FROM THE MAYOR

Over the last year, we have worked together to move our great city forward. We've created jobs, reduced unemployment and expanded economic development in all eight wards. School test scores are rising faster than anywhere else in the nation. We've made historic investments in affordable housing, modernized school buildings, playgrounds and libraries. We have also worked closely with the Metropolitan Police Department in our fight against crime, especially robberies.

The District of Columbia saw a 22 percent reduction in the number of robbery-related homicides in 2013. While the MPD's focus on reducing robberies has had a significant impact throughout our city, it is especially noticeable in the Sixth and Seventh police districts. Historically, these areas have experienced the highest number of homicides, but, in 2013, these communities saw a four percent reduction in homicides, and a 36 percent reduction over the past three years. It's accomplishments like these that make me so proud of all the members who serve our city as law enforcement officers.

I look forward to working with the Metropolitan Police Department and the community to ensure that the District of Columbia is an even better, safer place for all District residents.

Vincent C. Gray

MESSAGE FROM THE CHIEF

The past year will leave a lasting impression on me as well as all members of the Metropolitan Police Department. The District of Columbia's population continued to grow at a rapid pace, adding more than 1,000 new residents a month. Our city has seen incredible growth in neighborhood development, a boom in commercial districts, dozens of new construction projects, and a thriving restaurant and nightlife industry. The District's public schools are seeing sustained increases in student enrollment for the first time in decades.

But with all these economic successes, we have also seen greater demands placed on our police services. The men and women of the Department rose to the occasion and continued to serve the District's residents, visitors, and businesses with dedication and professionalism. The Department has expanded its engagement with residents through hundreds of community meetings, one-on-one interactions with the public, and expanded use of social media and neighborhood listservs. We've launched a number of new police initiatives that have been essential to fighting crime and protecting the public. I could not be more proud of the hard work done by the members of this Department every time they put on the uniform and start their tour of duty.

There is one day from 2013 that we won't ever forget: September 16. On that day, a shooting at the Washington Navy Yard resulted in a response from hundreds of law enforcement officers from across the region. Scores of MPD members rushed to the scene and entered Building 197, even though they had very limited information about the situation. I mourn the loss of the 12 individuals who were killed that day and still don't understand how a single person can choose to cause so much pain and anguish. But I am also incredibly proud of the bravery and selflessness exhibited by so many members of this Department that day. I believe that without the swift response by law enforcement, we would have suffered the deaths of more innocent Navy Yard workers.

Every day, I look around me and see heroes in action. I am honored to work with so many members of this Department – both sworn and civilians – who are deeply committed to working to make the District of Columbia the safest city possible. From routine activities like foot patrols, traffic stops, and calls for service, to unanticipated crises like the Navy Yard shooting, the members of this Department are always ready, willing, and able to respond. While police chiefs are usually the ones that get the accolades when things go well, I know that the credit really belongs to all of the members of this Department. With the ongoing support of our community and agency partners, we will continue to help build safe and strong neighborhoods throughout the District of Columbia.

Cathy R. Lanier

The District of Columbia is a vibrant and thriving city. Each year it is home to numerous historic events, and 2013 was no different. In January, visitors from around the country came to DC to witness the 57th Presidential Inauguration and hear President Barack Obama make his second Inaugural address. During the Inaugural festivities, as with so many other high-profile events that take place in DC, the Metropolitan Police Department played a key role in managing the crowds, maintaining order and ensuring safety.

Special events like the Inauguration are not the only occasions that draw visitors to Washington. Monuments, museums, and natural attractions make DC a nationally-recognized vacation destination, with millions of tourists visiting the city each year. The District of Columbia is also growing in popularity as a place that people call home. More than 1,000 new residents are moving into the city each month. This population growth has created a boom in neighborhood development, commercial districts, and nightlife areas. Throughout it all, the Metropolitan Police Department has continued its efforts to make the city a safe and livable home to its residents.

Sadly, no single event in 2013 left a stronger impression on the Department, and perhaps on the city, as that fateful day in September when Aaron Alexis entered the headquarters of the Naval Sea

System Command and fatally shot 12 people before he was stopped. Numerous agencies had members who bravely responded to the scene. The 57 members from the Metropolitan Police Department who entered the building did not know how that day would end. They entered with one intent – to stop the shooter’s rampage before any more lives were lost. Their actions were truly heroic and they cannot be thanked enough.

The individuals who were at the Navy Yard that day are not the only heroes in the Metropolitan Police Department. Every day our officers have an immense impact on the communities we serve. Patrol officers cover their beats day in and day out, getting to know neighbors, business owners, and community representatives and learning about their public safety concerns. Young people connect with members of the Department through community outreach events, as well as through their school resource officers. Special liaison officers provide outreach and services to communities which have historically been underserved by law enforcement officers. Throughout 2013, the men and women of the Metropolitan Police Department met the challenges presented to them, regularly putting their lives on the line to ensure the safety of the people living, working and visiting this city. These everyday heroes – from the member who responds to a crime scene with an armed gunman to the one who shares a friendly moment with a kid – are the stars who make this Department the success that it is.

Crime in DC

The District of Columbia is currently experiencing a growth in population and economic development which has placed greater demand on police services than in previous years. Calls for service increased by four percent this past year, even as the Metropolitan Police Department continues to shorten its response time to calls for service. This past year, the District saw a five percent drop in robbery, a nine percent drop in burglary, and an eight percent drop in vehicle theft.

The District of Columbia ended 2013 with 104 homicides. While that is an increase from the 88 homicides in 2012 – which was the lowest number in 50 years – 12 of those homicides came as a result of the tragic shooting at the Navy Yard. Perhaps the most notable number is 22 percent – that is the decrease in robbery-related homicides. Our focus on reducing robberies is having a significant public safety impact citywide. And in the Sixth and Seventh Districts, historically where the highest number of homicides has occurred, there was a four percent reduction in homicides last year, and a 36 percent reduction in the past three years. Notably, juveniles are now less likely to be involved in homicide. Over the past four years, the number of juvenile homicide offenders has fallen 25 percent, and juvenile victims decreased 63 percent.

The MPD's homicide closure rate, 80 percent, continues to be well above the national averages. According to the most recent data from the Federal Bureau of Investigation, comparably sized cities had a 51 percent clearance rate in 2012. We continue to make excellent progress on cold cases, including closing a 30-year old murder last November. All of this sends an important message: If you choose to take the life of another person here in the District, we will find you and hold you accountable.

Community Outreach

Reaching Out to the Community

The Metropolitan Police Department works to establish and maintain relationships with community residents for the purpose of developing crime prevention efforts. Throughout the year, the Department hosts a variety of events that provide information and leadership to youth, parents or guardians, community residents and police officers on crime prevention activities. Each of the seven police districts sponsors its own activities focusing on the community they serve. Anti-bullying and gun safety workshops give young people the tools they need to handle these situations with confidence and strength. Events like sporting tournaments, barbecues, health and safety fairs, and National Night Out activities give members of the MPD exciting ways to foster positive relationships with the public. Monthly police community meetings provide a more structured way for the community and police to discuss public safety issues and possible solutions.

The MPD also benefits from the generous support from partners like the Washington DC Police Foundation, which helped provide funding for programs like Beat the Streets; MPD Jr. Police Academy; Shop with a Cop; Youth Advisory Council; Cadet Training Program; and many others. In FY2013, the MPD received approximately $169,500 from the DC Police Foundation, $49,000 of which was a Federal grant. The Foundation was also instrumental in the Department's efforts to construct the Tactical Village.

Volunteers in Action

In addition to participating in MPD's varied outreach events, our community members generously donate their time to support the Department and the city. Between the Police Reserve Corps, Citizen Volunteer Corps, and Collegiate Internship Program, community members donated more than 65,000 hours of service, a 15 percent increase from 2012. This equates to more than $2 million dollars in labor hours.

Future Officers Get Real-Life Experience through Cadet Program

Through our Police Cadet Program, we are developing a talented pool of officers from the District. This program provides training and experience in the field of law enforcement to qualified individuals between the ages of 17 to 21, and is designed to prepare candidates for entrance into MPD's Recruit Program.

Currently, there are 20 cadets in the program. The cadets gain familiarization with the daily operations of the Department and its rich history through temporary assignments across the Department's police districts and specialized units. They also learn about the MPD's commitment to service by regularly interacting with the community. For example, in 2013, the cadets adopted four kindergarten classes through the Operation MAD (Make a Difference) Reading Project, and read to them every week. Other cadet assignments and activities included National Night Out, Senior Citizen Holiday Celebrations, Shop with a COP, and Emergency Response Team (ERT) simulation drills.

Cadets must meet all the same hiring criteria as our police recruits. They attend the University of the District of Columbia while working about 20 hours a week, rotating through a variety of MPD assignments. Cadets can convert to career police status upon completion of their Associate Degree and entering recruit training to become a sworn officer.

Social Media Continues to Expand

In its continuing effort to reach the public using social media, the Metropolitan Police Department expanded its social media tools to include Pinterest and Instagram in 2013. Our community listserv membership continues to grow, and the Department's Twitter feed has grown to an incredible 40,000 followers. Our text tip line has nearly 10 times the number of tips than when it first launched in 2008. Even more amazing, there were over 515,000 views of videos on the Department's YouTube site in 2013. These numbers alone are pretty remarkable; however, the information received from the community has led to several important arrests and case closures, which means dangerous offenders are put behind bars and are no longer free to terrorize the community. That is the important story behind the statistics. Our relationship with the community is paramount to our success and we continue to look for different ways to improve that communication. To follow the MPD on any of the social media sites, find the links on MPD's homepage at MPDC.DC.GOV.

Photos of Recovered Property Available Online

Every year, the MPD recovers hundreds of stolen and abandoned bicycles, and hundreds of lost and found electronic devices. This property is inventoried by the MPD's Evidence Control Branch. Property not claimed within 90 days of recovery is considered abandoned and may be disposed of through auction or donation. Before any recovered bicycles are auctioned or donated, images are posted online via Flickr. Photos of many electronic devices – especially smart phones; tablets; and other small, valuable items – are also posted online. Sharing this information using simple, free web-based technology has helped reunite scores of people with their property.

Police Initiatives

Increased Patrols Deployed in Active Nightlife Areas

Following an analysis of economic development patterns and their impact on crime and calls for service, the Metropolitan Police Department determined there would be a growing need for police services in areas with increased nightlife activities. As a result, in 2013, Chief Cathy L. Lanier launched the Nightlife Unit with almost 90 officers providing high-visibility patrols on foot, bicycle and Segways in nightlife areas. The MPD proactively works with counterparts at the Alcohol Beverage Regulation Administration (ABRA) to investigate and – when warranted – suspend the liquor license of any nightclub or liquor-licensed establishment where acts of violence break out. Of the six murders linked to nightclubs in 2013, four of them were closed with arrests and only one occurred after the establishment of the Nightlife Unit.

Bait Bikes Help Police Catch Thieves in the Act

In March 2012, the Metropolitan Police Department received a $50,000 grant to combat bicycle theft in the District of Columbia. Using funds from that grant, the Department purchased five bicycles and installed GPS systems on them for tracking purposes. The "Bait Bikes" were placed in three police districts during the kick-off in September, and 10 arrests were made in the first month alone. In 2013, the bait bikes were deployed throughout the summer and fall, leading to an additional 18 arrests in the Second and Third Police Districts. The MPD also continues to raise awareness about bicycle theft prevention by distributing safety brochures and sharing tips on how to reduce the risk of becoming a victim of theft at regularly scheduled community meetings.

Technology

Report Property Crimes Online Quickly and Easily through CORT

The MPD's Citizens Online Reporting Tool (CORT) offers a way for individuals to make quick reports that do not necessarily require a police officer to witness or take the information. Users may report certain non-violent incidents, such as lost property; lost vehicle tags; theft; theft from auto; destruction of property; and damage to property. CORT continues to im-

Select	Incident Type	Definition	Examples
<input type="checkbox"/>	Damage to Property	Incident where physical damage is caused to your property, but there is not enough information or circumstances do not warrant it being reported as a crime. This category excludes damage incurred as a result of a traffic crash.	You park your vehicle in a public garage. When you return a couple days later, there is a large dent in the left back bumper of your vehicle. It is unknown what caused the damage.
<input type="checkbox"/>	Destruction of Property	Incident where someone willfully causes, or attempts to cause, physical destruction of your property. This category excludes damage incurred as a result of a traffic crash.	Someone willfully breaks a window in your garage while you are sleeping in the adjoining house. There are no witnesses to that event.
<input type="checkbox"/>	Lost Property	Personal or commercial property that is lost, missing or misplaced.	You leave your purse somewhere in a convenience store while shopping but do not realize it for several hours.
<input type="checkbox"/>	Lost Tags	Incident where tags (license plates) are lost or missing from a vehicle not due to theft.	The tags fall off your motorcycle during a drive to work. You do not notice it until you get home that afternoon.
<input type="checkbox"/>	Theft	The wrongful taking of another's property without force or the threat of force. Excludes theft of and from motor vehicles (e.g., cars, motorcycles, mopeds, etc.) and robbery-pickpocket cases, where someone has taken something from your person. Includes attempts to commit theft also.	A stranger picks up your phone from the counter of a restaurant when you walked away for a couple minutes to speak to a friend. The stranger leaves the store before you notice your phone is gone.
<input type="checkbox"/>	Theft from Auto	Theft of another's property from his/her motor vehicle. Includes attempts to steal property from your vehicle also.	You leave your car unattended during the summer to run into the city center. You leave the driver's window rolled down. When you return, you find the backseat full with all the floor and ceiling.

prove service to the community. Significant increases in online reporting across all six categories shows improved awareness and willingness of residents to use this service. CORT continues to bring increasing benefits to the Department by allowing better tracking and efficiency of resources.

New Photo Enforcement Deters Traffic Violations

In November, MPD announced the deployment of several new types of automated traffic enforcement as part of a traffic safety campaign. DC Street Safe uses new photo enforcement technologies to combat aggressive and dangerous driving habits that endanger some of our most vulnerable road users, such as pedestrians, bicyclists, and other vehicle drivers and passengers. DC Street Safe also allows for traffic safety enforcement in areas and circumstances where it could be dangerous or impractical for police officers to pull over vehicles for violations. In addition to the existing red-light cameras and speed cameras, the MPD has added the following technologies to its safety enforcement roster:

- Gridlock enforcement units that will improve traffic flow by targeting “blocking the box” at intersections;
- Portable stop sign enforcement units to reduce violations in residential neighborhoods;
- Portable crosswalk enforcement units that will enhance pedestrian safety at crosswalks near schools, parks, and recreation centers;
- Speed enforcement units that will focus on intersections with known speeding problems;
- Units that will enforce rules on oversized and overweight commercial vehicles in order to reduce infrastructure damage and enhance quality of life in our neighborhoods.

Warnings for violations captured on the new cameras were issued throughout the month of December; the MPD began issuing tickets in 2014.

Training

Learning Continues throughout Every Member's Career

Each new recruit who joins the Metropolitan Police Department must complete 28 weeks of training at the Metropolitan Police Academy (MPA), which includes a full program of physical, classroom, and firearms training to prepare them for the challenges of being a police officer. The subjects covered include laws of arrest, search and seizure, criminal law, traffic regulations, human relations, community policing, and ethics. Recruit officers also receive skills training in firearms, operation of emergency police vehicles, self-defense, advanced first aid, and much more. Additionally, staff of the Metropolitan Police Academy develop, coordinate and deliver ongoing education and training programs that provide members with the knowledge and skills required to accomplish the Department's mission.

The Professional Development Training (PDT) Program is designed to refresh and add to the knowledge and skills of MPD members. During 2013, more than 3,500 members completed training through Acadis, the Department's distance learning system. This portion of the Professional Development Training program included 28 modules that provided 30,080 of online training hours.

In calendar year 2013 Professional Development Training was offered in a four-day 10 hour

Tactical Village Helps Prepare Members for Emergency Situations

The Police Tactical Training Facility is designed to train MPD recruits and current officers using realistic simulations. Members train on how to respond to emergency situations in settings that realistically recreate conditions they would find in an urban environment similar to Washington, DC. After the Navy Yard incident, the MPD performed an extensive after-action analysis that reviewed the law enforcement response and actions at the Navy Yard. The MPD is fortunate to be able to use the Tactical Village to help train on these “lessons learned.”

In October 2013, Chief Cathy Lanier opened the Village with the support of the Washington DC Police Foundation. Located on the Police Academy grounds, it is composed of two structures: the Gas House and the Tactical Village. The Gas House is a single-story, 1,000-square-foot structure that will be used to train officers and recruits on the use of tear gas, pepper spray and other MPD non-lethal ordnance. The Tactical Village is a 40 foot-tall, pre-engineered metal building that houses a realistic representation of an urban environment, including an entry street, a main street, a cross street and two alleyways.

It supports advanced training on a variety of different urban scenarios, including active shooter. Hundreds of officers have trained there since it opened.

Members Shape Up through Top Cop Fitness Challenge

On June 3, 2013 MPD kicked off Phase VI of the Top Cop Fitness Challenge, also known as the Biggest Loser Competition. The Top Cop Fitness Challenge was a free, voluntary health and fitness program which ran from June - August 2013. During the program, District Fitness Representatives were available to assist participants through the Challenge by leading workouts, providing information on diet, and weigh-ins. There were two tracks in the 2013 Fitness Challenge: weight loss and fitness. Winners for the weight loss track were determined by the percent of body weight lost, not pounds. The winners for the fitness track were determined by the fastest time for successful completion of a timed course based on agility, strength, and endurance. The top 12 winners in the weight loss track lost an average 11 percent of their body weight.

Looking Toward the Future

Throughout 2013, the Metropolitan Police Department has maintained operations of numerous successful programs and implemented several new ones. But staying the course is not enough. As MPD members and command staff look toward the future, we look for ways to solidify the Department’s reputation as one of the country’s premier police departments. Advancements in training, technology and new initiatives, will provide the footing the MPD needs to move forward and meet the needs of a growing and changing city.

As we look toward the future, the MPD is conducting a complete review of all training in an effort to improve upon the current standards. The MPD also plans to develop a voluntary fitness program for members to participate in to improve health and wellness. Plans to integrate new technology into daily functions, with innovations like installing tablets in patrol vehicles and deploying body-worn cameras on our members, will provide a more streamlined approach to policing. Creation of new specialized units will give our members more tools and training to address crime concerns and well as youth outreach needs. Through innovations like these, and the strong partnerships the MPD has with the residents, workers and visitors in the District of Columbia, the Metropolitan Police Department is looking toward a very positive future.

HEROES DURING TRAGEDY

WASHINGTON NAVY YARD SHOOTING

On the morning of Monday, September 16, 2013, a contract employee for the Navy carried out the most deadly workplace mass shooting to occur in the Nation's Capital in recent memory. The gunman entered the headquarters of the Naval Sea

Systems Command at 8:16 am and began firing indiscriminately from a shotgun he had secretly carried into the building. In the ensuing chaos, callers reported that a man with a shotgun was firing on workers in Building 197 at the Navy Yard. Law enforcement officers from both federal and local police agencies quickly made their way to the Navy Yard.

As the primary law enforcement agency for the District of Columbia, the Metropolitan Police Department officials took the lead and coordinated tactical operations from the inner perimeter. They formed active shooter teams and entered Building 197 as the gunshots continued. Fifty-seven MPD officers entered the building during the initial search for the shooter and many others provided vital coordination and support on the scene.

WASHINGTON NAVY YARD SHOOTING

Approximately 69 minutes after the gunman fired his first shots, killing 12 individuals and injuring several others, including MPD Officers Scott Williams and Dorian DeSantis, MPD Officer Desantis returned fire, neutralizing the gunman and putting an end to the tragic incident. All of the officers are to be commended for their heroic acts that day. The swift actions of our officers and the bravery they exhibited saved many lives. There is no doubt that without the courageous action of these officers, the death toll would have been significantly higher.

The members of MPD first and foremost want to remember and honor the 12 people who lost their lives. Twelve people went to work that Monday, but did not return home to their loved ones. It is truly a senseless tragedy beyond comprehension, and there are no words adequate enough to express our condolences. Our thoughts remain with the victims' families and friends.

Over the past several years, the members of MPD, along with other area law enforcement agencies and emergency responders, have trained extensively for the possibility of an "active shooter" incident. The Department did so with the hope of never having to respond to such a tragedy, but in the wake of Columbine, Virginia Tech, Aurora, Fort Hood, and Sandy Hook, among other similar tragedies, MPD recognized the importance and necessity of those preparations. As the primary law enforcement agency for the Nation's Capital, the members of MPD are acutely aware of the many potential targets that exist within the city and the need to remain prepared and vigilant.

On September 16, 2013, hundreds of police, fire, and emergency medical personnel from several different agencies responded to the Navy Yard shooting. Officers relied upon their training, experience, and instincts to run into an unfamiliar and massive building, towards the gunshots and certain danger, in order to stop the gunman from taking more lives.

The Metropolitan Police

A Multi-Agency Response

On March 16, 2013, 117 officers entered the building during the initial search for the shooter representing the following agencies.

- ★ D.C. Metropolitan Police Department (MPD)
- ★ U.S. Park Police (USPP)
- ★ Naval District of Washington (NDW) Police
- ★ Naval Criminal Investigative Service (NCIS)
- ★ Metropolitan Washington Airports Authority Police
- ★ U.S. Marshal Service (USMS)
- ★ Navy Contract Security Guards
- ★ Department of Defense (DOD) Personnel

- ★ Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, Firearms and Explosives (ATF)
- ★ U.S. Secret Service (USSS)
- ★ Metro Transit Police
- ★ D.C. Fire and EMS
- ★ Naval District Washington Fire Department

Department would like to thank all of the first responders and especially commend the brave and heroic actions of the law enforcement officers who first entered the building. The arrival and swift entry of police officers was critical in preventing the loss of additional lives.

CUSTOMIZED COMMUNITY POLICING AND POLICE PATROLS

The District of Columbia is divided into seven Police Districts, each of which is further subdivided into five or more Police Service Areas (PSAs). These boundaries distribute crime and calls for service almost equally among the districts. There are a total of 56 PSAs in the District of Columbia.

DC CODE INDEX OFFENSES

VS FBI UNIFORM CRIME REPORTING OFFENSES

Like most other jurisdictions, the Metropolitan Police Department (MPD) reports crime two different ways. Primarily, the Department reports crimes that are defined in the District of Columbia Criminal Code (DC Code Index Offenses). This is according to local law and is how officers classify offenses and make arrests. The MPD also generates crime data using uniformly established guidelines that were developed by the Federal Bureau of Investigation as the Uniform Crime Reporting System, or UCR.

The MPD relies on the DC Code Index Offense information for daily operational and deployment decisions. Residents access this same information to make informed decisions. The MPD has included DC Code Index Offenses in this Annual Report in order to provide a clear picture of crime trends as they are actually happening in the District of Columbia, and because that is how crime is reported to the MPD by residents. It is also how crime information is shared with the residents of the District of Columbia.

UCR Crime information is also included in Appendix B so that residents have access to that standardized crime data as well. To compare crime trends to other jurisdictions using UCR data, please visit the FBI website at www.fbi.gov/ucr/ucr.htm.

HOMICIDE ANALYSIS

Homicide Clearance Rate

Over the past five years, the MPD's homicide case-closure rate has averaged 82 percent.

	2009	2010	2011	2012	2013
Number of Homicides	144	132	108	88	104*
Homicide Rate (per 100,000)	24	22	17	14	16

* The citywide 2013 homicide statistics include the 12 victims of the Washington Navy Yard shooting incident that occurred on September 16, 2013.

Weapon Distribution

Firearms remain the primary type of weapon used to commit homicides in the District of Columbia.

Note: The MPD's homicide clearance rate is calculated, as it is by most police departments in the country, using the Uniform Crime Reporting (UCR) guidelines established by the FBI in the 1930s. These guidelines are the national standard for reporting several categories of crime data, including homicide clearance rates. Nearly 17,000 law enforcement agencies across the United States provide data to the FBI under its UCR program.

Under UCR guidelines, the clearance rate is calculated by dividing the total number of homicide cases closed in a calendar year by the total number of homicides that occurred in that year. The cases closed can be for homicides that occurred in the current year or in the prior years. In other words, some clearances that an agency records in a particular calendar year may pertain to offenses that occurred in previous years. The UCR program measures all of the work that an agency exhausts in closing cases.

CALLS FOR SERVICE

Calls For Service

Answering and dispatching both emergency and non-emergency calls are the responsibility of the Office of Unified Communications, a District agency created in October 2004. Calls for service data was provided by the Office of Unified Communications.

	CY2012	CY2013	Comparison	%Change
Calls for Service	467,069	486,853	19,784	4.2%
Response Time	7 min 47 sec	7 min 31 sec	-16 sec	- 3.4%

A "call for service" is any call for which MPD action is initiated.

Definitions of Priority I, II and III Calls

Priority I calls involve circumstances where an imminent threat to the safety of persons or the potential for significant property damage exists resulting in a Code 1 response being authorized. These calls will be dispatched without delay to any available unit within the PSA or police district, including to officials and watch commanders if no other unit is available. A sergeant, lieutenant and/or the watch commander will respond to the scene of all Priority I calls.

Priority II calls involve circumstances that require immediate dispatch and response, but most do not involve any imminent threat to the safety of persons or the potential for significant property damage. In the event such a threat is identified in any Priority II call, a Code 1 response can be authorized and it will be handled the same as a Priority I call. The dispatching of an MPD unit to a Priority II call shall not be delayed more than 15 minutes, at which time the dispatcher will advise the watch commander and the call will be assigned to any available unit.

Priority III calls involve routine requests for police services that involve no imminent threat to the safety of persons or the potential for significant property damage. The dispatching of an MPD unit to a Priority III call will not be delayed more than one hour, at which time the dispatcher will advise the watch commander, and a decision will be made on how to handle the call at that time.

Priority I Calls for Service

Response times to Priority I calls continue to improve, decreasing by over 11 percent in 2013.

Sworn Personnel, by Rank

Four out of every five sworn members are officers or detectives.

Sworn Attrition vs. Hiring

The MPD lost approximately five percent of its members to attrition, which includes voluntary separations (e.g., retirement or resignations) and involuntary separations (disability retirement, termination, and death). The Department has a robust recruitment and hiring program, for which the only limit is the budget.

	FY2009	FY2010	FY2011	FY2012	FY2013
Attrition	190	170	168	204	197

Ranks of the Metropolitan Police Department

While every sworn member of the Department is a police officer by profession, he or she is further identified by rank. Members at any rank who have been trained to conduct investigations may be known as investigators or detectives.

- Recruit Officer (attending the Metropolitan Police Academy)
- Officer/Master Patrol Officer/Senior Police Officer
- Sergeant
- Lieutenant
- Captain

CCTV USE IN THE DISTRICT

The Metropolitan Police Department (MPD) has a Closed Circuit Television (CCTV) system to support public safety operations in the nation’s capital. As authorized by District of Columbia Municipal Regulations, the CCTV system may be used to help manage public resources during major public events and demonstrations, to coordinate traffic control on an as needed basis, and to combat crime in District neighborhoods.

The primary goal of the CCTV system is to enhance the safety and security of residents, workers and visitors in the District of Columbia, while vigorously respecting the privacy rights of individuals. CCTV for homeland security provides law enforcement with real-time, visual information during major events such as demonstrations, presidential inaugurations, and the Fourth of July. During periods of heightened alert, the system allows police to monitor public spaces around key installations, without having to assign a large number of uniformed officers to the task. The CCTV system helps the MPD to deploy resources more efficiently and to respond to incidents more quickly and effectively, while continuing to maintain essential neighborhood patrols.

The MPD continues to utilize the Neighborhood Based Camera, which can be deployed according to crime needs and neighborhood concerns, as well as the Permanent Cameras. Both the Neighborhood Based and Permanent Cameras have prominent signage and their locations are listed on the Department’s website. MPD upgraded 57 of the Neighborhood Based cameras in 2013, replacing cameras originally deployed in 2006 and 2007 with high definition cameras. MPD plans to replace the remaining original cameras in 2014 with the newer high definition cameras. MPD also purchased five trailer-mounted, portable CCTV systems that can be rapidly deployed for special events and for use in emerging “hot spots” not currently covered by the existing neighborhood based or Permanent cameras.

While Neighborhood Based Cameras are in all seven Police Districts, the Permanent Cameras include public spaces around the National Mall, the US Capitol, the White House, Union Station and other critical installations, as well as major arteries and highways that pass through the District of Columbia.

While many criminals take note of the cameras’ publicized locations and rarely commit crimes in full view of the Department’s CCTV, the system has provided assistance in gathering information for investigations by showing the paths and directions that both suspects and witnesses have taken following incidents. Footage from CCTVs can be used to confirm or refute a suspect’s location at the time of an incident. In 2013, the MPD integrated its gunfire detection system and computer assisted dispatch with the Neighborhood Based cameras to direct the cameras towards the reported source of gunshots and other criminal events. During Joint Operations Command Center (JOCC) activations, the Closed Circuit Television (CCTV) system is also activated.

The MPD participates in a working group with other city agencies to discuss best practices and methods for sharing footage gathered from Closed Circuit Television (CCTV) to benefit the entire District of Columbia. In 2013, the Department processed 1,839 internal requests for video footage, an increase of 85 percent over the previous year.

APPENDIX B:

FBI UNIFORM CRIME REPORTING OFFENSES

Like most other jurisdictions, the Metropolitan Police Department (MPD) reports crime two different ways. Primarily, the Department reports crimes that are defined in the District of Columbia Criminal Code. This is according to local law and is how officers classify offenses and makes arrests. The MPD also generates crime data using uniformly established guidelines that were developed by the Federal Bureau of Investigation as the Uniform Crime Reporting System, or UCR.

The MPD relies on the DC Code Index Offense information for daily operational and deployment decisions. Residents access this same information to make informed decisions. The MPD has included DC Code Index Offenses in this Annual Report in order to provide an accurate picture of crime trends as they are actually happening in the District of Columbia and because that is how crime is reported to the MPD by residents (see page 15). It is also how crime information is shared with the residents of the District of Columbia.

UCR Crime information has been included here so that residents have access to that standardized crime data. To compare crime trends to other jurisdictions using UCR data, please visit the FBI website.

FBI UCR PART I CRIME DEFINITIONS

The UCR provides a consistent measure of serious crime that can be compared across time periods or regions.

Murder: The willful non-negligent killing of a person.

Forcible Rape: Penetration, no matter how slight, of the vagina or anus with any body part or object, or oral penetration by a sex organ of another person, without the consent of the victim

Robbery: The taking or attempting to take anything of value from the care, custody, or control of a person or persons by force or threat of force or violence and/or by putting the victim in fear.

Aggravated Assault: An unlawful attack by one person upon another for the purpose of inflicting severe or aggravated bodily injury. This type of assault is usually accompanied by the use of a weapon or by means likely to produce death or great bodily harm.

Burglary: The unlawful entry of a structure to commit a felony or theft.

Larceny/Theft: The unlawful taking, carrying, leading or riding away of property from the possession or constructive possession of another.

Motor Vehicle Theft: The theft or attempted theft of a motor vehicle. "Motor vehicle" includes automobiles, trucks and buses, and other self-propelled vehicles that run on land surfaces and not rails.

Arson: Any willful or malicious burning or attempt to burn, with or without intent to defraud, a dwelling house, public building, motor vehicle or aircraft, personal property of another, etc.

APPENDIX C:

BIAS-RELATED CRIME IN THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA

The government of the District of Columbia and the Metropolitan Police Department (MPD) are committed to working with the community to address and reduce hate crimes and perceptions of bias in our city. All individuals – whether they are people in targeted communities or those who might commit a hate crime – should know that intolerance and hate crimes have no place in our vibrant city. While the District strives to reduce crime for all residents of and visitors to the city, hate crimes can make a particular community feel vulnerable and more fearful. In order to combat hate crimes, everyone must work together not just to address allegations of hate crimes, but also to proactively educate the public about hate crimes. The following report highlights recent trends in hate or bias-related crimes, and efforts in the District to address them.

Highlights

A cornerstone of Chief of Police Cathy L. Lanier’s policing philosophy is that in order to combat crime, the police must have a strong and trusting relationship with the community. The Department’s commitment to this principle is as important to addressing hate crimes as it is to reducing homicides. With this in mind, it is important to highlight the work MPD does to build trust with communities that are often victimized by bias-related crimes, even though the connection to hate crimes may not be obvious.

In 2013, the Department continued its work with the Hate Crimes Assessment Task Force (HCATF). At the request of Chief Lanier, the Anti-Defamation League (ADL) formed the HCATF in 2012 to assess the Metropolitan Police Department’s outreach efforts and partnerships with various communities in the city and its investigation and reporting of hate crimes. Task force members include the ADL, Human Rights Campaign, National Center for Transgender Equality, the Leadership Conference for Civil and Human Rights, and two of the nation’s leading academic experts on the causes and impact of hate violence, Professor Jack McDevitt of Northeastern University and Professor Jim Nolan of West Virginia University. The task force conducted an impartial review of MPD’s programs, comparing them with programs in other departments in the nation, and identifying any areas that might be strengthened. Not only did the task force review policies and curriculum, it conducted interviews with members of the MPD and lesbian, gay, bisexual, and transgender (LGBT) community advocates, and hosted four community meetings.

The HCATF’s report, which is available on the MPD website (www.mpdc.dc.gov/MPD\_Response\_HCATF\_Report) was issued in February 2014. Chief Lanier requested this assessment to improve the Department’s response to hate crimes and to strengthen MPD’s relationship with the LGBT community. It is the Department’s hope that our response to the HCATF Report and commitment to implement its recommendations will establish the basis for a new level of partnership with the LGBT community based on our shared vision and values. Since the release of the report, MPD has been meeting with its community partners on plans to implement the recommendations.

Bias-Related Crimes Law

It is important for the community to know what is — and is not — a hate crime. First and foremost, the incident must be a crime. Although that may seem obvious, we must be clear that most speech is not a hate crime, regardless of how offensive it may be. Moreover, a hate crime is not really a specific crime; rather it is a designation that makes available to the court an enhanced penalty if a crime demonstrates the offender’s prejudice or bias based on the actual or perceived traits of the victim. In short, a hate crime is not a crime, but rather a possible motive for a crime. Needless to say, it can be difficult to establish a motive for a crime, and even more difficult for prosecutors to prove it in court beyond a reasonable doubt. Therefore the classification as a bias-related crime is subject to change as an investigation proceeds – even as prosecutors continue an investigation.

Under the Bias-Related Crime Act of 1989 (D.C. Official Code § 22-3700 et. seq.), to qualify as a hate or bias-related crime in the District of Columbia, an incident must meet the standards for both a “designated act” and a “bias-related crime:”

“Designated act,” meaning a criminal act, including arson, assault, burglary, injury to property, kidnapping, manslaughter, murder, rape, robbery, theft, or unlawful entry, and attempting, aiding, abetting, advising, inciting, conniving, or conspiring to commit arson, assault, burglary, injury to property, kidnapping, manslaughter, murder, rape, robbery, theft, or unlawful entry. D.C. Official Code § 22-3701.

“Bias-related crime,” meaning a designated act that demonstrates an accused’s prejudice based on the actual or perceived race, color, religion, national origin, sex, age, marital status, personal appearance, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, family responsibility, homelessness, physical disability, matriculation, or political affiliation of a victim of the subject designated act.

In order to successfully prosecute a hate crime, the government must establish beyond a reasonable doubt both that the defendant committed the crime, and that he or she was motivated by prejudice because of an actual or perceived difference. It is not sufficient to merely prove that the defendant belonged to a different group than the victim; the criminal act had to have been motivated by the prejudice. If a person is found guilty of a hate crime, the court may fine the offender up to 1½ times the maximum fine and imprison him or her for up to 1½ times the maximum term authorized for the underlying crime. D.C. Official Code § 22-3703.

Addressing Bias-Related Crime

The District of Columbia is a leader in the area of preventing and combating bias-related crimes and has been recognized for its efforts. The Metropolitan Police Department (MPD) works proactively to ensure that bias-related crimes are reported and investigated in a consistent manner through a systematic and open process. The Department’s strategy to address bias-related crime includes specialized community policing, enhanced training, and strong data reporting.

The Department’s Special Liaison Units—the Asian Liaison Unit, Deaf and Hard of Hearing Unit, Gay and Lesbian Liaison Unit, and the Latino Liaison Unit—work closely with historically underserved communities, serving as a model for community policing. In November 2009, MPD launched an expansion of the liaison units to include trained “affiliate officers” working on patrol in each district. Affiliate officers have volunteered to receive specialized training on diverse communities, their particular issues, and how to best serve them.

The affiliates continue to work in their home district, but receive coordinated support, information, and trainings through the Liaison Units. For instance, in addition to receiving at least one week of specialized training, one to two affiliate members are detailed at a time to their selected focus unit for a one-month immersion detail. More than two-thirds of the affiliate members have completed this detail. This expansion enables MPD to:

- ★ Enhance response to these communities throughout the city, 24 hours a day, seven days a week.
- ★ Provide consistent information to these communities, while ensuring that information about their needs is integrated into services in each police district.
- ★ Reinforce the messages of progressive training, policies, and procedures throughout the Department.

Based on recommendations from the HCATF and subsequent discussions with the community, in 2014 MPD will be updating the program to enhance affiliate officers’ ability to serve these communities while continuing to serve as a resource inside the Department.

A primary role of the Liaison Units is outreach to the represented communities. These communities have historically been underserved by law enforcement in major metropolitan areas, but that is not the case here in the District, where the Liaison Units and affiliate officers serve as a bridge to these members of our larger community whose diversity contributes to the vibrancy of our city. The Special Liaison Division hosts and participates in meetings and presentations, and provides the community with public safety materials and information that will help promote a better understanding of interacting with MPD members in criminal and casual contact situations.

<sup>1</sup> The MPD also reports data on sustained hate crimes to the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI), consistent with FBI reporting definitions and standards. The FBI’s definition of a hate crime is narrower than the District’s. Under FBI reporting, a hate crime, also known as a bias crime, is a criminal offense committed against a person, property, or society that is motivated, in whole or in part, by the offender’s bias against a race, religion, disability, sexual orientation, or ethnicity/national origin. The FBI definition does not include several types of bias included in the District, including gender identity, homelessness, and political affiliation. Note that the FBI will begin reporting on gender identity bias with 2013 data. Since the data presented in this report include all hate crimes supported under District law (D.C. Official Code § 22-3701), the figures differ from the MPD’s reports to the FBI.

BIAS-RELATED CRIME IN THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA

We strive to improve the reporting of crimes and bias crimes by providing outreach and educational sessions to the community on the importance of reporting crime. For example, members of the Liaison Units meet monthly with LGBT community advocates, speak regularly on Latino radio, and host presentations to and discussions with students about tolerance and safety. In addition to community-building and education efforts, the Division serves as a communication conduit between the police and the community every day. The SLD established an email group to provide an effective tool for direct and timely communication between police and all participating members of the SLD community. The Department posts information to the email group about crimes affecting the community.

Bias-Related Crimes Data

Reports of bias-related crimes as defined under District law<sup>1</sup> decreased slightly in 2013, from 81 crimes to 70. The decrease was largely driven by a 53 percent decrease in robberies, which reflected the Department's success in driving down robberies citywide. Consistently almost nine out of every 10 hate crimes is a crime against a person. Of course, absent the use of symbols or words demonstrating bias, motives for property crimes are usually difficult to establish. Simple assaults, which declined six percent in 2013, remain the most common type of hate crimes (44%), followed by aggravated assaults and threats (17% for each). Eleven percent of the hate crimes were defacing or destruction of property, and 10 percent were robberies.

The number of bias-related crimes based on religion increased by five, and those based on gender identity / expression increased by three. All other categories of bias remained the same or decreased. Bias related to sexual orientation has remained the most frequent type of bias for hate crimes in the District, accounting for 44 percent of all hate crimes in 2013. Together, three out of every five bias-related crimes are based on sexual orientation or gender identity/expression.

The Third Police District still accounts for the highest percentage of hate crimes (33%), almost twice as high as the next, the Seventh District (17%). Hate crimes were mostly densely concentrated in the areas around Adams Morgan, the U Street NW Corridor, and Chinatown/Verizon Center. Thursdays and Saturdays were the most common days of the week for hate crimes with peak hours between 4 pm and 7 pm and between midnight and 2 am. Thirteen out of the 18 hate crimes that occurred between midnight and 0200 hours occurred in proximity to nightlife areas.

LITTERING ENFORCEMENT IN DC

In December 2008, the Council of the District of Columbia enacted the Anti-Littering Amendment Act of 2008. The legislation provided new tools to support the enforcement of littering. Police officers, with round-the-clock presence on the streets of the District, can be an important part of the routine enforcement necessary to keep our city clean by deterring people from littering. In addition, in January 2011 the final legislative change that was needed to begin littering enforcement became effective. In order to handle any littering tickets issued to juveniles, the Office of Administrative Hearings (OAH), which adjudicates littering tickets, needed juvenile confidentiality requirements waived for these civil tickets. With this legislation in place, the Metropolitan Police Department (MPD) proceeded with its pilot for littering enforcement.

General Littering

The Anti-Littering Amendment Act of 2008 amended the existing littering statute to establish an affirmative requirement that a person stopped for a non-traffic littering violation provide the officer with his or her accurate name and address for the citation. Without accurate identifying information, the government's ability to hold violators accountable for this civil offense is limited. Violators who do not provide a valid name and address to an officer citing them for a civil non-traffic littering violation can be arrested. The criminal offense of refusing to provide an accurate name and address is adjudicated by the Superior Court of the District of Columbia, with a penalty, upon conviction, of not less than $100 or more than $250. The underlying littering violation is adjudicated by OAH. The fine for this littering violation is $75.

The Department, in partnership with OAH, developed the form, process, and tracking to be used for civil violations written by MPD and adjudicated by OAH. Because the ticket and adjudication process with OAH was new, enforcement began with a pilot in the Fourth District. The pilot is important so that OAH and MPD can ensure that a member of the MPD is notified and attends every hearing, and that police officers throughout the Department are trained to write tickets that will be supported in adjudication. In order to evaluate the effectiveness of the process and training, a sufficient number of tickets must go through the entire process, with violators either: (1) admitting the violation and mailing in the fine; (2) denying the violation and requesting a hearing in person; or (3) admitting the violation with an explanation and requesting a hearing by mail.

The pilot launched in the Fourth District in May 2011, and was expanded to the Sixth District on August 1, 2012. In each pilot, warning Notices of Violation (NOVs), or tickets, were issued for the first month during an educational phase. The Department distributed informational flyers to the community and posted them on its website in English, Amharic, Chinese, French, Korean, Spanish, and Vietnamese. In order to issue a ticket, an officer must witness the litterer intentionally or carelessly drop rubbish, waste matter, refuse, garbage, trash, debris, dead animals or other discarded materials, on public space, in waterways, or on another person's private property. In addition, of-

LITTERING ENFORCEMENT IN DC

Officers are encouraged to first ask the violator to pick up and dispose of the litter. If the individual complies, no ticket will be issued.

In 2013, 76 NOVs were issued. Of these, 14 were rejected—a 52 percent reduction from 2012—because a particular field on the ticket was left blank. Although this field may be blank on traffic tickets, it is not allowed on the littering tickets, an issue the Department continues to address in training. Of the 62 valid tickets, 48 have gone into default, for a 79 percent default rate.

Over the course of the entire pilot, 4 out of 5 violators have simply ignored the NOVs issued to them. When the proposed legislation was discussed in Council, MPD cautioned that there was likely to be a low compliance rate with civil violations for which an individual has no property interest or privilege to protect—such as real property, a professional license, or a driver’s license. In order for littering enforcement to be effective, the government must be able to hold violators accountable for their actions. Without repercussions for an offense, the government’s ability to hold violators accountable for this civil offense is limited, and the tickets may not be enough of an incentive to motivate people to change their behavior. This is important to recognize because the Council used the same enforcement scheme as the model for the Marijuana Possession Decriminalization Amendment Act of 2014, which establishes the same type of civil violation with a $25 fine for possession of an ounce or less of marijuana.

Littering from a Vehicle

The anti-littering law also established a new violation for littering from a vehicle. It provides that “No person shall dispose or cause or allow the disposal of litter from a vehicle upon any public or private property. Litter shall include all rubbish, waste matter, refuse, garbage, trash, debris, dead animals, or other discarded materials of every kind and description.” (DC Municipal Regulations § 18-2221.6). The penalty for the offense is a $100 fine, with any appeals adjudicated by the Department of Motor Vehicles. Since this violation is enforced and adjudicated similar to other civil traffic violations, it could be and was immediately implemented. And, contrary to the non-traffic littering violations, there are well known repercussions for ignoring traffic tickets so we have a higher compliance rate. The number of tickets issued and dismissed in calendar year 2013 is provided below.

CITIZEN COMPLAINTS

The Metropolitan Police Department (MPD) is committed to providing professional, high-quality services to all; the MPD does not tolerate officer misconduct or wrongdoing. The MPD encourages individuals who believe they have been subjected to, or witnessed, police misconduct of any type, to report the incident to either the MPD or the DC Office of Police Complaints (OPC).

The Internal Affairs Bureau (IAB) is the internal MPD unit responsible for ensuring that all complaints of officer misconduct are handled properly. IAB investigates complaints filed at anytime alleging any type of misconduct, including misconduct that can be investigated by OPC and anonymous complaints.

What Is the Process Once a Complaint Is Made?

A complaint may be submitted to either the MPD or OPC. Complaints submitted to MPD go through the following review process.

- ▶ Step 1: The complaint is filed with the MPD.
- ▶ Step 2: The MPD official responsible for investigating the complaint contacts the complainant to let him or her know it is being investigated. If necessary, the official will obtain additional information.
- ▶ Step 3: The complaint is investigated; witnesses and the officer against whom the complaint is filed are interviewed. The officer is entitled to know the complainant's name, if it is known, and the nature of the complaint. However, the MPD will not reveal the complainant's name if the complainant requests to remain anonymous.
- ▶ Step 4: The Investigation is completed and one of the following conclusions is made:
  - Sustained – The person's allegation is supported by sufficient evidence to determine that the incident occurred and the actions of the officer were improper.
  - Insufficient Facts – There are insufficient facts to decide whether the alleged misconduct occurred.
  - Exonerated – A preponderance of the evidence shows that the alleged conduct did occur but did not violate MPD policies, procedures, or training.
  - Unfounded – The investigation determined no facts to support that the incident complained of actually occurred.
- ▶ Step 5: The complainant is notified of the outcome of the investigation. If the complainant does not agree, he or she may appeal the decision in writing by sending a letter to the Chief of Police at 300 Indiana Ave., NW, Rm. 5080, Washington, DC 20001.

APPENDIX E: CITIZEN COMPLAINTS

The Two Distinct Processes for Reviewing and Investigating Complaints

DC Office of Police Complaints (OPC):

- Is a District of Columbia Government agency that is independent of the MPD and has its own investigative staff.
- Gives individuals a choice to have police misconduct complaints investigated by an agency other than the MPD.
- Has authority to investigate complaints filed within 45 days of the underlying incident, and that allege harassment; use of unnecessary or excessive force; use of language or conduct that is insulting, demeaning, or humiliating; discriminatory treatment; retaliation for filing a complaint with OPC; or failure to wear required identification or refusal to provide name and badge number when requested to do so by a member of the public.

Metropolitan Police Department (MPD):

- Investigates complaints against its members through the MPD Internal Affairs Bureau (IAB) and chain-of-command officials.
- Investigates complaints filed at anytime alleging any type of misconduct, including misconduct that can be investigated by OPC.
- Investigates anonymous complaints.

LESSON PLAN PRESENTATION GUIDE/TRAINER NOTES:

I. ANTICIPATORY SET

Discuss my background. Good morning my name is Ronald Reid; I am a supervisor of the sexual assault unit. I was a detective for seventeen years working in the sexual assault unit handled child and adult sexual assault cases.

This presentation is intended to further the awareness of Investigation techniques and Processing Crime Scene.

PERFORMANCE OBJECTIVES:

- 1. MPD's Guiding Principles of Sexual Assault Investigations
- 2. Familiarity with G.O. 304.6 (Sexual Assault Investigations)
- 3. Duties & Responsibilities of Crime Scene Management
- 4. Officials Responsibilities
- 5. Reporting Requirements

I. INSTRUCTIONAL INPUT (CONTENT)

Begin this course of instruction with class activity. Request a scribe and have scribe dictate class responses on Dry Erase Board. Once scribe person has been selected, start exercise with a question.

The Metropolitan Police Department is committed to three fundamental principles to support all sexual assault investigations.

The treatment of the victim is the absolute most important aspect of the investigation. Second, the goal of any criminal investigation is to find the truth. Arrests and prosecutions sometimes occur, but justice for all can only be achieved by determining the truth. Lastly, the approach to criminal sexual assault investigations is constantly evolving.

The preliminary (initial) investigation of sexual assaults is the responsibility of the first responding member. This initial call/contact must be limited during the inquiry to establish whether or not a sexual assault may have occurred. Members who respond to the scene of a sex offense are responsible for conducting the preliminary investigation and if a sexual assault or other incident or offense where sexual assault may have been an underlying issue, should immediately request Detectives from the Sexual Assault Unit (SAU) to respond

The SAU is responsible for the primary and follow-up investigation of all sexual assaults that occur in the District of Columbia involving adult victims (ages eighteen (18) and older). To include:
Investigating incidents where the sexual assault is not the “primary” allegation/charge. (e.g. Burglary where sexual assault occurred; Robbery where sexual the suspect groped the complainant in a sexual manner (not searching them for property) For all crimes that appear to have sexual overtones (inappropriate touching of the vaginal area, buttocks, breast, penis or inter-thigh).

Members who arrive on the scene of an alleged sexual assault shall be responsible for the following duties as part of the preliminary investigation: 1- Secure the scene and ensure officer safety on the scene, 2-Render first aid and arrange for emergency medical treatment to complainant, if necessary 3- Broadcast a lookout for the suspect, When officers arrive on the scene, and obtain the necessary information, they need to limit their preliminary investigation to the basic information.

Officers shall under NO circumstances make judgmental statements or ask judgmental questions (i.e. How much have you been drinking? Why were you walking out here by yourself so late?)

Preliminary Scene Responsibilities Upon determining that a sexual assault or an incident involving sexual overtones occurred, responding members shall contact the OUC on-duty SAU detective respond to the scene. They shall remain on the scene until they confer with the assigned SAU detective and shall provide copies of any notes to him/her

Medical Treatment of Complainant(s) Cases involving life-threatening injuries will be handled by the Fire and Emergency Medical Services (FEMS), according to DCFEMS protocol.

If the victim requires emergency treatment, and the injuries are non-life threatening, DCFEMS personnel will transport the victim to Washington Hospital Center. When practical, and when the victim does not need immediate medical attention, request that the victim remain at the scene until the SAU detective arrives. The Washington Hospital Center administers the S.A.N.E. program. Victims may upon his/her request respond to another hospital for an examination. After completion of the preliminary investigation, further contact with the victim of a sex offense shall be made only by assigned detectives from the SAU or the SAU Victim Specialist.

Preservation of the Crime Scene Members shall maintain control of the crime scene and preserve it for potential evidence. Prohibit any member not directly involved from entering the crime scene. Discourage the victim from bathing, using the bathroom, drinking, changing clothes, washing, or smoking

PSA OFFICIALS SHALL: Respond to all sexual assault calls for service. Take charge of the scene until relieved by the on-scene SAU detective, SAU supervisor, or higher-ranking official. Nobody should interview the victim further than the necessary facts for a look out and basic information, the interview shall be conducted by the responding SAU Detectives.

Teletype 06-022-12 In accordance with G.O. 304.6 (Adult Sexual Assault Investigations) for ALL ALLEGED SEXUAL ASSAULTS AND ASSAULTS WITH SEXUAL OVERTONES, members shall contact OUC and request that an on-duty sexual assault detective respond to the scene.

The SAU detective shall make a determination whether a sexual assault offense report or sexual allegation incident report shall be prepared. In all instances when an SAU detective responds a PD Form 251 shall be completed documenting either the offense or allegation.

PD Form 251 If investigation reveals that a sexual assault cannot be confirmed at the time, a sexual allegation report shall be made. If the only classification is sexual allegation, it shall be documented as an incident report and reported in the following manner:

For Sexual Allegation Reports, members should complete the biographical information of the complainant in the same manner as sexual assaults, those reports should only list initials of the victim's (s) and an age range instead of complete identifying information in the PD 251.

In the 252 narratives or non-public portion in ILeads, the complete identifying information should be documented to include full name, address, date of birth, telephone numbers, email address, and other pertinent information needed to follow up with the victim.

Report Writing Sexual Allegation Reports should be a general narrative which documents the events, it does not need to be specific and document all aspects of the report, and the Sexual Assault Detective shall document those facts in the ILeads System.

The reporting requirements for Sexual Assault Offense Reports shall remain the same.

For Sexual Assault Reports: the SAU Detective shall determine the classification, and the reporting member shall document the offense in the narrative the same as any other offense report, including pertinent elements outlining the facts of the criminal offense.

Instructional Objectives:

Processing a crime scene, the importance of an Evidence Collection Kit. Organization Concerns. Communication Issues, i.e.. Technician and Detective

Only essential personnel inside the scene area, Assign officer to Identify everyone.

Gather the pertinent facts (who, what, where, when). Consider coordination of response with other pertinent units or agencies. Need for a search warrant

PROCESSING THE CRIME SCENE

The search of the crime scene is one of the most important parts of the investigation. In sexual assaults, the criminal is in contact with the physical surroundings sometimes in a forceful manner. Traces may be left in the form of clothing, shoe impressions, finger prints, blood stains, overturned furniture, disturbed articles in general, hair, condoms, semen, and saliva.

Evidence from Victim and Suspect

The following should be collected as soon as possible from the persons of the victim and the suspect in all sexual assault cases:

If the victim is injured in the sexual assault, those injuries should be photographed as soon as possible. With follow-up photographs after injuries have become more visible

If the injuries are located on their breast, buttock or vaginal area, the photograph should be taken in a place that affords the complainant privacy and whenever possible the photographs should be taken by a police officer of the same sex. (ie. Transgendered victims, Male victims etc.)

Physical Evidence

All clothing that the victim was wearing at the time of the assault (Clothing worn after the assault), All clothing that the suspect was wearing at the time of the assault, Fingernail scrapings of both victim and suspect, Pubic hair combings of both suspect and victim.

Head hair combings of both suspect and victim, Known pubic and head hair of both suspect and victim, Blood samples from the both the victim and suspect, samples will be obtained from the suspect when a blood order is issued. Saliva samples both the victim and suspect
Evidence from Crime Scene

If assault took place in victim or suspect's home: Locate a point of entry and exit. Look for Pry marks and areas that may have been touched by the offender. Have CSID Photograph the entire scene.

Bed clothing (if assaulted on the bed) - Sheets, pillowcases, blankets, etc. Throw rugs (if assaulted on floor) or sweepings if wall-to-wall carpeting involved. If entry was forced, samples of glass from broken window, paint from window or door area.

Careful search of immediate area for items foreign to area such as buttons, pieces of torn cloth, etc., that may have been dropped or pulled from assailant's person.

Any object that the suspect may have used or touched in some way and may have left blood, semen or saliva.

Search for foreign objects and Soil samples taken from scene and surrounding area. Search for foreign objects such as footprints, shoe impressions or tire marks

If assault took place in an automobile: Have CSID Sweep and vacuum seats and floors. Obtain seat covers, blankets, etc., that may be on seat. Check door handles, etc., for hairs that may have been caught and pulled from victim's head. Check ceiling for traveling blood. If trunk is used to transport victim, the same searches should be conducted in the trunk area.

Note: Please remember cigarette butts observed at any location may be crucial to your crime scene.

The mentioned items are only suggestions, not all inclusive of evidence that might be present at crime scene, common sense should always prevail.

Instruct group to discuss response and select a member to explain Myths and Facts Explanation. Show questions on PowerPoint as discussed. (Give Guidance) Discuss each response below.

Myths and Facts Explanations:

Myth: “Rape is not a big deal; it is only sex.”

Fact: Rape is a big deal. It is a crime of dominance and control using sex to express power and anger. Sex is between two consenting partners, while rape is an aggressive act using sex as a weapon. To be raped is to be violated and stripped of control and self-determination.

Myth: “Rape only happens to teenagers or young women.”

Fact: Rapists attack infants, senior citizens and teens. They attack women, men, girls and boys.

Myth: “Rape only happens if you ask for it. Women who are provocative are the only victims of rape.”

Fact: Women’s behavior is irrelevant. The rapist chooses to rape and he is solely responsible for that choice. To act provocative or to wear sexy clothing does not mean you are asking to be raped. The attitudes behind this myth betray a double standard. According to this double standard, sexual feelings and expression are acceptable for men, but unacceptable for women.

Myth: “A woman cannot be raped if she keeps her legs crossed or keeps moving. No man alone can rape a woman.”

Fact: One man alone can rape a woman and it is a common occurrence. A man may use physical violence, threats, manipulation, confusion or a weapon to force a woman to have sex with him.

Myth: “Most rapes are inter-racial. Most rapes are committed by black men against white women or white men against black women.”

Fact: About 80-90% of all violent crimes against women are intra-racial; most rapists attack persons of the same race. (1)

Myth: “Rape is committed by strangers.”

Fact: 77% of completed rapes are committed by someone who is known to the victim (2) and 90% of children under the age of 12 know their assailants (3). A rapist may be a friend, family member, acquaintance, partner or caretaker.

Myth: “Rapists are mostly psychotic men. You can identify a rapist by the way he looks.”

Fact: Most rapists are men with no obvious signs of mental illness. In study after study, researchers are unable to find any significant psychological difference between men who rape and men who do not rape.

Myth: “Men rape because they need sex.”

Fact: Men do not rape because they need a sexual partner. Men rape in order to humiliate and dominate a woman. In fact, 75% of men who rape are either married or have regular sexual partners. (3)

Myth: “Men who rape other men are gay.”

Fact: Rape is an act of control and domination, whether the chosen victim is male or female. Rape is not a sexual act and it does not relate to sexual orientation.

Myth: “Most rapes are spontaneous. A man sees a woman and has to have her.”

Fact: Most rapes are planned. A man may watch a particular woman for a while and try to learn her daily routine. Many men also test women’s reactions to hostile or sexual remarks to see if they can intimidate her.

Myth: “It is impossible for a man to rape his wife.”

Fact: A husband can rape his wife and a boyfriend can rape his girlfriend. Even if a woman has had consensual sex with someone in the past, that person can rape her if he forces her to have sex when she does not want to.

Myth: “Rape only happens if you are out on the street late at night.”

Fact: Rape occurs at all times of the day and 6 out of 10 rape/sexual assault incidents occurred in the survivor’s home or at the home of a friend, relative or neighbor.

Myth: “Only men rape.”

Fact: In 2005, 2.2% of single-offender rapes/sexual assaults were perpetrated by females. 9.5% of multiple-offender rapes/sexual assaults were perpetrated by females. (5)

Myth: In same sex relationships, if sexual assault occurs, the physically larger, more masculine or “butch” partner is usually the perpetrator.

Fact: Sexual Assault is an act of domination and is always about power and control. This does not directly correlate to physical stature or gender expression. This assumption can prevent the survivor from being identified as such, and worse can have him/her treated as a perpetrator.

Myth: Sexual Assault does not happen within LGBTQ relationships.

Fact: Studies have shown that sexual assault occurs in LGBTQ relationships at the same rate as it does in heterosexual relationships. This assumption is often rooted in seeing same sex partners as equals (i.e. man against man and woman on woman), and as such, this type of violence is often minimized. Also, as LGBTQ individuals are often stereotyped as hypersexual, the myth is rooted in the belief that one would not have to sexually assault them as they are willing to participate sexually. However, the reality is that sexual assault is hurtful and traumatic regardless of who the perpetrator is and regardless of the sexual orientation of the survivor.

ANSWER SHEET

The Metropolitan Police Department is committed to three fundamental principles to support all sexual assault investigations.

The treatment of the victim is the absolute most important aspect of the investigation. Second, the goal of any criminal investigation is to find the truth. Arrests and prosecutions sometimes occur, but justice for all can only be achieved by determining the truth. Lastly, the approach to criminal sexual assault investigations is constantly evolving.

The preliminary (initial) investigation of sexual assaults is the responsibility of the first responding member. This initial call/contact must be limited during the inquiry to establish whether or not a sexual assault may have occurred. Members who respond to the scene of a sex offense are responsible for conducting the preliminary investigation and if a sexual assault or other incident or offense where sexual assault may have been an underlying issue, should immediately request Detectives from the Sexual Assault Unit (SAU) to respond

The SAU is responsible for the primary and follow-up investigation of all sexual assaults that occur in the District of Columbia involving adult victims (ages eighteen (18) and older). To include:
Investigating incidents where the sexual assault is not the "primary" allegation/charge. (e.g. Burglary where sexual assault occurred; Robbery where sexual the suspect groped the complainant in a sexual manner (not searching them for property) For all crimes that appear to have sexual overtones (inappropriate touching of the vaginal area, buttocks, breast, penis or inter-thigh).

Members who arrive on the scene of an alleged sexual assault shall be responsible for the following duties as part of the preliminary investigation: 1-

Secure the scene and ensure officer safety on the scene, 2-Render first aid and arrange for emergency medical treatment to complainant, if necessary 3-Broadcast a lookout for the suspect, When officers arrive on the scene, and obtain the necessary information, they need to limit their preliminary investigation to the basic information.

Officers shall under NO circumstances make judgmental statements or ask judgmental questions (i.e. How much have you been drinking? Why were you walking out here by yourself so late?)

Preliminary Scene Responsibilities Upon determining that a sexual assault or an incident involving sexual overtones occurred, responding members shall contact the OUC on-duty SAU detective respond to the scene. They shall remain on the scene until they confer with the assigned SAU detective and shall provide copies of any notes to him/her

Medical Treatment of Complainant(s) Cases involving life-threatening injuries will be handled by the Fire and Emergency Medical Services (FEMS), according to DCFEMS protocol.

If the victim requires emergency treatment, and the injuries are non-life threatening, DCFEMS personnel will transport the victim to Washington Hospital Center. When practical, and when the victim does not need immediate medical attention, request that the victim remain at the scene until the SAU detective arrives. The Washington Hospital Center administers the S.A.N.E. program. Victims may upon his/her request respond to another hospital for an examination. After completion of the preliminary investigation, further contact with the victim of a sex offense shall be made only by assigned detectives from the SAU or the SAU Victim Specialist.

Preservation of the Crime Scene Members shall maintain control of the crime scene and preserve it for potential evidence. Prohibit any member not directly involved from entering the crime scene. Discourage the victim from bathing, using the bathroom, drinking, changing clothes, washing, or smoking

PSA OFFICIALS SHALL: Respond to all sexual assault calls for service. Take charge of the scene until relieved by the on-scene SAU detective, SAU supervisor, or higher-ranking official. Nobody should interview the victim further than the necessary facts for a look out and basic information, the interview shall be conducted by the responding SAU Detectives.

Teletype 06-022-12 In accordance with G.O. 304.6 (Adult Sexual Assault Investigations) for ALL ALLEGED SEXUAL ASSAULTS AND ASSAULTS WITH SEXUAL OVERTONES, members shall contact OUC and request that an on-duty sexual assault detective respond to the scene.

The SAU detective shall make a determination whether a sexual assault offense report or sexual allegation incident report shall be prepared. In all instances when an SAU detective responds a PD Form 251 shall be completed documenting either the offense or allegation.

PD Form 251 If investigation reveals that a sexual assault cannot be confirmed at the time, a sexual allegation report shall be made. If the only classification is sexual allegation, it shall be documented as an incident report and reported in the following manner:

For Sexual Allegation Reports, members should complete the biographical information of the complainant in the same manner as sexual assaults, those reports should only list initials of the victim's (s) and an age range instead of complete identifying information in the PD 251.

In the 252 narratives or non-public portion in ILeads, the complete identifying information should be documented to include full name, address, date of birth, telephone numbers, email address, and other pertinent information needed to follow up with the victim.

Report Writing Sexual Allegation Reports should be a general narrative which documents the events, it does not need to be specific and document all aspects of the report, and the Sexual Assault Detective shall document those facts in the ILeads System.

The reporting requirements for Sexual Assault Offense Reports shall remain the same.

For Sexual Assault Reports: the SAU Detective shall determine the classification, and the reporting member shall document the offense in the narrative the same as any other offense report, including pertinent elements outlining the facts of the criminal offense.

LESSON PLAN PRESENTATION GUIDE/TRAINER NOTES:

I. ANTICIPATORY SET

Discuss my background. Good morning my name is Ronald Reid; I am a supervisor of the sexual assault unit. I was a detective for seventeen years working in the sexual assault unit handled child and adult sexual assault cases. Denise Snyder, Executive Director DC Rape Crisis Center Based on our experience it gives me great pleasure to discuss this top of Neurobiological Impact of Trauma as Seen by First Responders with you today.

This presentation is intended to further the awareness and sensitivity of those who work with trauma survivors, particularly of sexual violence. Understanding the neurobiology of trauma will help participants become aware of what trauma is, how trauma affects the brain and central nervous system and how that affects victims in the short-term aftermath of a traumatic crime. With this understanding, interactions between first responders and victims can be more effective.

RAPE TRAUMA SYNDROME

Survivors of sexual assault often suffer physical and emotional reactions during the assault, immediately following it, and for a period of time thereafter.

The collection of reactions to the sexual assault, or “symptoms”, is referred to as Rape Trauma Syndrome. This syndrome consists of three phases. The first phase is the acute phase, occurring immediately following the attack. This phase is marked by extreme disorganization and disturbance. The chronic phase, occurring a few weeks to a few years following the attack and varying in duration, consists of a reorganization of the survivor's lifestyle. The integration and recovery phase follows reorganization as the survivor resolves their reactions to the assault and returns to a level of functioning similar to what they've experienced before the assault.

ACUTE STAGE – DISORGANIZATION

A. Initial reactions immediately following the assault

1. Expressed emotion

- Fear, anger and anxiety expressed through crying
- Sobbing
- Smiling
- Restlessness
- Tenseness

2. Controlled emotion

- Feelings are masked or hidden and a calm, subdued effect is shown

B. Physical reactions

2. Tension

- Headaches
- Fatigue
- Sleep disturbances – nightmares or difficulty falling asleep
- Startle reactions – edgy or jumpy

3. Eating Disturbance

- Loss of appetite
- Stomach pains
- Distorted food tastes

4. Symptoms specific to rape

- Vaginal discharge
- Soreness of mouth, lips, jaw, throat, loose teeth
- Rectal pain or bleeding

C. Emotional Reactions

1. Fear of physical violence

2. Denial

- Wanting to forget it ever happened
- Attempting to act “normal”
- Outwardly calm and unemotional; often used as a defense for protection or to give herself more time

3. Guilt, self blame, embarrassment – not always verbally expressed but sometimes exhibited by lack of eye contact, withdrawal, and reluctance to talk.

4. Anger – sometimes generalized anger that her life has been disrupted, sometimes directed towards self, police, all men, the counselor, etc.

CHRONIC STAGE – LONG-TERM PROCESS REORGANIZATION (2-6 weeks - to several years post assault)

A. Change in Lifestyle

- 1. Change in residence, especially if attacked at home
- 2. Change of phone number or other identifying information
- 3. Trips out of town, renewed contact with family, reaching out to friends or withdrawing

B. Nightmares

- 1. Reliving the experience, awakening frightened, feeling helpless
- 2. Flashbacks, body memories

C. Fear and Phobias – usually specific to the circumstances of rape

- 1. Fear of returning to the place of attack
- 2. Fear of being alone
- 3. Fear of being around others that may recognize her as a rape survivor
- 4. Fear and mistrust of men in general

D. Change in Sexual Activity

- 1. Survivors with regular sexual partners are often unable to resume regular sexual activity
- 2. Increased sexual activity, often to reaffirm the need to be desired
- 3. Sex may trigger flashbacks, panic and self-control
- 4. Partners may experience frustration, confusion and lack of sympathy for the survivor

E. Change in Social and Work Relationships

- 1. Survivors only trust close friends and find it difficult to relate to others
- 2. May resist small talk at work, feel left out, distracted, tense or tired
- 3. May have difficulty concentrating on work; may keep busy to avoid thinking about assault.

Integration & Recovery Stage- RETURN TO LEVEL OF FUNCTIONING SIMILAR TO EXPERIENCE BEFORE THE ASSAULT

A. During this stage, the survivor begins to:

- 1. Feel safe again and in control.
  - 2. Regain the ability to trust.
  - 3. Feel free from fear.
  - 4. Blame assailant, not self.
  - 5. Perceive self as normal.
  - 6. Express and resolve anger.
  - 7. Integrate the assault(s) into personal history.
  - 8. Find meaning or give meaning to the assault.

LESSON PLAN PRESENTATION GUIDE/TRAINER NOTES:

ANTICIPATORY SET

This presentation is intended to further the awareness of how members should respond and investigate a report of an actual or alleged sexually based criminal offense.

PERFORMANCE OBJECTIVES:

1. MPD's Guiding Principles of Sexual Assault Investigations
2. Familiarity with G.O. 304.6 (Sexual Assault Investigations)
3. Duties & Responsibilities of Crime Scene Management
4. Officials Responsibilities
5. Reporting Requirements

Instructional Objectives:

Processing a crime scene, the importance of an Evidence Collection Kit.
Organization Concerns. Communication Issues, i.e., Technician and Detective

Only essential personnel inside the scene area, Assign officer to Identify everyone.

Gather the pertinent facts (who, what, where, when). Consider coordination of response with other pertinent units or agencies. Need for a search warrant

INSTRUCTIONAL INPUT:

MPD's Fundamental Principles for all Sexual Assault Investigations

The Metropolitan Police Department is committed to three fundamental principles to support all sexual assault investigations.

- The treatment of the victim is the absolute most important aspect of the investigation.
- The goal of any criminal investigation is to find the truth. Arrests and prosecutions sometimes occur, but justice for all can only be achieved by determining the truth.
- The approach to criminal sexual assault investigations is constantly evolving.

The SAU is responsible for the primary and follow-up investigation of all sexual assaults that occur in the District of Columbia involving victims who are eighteen (18) or older at the time of the offense. This includes:

- Investigating incidents where the sexual assault is not the “primary” allegation/charge such as burglary where sexual assault also occurred.
- Robbery where the suspect groped the complainant in a sexual manner, not just searching them for property.
- All crimes that appear to have sexual overtones. For example, where there is inappropriate touching of the vaginal area, buttocks, breast, penis or inter-thigh.

Preliminary Investigation:

The preliminary or initial investigation of sexual assaults is the responsibility of the first responding member and this investigation is limited in scope to establishing whether or not a sexual assault may have occurred.

Members who arrive on the scene of an alleged sexual assault shall be responsible for the following duties as part of the preliminary investigation:

1. Ensure the scene is safe and secure the crime scene.
2. Render first aid and arrange for emergency medical treatment for complainant, if necessary.
3. If the suspect is not on scene, obtain the information needed to broadcast a lookout for the suspect, and voice that lookout as soon as possible.

Members must limit the scope of their questioning to determining if a sexual assault or an incident involving sexual overtones occurred. Only one member should interview the victim and no one, regardless of rank other than the SAU detective will re-interview the victim once it has been determined that a sexual based offense has occurred.

Under no circumstances will any member, regardless of rank, make judgmental statements or ask judgmental questions during the preliminary investigation. Some examples of these questions and statements are; How much have you been drinking? Why were you walking out here by yourself so late? What did you think would happen to you dressed like that?

Upon determining that a sexually based offense has occurred or an assault with sexual overtones, the member conducting the preliminary investigation shall, through the Dispatcher, request an official, who shall respond to the scene and an SAU detective, who will also respond to the scene.

When the official arrives on scene, they will assume control of the crime scene and take all reasonable steps to secure the crime scene and conduct a canvass for witnesses or other evidence. The official will also not re-interview the victim and shall ensure that other than the SAU detective, no one else tries to re-interview the victim.

The member shall remain on the scene until they confer with the assigned SAU detective and shall provide copies of any notes to the SAU detective.

Reporting Requirements:

All members must remember that once the preliminary investigation is complete, no one other than an SAU detective or the SAU Victim Specialist will make contact with the victim.

In all instances when an SAU detective responds an event report will be prepared in LEADS.

The SAU detective shall make a determination on whether to classify the report as a sexual assault offense report or sexual allegation incident report.

If SAU detective cannot confirm that a sexual assault occurred, the member will complete a sexual allegation report in LEADS. If this is the only classification, then the report will be prepared as an incident report.

Even though this is an incident report, the biographical information of the complainant should be reported in the same manner as sexual assaults, the report should only list the victim's age range instead of complete identifying information in the public area of the event report.

In the non-public narrative portion in LEADS, the complete identifying information must be documented. This includes the full name, address, date of birth, telephone numbers, email address, and other pertinent information needed to follow up with the victim.

The narrative for a Sexual Allegation or Sexual Assault report shall be a general narrative which documents the events. This narrative only has to establish the elements of the offense of the allegation and does not need to document the detailed specifics of the sexual assault. The report, regardless of classification must also document anything that might be important to the investigation including, but not limited to, any injuries to the victim, damage to clothes, and other observations that might be helpful to the investigation. The assigned SAU Detective is responsible for documenting the specific details of the assault in a Supplemental report in LEADS.

Medical Treatment of Victim(s):

If the victim(s) are suffering from life-threatening injuries, the injured person will be transported for care by the Fire and Emergency Medical Services (FEMS), according to their protocol.

If the victim requires emergency treatment for non-life threatening injuries, DC FEMS personnel will transport the victim to Washington Hospital Center. When practical and if the victim does not need immediate medical attention, ask DC FEMS for the victim to remain at the scene until the SAU detective arrives.

Generally, the SAU detective will transport the victim to Washington Hospital Center for examination by the Sexual Assault Nurse Examiner (SANE). Although at the victim's request, they may respond to another hospital for an examination.

Preservation of the Crime Scene

Members shall maintain control of the crime scene and preserve it for potential evidence. This is particularly important in sexual assault cases, as the criminal is in close contact with the physical surroundings sometimes in a forceful manner. Traces may be left in the form of clothing, shoe impressions, finger prints, blood stains, overturned furniture, disturbed articles in general, hair, condoms, semen, and saliva. This type of evidence can easily be lost, or tainted if the crime scene is not quickly and properly secured.

Therefore, it very important to prevent any member, regardless of rank, not directly involved in the investigation from entering the crime scene.

Within reason, try to discourage the victim from bathing, using the bathroom, drinking, changing clothes, washing, or smoking as the most important evidence in a sexual assault is the evidence that is recovered from the victim.

Evidence from Victim and Suspect:

The following should be collected as soon as possible from the victim and the suspect in all sexual assault cases:

If the victim is injured in the sexual assault, those injuries should be photographed as soon as possible and follow-up photographs after injuries have become more visible. These pictures are normally taken by the SANE Nurse, but can be taken by a SID Officer.

If the injuries are located on their breasts, buttock or genital area, the photographs should be taken in a place that affords the complainant privacy and whenever possible the photographs should be taken by a police officer of the same gender or an officer of the gender requested by the victim, such as for a Transgendered or male victim.

Physical Evidence collected from both the Victim and Suspect:

While these items are generally seized during a SANE Nurse examination, members should have a general familiarity with the types of evidence that is collected so they can be aware of any items on scene that might be significant, such as discarded clothing.

All clothing worn at the time of the assault, or that was put on immediately after the assault. Fingernail scrapings, pubic and head hair combings of both suspect and victim.

Blood and saliva samples will also be collected from both the victim and suspect. Although, a blood sample from the suspect will generally require a Blood Order to be issued by the court.

Evidence from Crime Scene:

If assault took place inside, such as in the victim or suspect's home:

Locate a point of entry and exit. Look for Pry marks and areas that may have been touched by the offender. Have SID Photograph the entire scene and look for broken glass or chipped paint from the location where entry was made.

If the assault took place on a bed, rug or sofa, items like sheets, pillowcases, blankets, or the rug should be preserved and collected by SID. If there is wall-to-wall carpet, SID will sweep the rug for trace evidences (if assaulted on floor) or sweepings if wall- to- wall carpeting involved.

Careful search of immediate area for items foreign to area such as buttons, pieces of torn cloth, etc., that may have been dropped or pulled from the suspect's clothing or body.

Any object that the suspect may have used or touched in some way and may have left blood, semen or saliva.

Search for foreign objects and Soil samples taken from scene and surrounding area. Search for foreign objects such as footprints, shoe impressions or tire marks

If Assault Took Place in an Automobile:

Have SID Sweep and vacuum seats and floors. Obtain seat covers, blankets, etc., that may be on seat. Check door handles, etc., for hairs that may have been caught and pulled from victim's head. Check ceiling for traveling blood. If trunk is used to transport victim, the same searches should be conducted in the trunk area.

Note: Please remember cigarette butts observed at any location may be crucial to your crime scene. Be aware of this type of evidence, especially on an outdoors scene, to take steps to avoid contaminating them so the SID Officer can recover them.

The mentioned items are only suggestions, and are not inclusive of all the potential evidence that might be present at crime scene, common sense should always prevail.

By complying with the policies and procedures of handling a sexual assault case, and following basic preliminary investigative procedures, you can help the SAU Detective investigate this very serious category of offenses. This investigation is the fundamental tool in achieving justice.

Non-Judgmental Interviewing: Working With Victims of Domestic Violence

What is non-judgmental interviewing?

- A victim/client-centered approach to understanding an abusive relationship or incident of domestic violence.
- Expressing judgment through comments or leading questions such as “Why have you not left him yet?” could make the victim feel like the interviewer is criticizing them or that the abuse was their fault, thus making fact collection difficult for both parties. “When providers try to persuade, shame, or blame people into change, they often evoke all of the individual’s reasons not to do it,” because it may mimic the role that the abuser has in their life.<sup>1</sup>
- Non-adversarial - A non-adversarial interviewing approach is vital to a successful interview in many situations. If the victim views the interviewer as someone who is “on their side” then they will typically be more willing to provide a complete picture of the situation.
- Trauma Informed – It is important, when interviewing victims, to understand that their ability to process information, facts or concepts may be affected by the physical and emotional (shock, terror, etc.) trauma that they are experiencing. Knowing this may change the tone and approach.

Best Practice Tips:

1. Ask open ended questions about the victim’s own opinion on the situation, goals for interaction with law enforcement/service providers, what they see as their options, fears they may have, etc. Eg. “Tell me more about the time that he/she hurt you.”
2. Avoid leading questions that imply your opinion on the situation. Instead of “How come you haven’t gotten a CPO?” try “Would you like more information about getting a protection order?” Understand that as the interviewer/service provider/law enforcement official, you do not know what the victim has been through or what they have had to do to survive in the abusive relationship. Therefore passing judgment is not only unproductive; it is limiting the result of the interview.
3. “Keep in mind that IPV occurs within the context of a relationship. Individuals in abusive relationships have control only over their own behaviors; they cannot control the behaviors of their partners, nor should they be encouraged to do so.”<sup>2</sup>
4. Reflect and affirm when appropriate. “It sounds like you have had a rough couple of days...It is brave of you to call 911 even when he/she threatened you if you did so.” Statements like this build rapport and can be effective tools in gaining the trust of the victim.

Non – Judgmental Interviewing Activity #1: What wrong with this questions?

For each statement/question have small groups identify:

- 1) What is wrong with this statement? What message might it convey to a victim whether the interviewer intended it that way or not?
- 2) What would be a more productive way of phrasing this question to obtain the same information?

After going through each statement please prepare brief remarks to bring back to the larger group.

[Insert statements here]

Non – Judgmental Interviewing Activity #2: Where are the barriers?

This activity needs seven participants. Have one person read the part of the victim and six people read the parts of the Law Enforcement personnel. After reading identify how each response from law enforcement could be a barrier for the victim.

1. Victim to 911 dispatcher: Hello 911? My boyfriend just left my house after choking me out saying that he is going to go get his gun and come back with it.

911 Dispatcher: He is no longer on the premises? Do you know where he is now? If not, the officer might not be able to help you.

2. Victim to officers on the scene: I am very scared because he choked me out and told me he was going to come back with a gun.

Responding officer: Well, what did you do to make him so angry? There must be a reason you two starting fighting. Ma'am it sounds like you and your boyfriend have a lot to work out. I don't know what's going on, or who's doing what, but someone has obviously made someone mad. If he comes back around tonight, you can call us, but unless he does something to you, we can't help you – you two need to work this out.

3. Victim reporting abuse where she defended herself: I did bite him, but it is because he had his arms around my neck! Why are you arresting me?

Officer: Ma'am calm down, we must investigate the entire scene. My partner picked him up just down the block and he is saying that you started the fight by biting him. He also says that he doesn't even own a gun. I believe that he strangled you, but if you bit him first, we may have to arrest both of you.

4. Victim to USAO Prosecutor: I am glad that they dropped my case but put him on papers. But why do I have to come testify? He said he would mess me up if I show up, and his family will come after me. And he definitely won't pay child support. I will not be able to stay in DC! I will have to quit my job!

USAO Prosecutor: Well, we have no other evidence to go further on. You're just going to have to take that risk. If you don't show up, there will be a bench warrant out for you. There is a stay away order out against you, so you will be fine.

5. Victim to Officer reporting violation: He came by my house and threatened me again not to testify. He came and banged on my door and almost broke the lock. They told me that I have a stay away order and that he cannot do this.

Responding Officer: I don't see a protection order in our records Ma'am, you must be confused. You need to go down to court and get a protection order before you can call us for stuff like this. I don't know why you didn't go get a protection order when this first happened. You know, this is just going to keep happening and happening if you keep going out with him.

6. Victim to Station Desk Officer: Hi, an officer said I needed to go get a protection order in order to keep my boyfriend away from me. I have a temporary order and need help serving it. I know he is coming home from work soon.

Station Desk Officer: There is no one here to help you with that right now. Just wait over there until someone is available.

Non-Judgmental Interviewing Activity #3: Interviewing Scenario

Split the group up into pairs and give each pair a script (below). [If you have too many people in a class to do this, you can do it with a group of 4...2 people aren't reading, they're observing and discussing with the group or reporting back]. One is of an officer and one is of a victim trying to talk to that officer. Have them read through the script with each other and then have them switch roles. They need to report back on the following to the group:

1. Were there any parts of reading the victim role that seemed uncomfortable? Why?
2. Were there parts of reading the office part that seemed off, not real, or made you uncomfortable? Why?
3. If you could change anything about the officer role or the victim role, what would it be? Would you word anything differently or approach the questions differently?

Scenario and Script

You answer a radio run for a simple assault in progress called in by the female party. When you arrive you see that the two parties have been in a physical altercation. One party, a 200 lbs. male in his thirties has visible scratch marks on his arms and the other, the 26 year old 160 lbs. female who called in and does not appear to have injuries, is crying the corner of the room. You separate the parties and begin interviewing C1...

Officer: Hello ma'am. Tell me what happened tonight.

Victim (sobbing): We were just hanging out and then he just hurt me. He always gets so mad when I do one little thing. I don't know what to do. I love him but when this stuff happens it really scares me. What should I do?!

Officer: What do you mean hurt you? Did he punch you? Hit you? Strangle you?

Victim (still sobbing): Yes!

Officer: Which one?

Victim: He does all of those things. I don't know what to do. I love him but...

Officer: Ma'am what happened tonight? You do not look hurt. He has scratches all over his arms. Did you do that?

Victim: I don't remember doing that (crying and confused)

Officer: What do you mean you don't remember? It just happened, they look fresh to me! You cannot tell me what he did to you and you are pretending not to remember scratching him. What am I supposed to think?

Victim: [crying and mumbling] I can't.... I can't do this to him.

Officer: Stop crying, I cannot understand you. How did he hurt you tonight? You have to tell me right now or there is nothing I can do for you. What is the point of calling the police if you are not going to tell me what happened?

Points that participants may hit on:

- The officer is using directive, leading questions.
- The officer is losing their patience and not taking into account the effect trauma may have had on the victim.
- The victim is having a hard time talking to the police and is very emotional.

Course Objectives

1. Identify MPD's Guiding Principles of Sexual Assault Investigations
2. Define the Duties & Responsibilities of members when responding to Sexual Assault investigations
3. Identify how to manage a sexual assault crime scene
4. Define the Duties & Responsibilities of Patrol Officials responding to Sexual Assault investigations
5. Identify the Reporting Requirements for Sexual Assault Investigations

ADULT SEXUAL ASSAULT INVESTIGATIONS

The Metropolitan Police Department is committed to three fundamental principles to support all sexual assault investigations:

- The treatment of the victim is the absolute most important aspect of the investigation.
- The goal of any criminal investigation is to find the truth. Arrests and prosecutions sometimes occur but justice for all can only be achieved by determining the truth.
- The approach to criminal sexual assault investigations is constantly evolving.

Sexual Assault Unit

The SAU is responsible for the primary and follow-up investigation of all sexual assaults that occur in the District of Columbia involving adult victims who are at least eighteen (18) years of age
This includes:

- Investigating incidents where the sexual assault is not the "primary" allegation/charge. Some examples are: A burglary where sexual assault occurred; Robbery where the suspect groped the complainant in a sexual manner (not searching them for property)
- For all crimes that appear to have sexual overtones, such as inappropriate touching of the genital area, buttocks, breasts.

General Order 304.06

- The preliminary, or initial investigation of sexual assaults, is the responsibility of the first responding member.
- This initial inquiry will be limited in nature to establish whether or not a sexual assault may have occurred.
- Do not question the victim in detail about the offense.

General Order 304.06

If the preliminary investigation into the reported offense indicates that a sexual assault may have occurred, the first responding member will immediately request Detectives from the Sexual Assault Unit (SAU) to respond.

Preliminary Investigation Responsibilities

Members who arrive on the scene of an alleged sexual assault shall be responsible for the following duties as part of the preliminary investigation:

- Secure the scene and ensure officer safety on the scene.
- Render first aid and arrange for emergency medical treatment to complainant as necessary.
- Broadcast a lookout for the suspect.

Preliminary Investigation Responsibilities

- When officers arrive on the scene, they will limit the preliminary investigation to the basic information required to prepare a field report and obtain the necessary information to determine that an offense occurred.
- Officers SHALL NOT make judgmental statements or ask judgmental questions such as: How much have you been drinking? Why were you walking out here by yourself so late?

Preliminary Scene Responsibilities

- When the officer determines that a sexual assault or an incident involving sexual overtones has likely occurred such as Indecent Exposure, the officer shall contact the OUC to have the on-duty SAU detective respond to the scene.
- The officer shall remain on the scene until they confer with the assigned SAU detective.
- All officers on the scene shall provide copies of any notes to the assigned SAU detective.

Medical Treatment of Complainant(s)

1. Cases involving life-threatening injuries will be handled by the Fire and Emergency Medical Services (FEMS), according to DCFEMS protocol.
2. If the victim requires emergency treatment, and the injuries are non-life threatening, DCFEMS personnel will transport the victim to Washington Hospital Center.
3. When practicable, and when the victim does not need immediate medical attention, request that the victim remain at the scene until the SAU detective arrives.

Hospital for Victims of Sexual Assaults

- The Washington Hospital Center administers the S.A.N.E. program.
- Victims may, upon their request, respond to another hospital for an examination.
- After completion of the preliminary investigation, further contact with the victim of a sex offense shall be made only by assigned detectives from the SAU or the SAU Victim Specialist.

Preservation of the Crime Scene

- Members shall maintain control of the crime scene and preserve it for all potential evidence.
- Prohibit any member not directly involved from entering the crime scene.
- Advise the victim that bathing, using the bathroom, drinking, changing clothes, washing, or smoking can contaminate or destroy evidence in the case.

Patrol Officials General Order 304.06

Patrol officers should not be called to the hospitals for walk-ins who report a sexual assault to hospital staff. A SAU member should be called to respond.

A Patrol official shall respond to all sexual assault related calls for service in the field. The patrol official shall:

- Take charge of the scene until relieved by the on-scene SAU detective, SAU supervisor, or higher-ranking official.
- Ensure preliminary interviews by patrol officers of the victim involve only the necessary facts for a look out and basic information, the in depth interview shall be conducted by the responding SAU Detectives.

Field Reports

- Members shall contact OUC and request that an on-duty SAU Detective respond to the scene for all alleged sexual assaults and assaults with sexual overtones.
- The SAU detective shall make a determination whether a sexual assault offense report or sexual allegation incident report shall be prepared.
- When a case is going to be handled by SAU, an SAU detective will prepare the appropriate event report.

Field Reports- Sexual Allegation

If investigation reveals that the elements of sexual abuse are not present at the time, a sexual allegation report shall be made. If the only classification is sexual allegation, it shall be documented as an incident report and reported in the following manner:

- The field report should only list initials of the victim(s) and an age range instead of complete identifying information.
- On the supplemental report the complete identifying information should be documented. This includes the full name, address, date of birth, telephone number(s), E-mail address, and other pertinent information that will be needed to follow up with the victim.

Report Writing Samples

Sexual Allegation Reports should be a general narrative which documents the events, it does not need to be specific and document all aspects of the event.

Sample Narrative:

C-1 reported facts and circumstances to MPD that contained sexual overtones. Based on this, the CID Sexual Assault Unit was paged and responded to the scene. Preliminary investigation reveals that this matter will be handled as a Sexual Allegation Case investigated by CID Detective (Name of Detective/Call Sign).

Report Writing

If a field report is required for another offense in addition to the sexual allegation, the sexual allegation shall be the secondary classification on the field report.

If the case will be handled by District Detective, the responding officer shall prepare the event report.

The narrative, in addition to documenting the offense, shall also include a general narrative to document the sexual allegation.

Report Writing

The reporting requirements for Sexual Assault Offense Reports shall remain the same.

For Sexual Assault Reports the SAU Detective shall determine the classification and prepare the event report.

The SAU Detective shall document the offense in the narrative the same as any other offense reported including pertinent facts outlining the facts of the criminal offense.

Sexual Assault Myths & Facts

Objectives

- Participants will explore and dispel commonly held myths about Sexual Violence.
- Participants will examine societal beliefs and stereotypes that perpetuate these myths.
- Participants will discuss the impact that upholding such myths can have on survivors of Sexual Assault.

Myth or Fact?

Rape is not a big deal.

MYTH

- Rape is a big deal. It is a crime of dominance and control using sex to express power and anger. Sex is between two consenting partners, while rape is an aggressive act using sex as a weapon. To be raped is to be violated and stripped of control and self-determination.

or young women.

MYTH

- Rapists attack infants, senior citizens and teens. They attack women, men, girls and boys.

#3

Rape only happens if you ask for it. Women who are provocative are the only victims of rape.

MYTH

- Women's behavior is irrelevant. The rapist chooses to rape and he is solely responsible for that choice. To act provocative or to wear sexy clothing does not mean you are asking to be raped. The attitudes behind this myth betray a double standard. According to this double standard, sexual feelings and expression are acceptable for men, but unacceptable for women.

Myth or Fact?

A woman cannot be raped if she keeps her legs crossed or keeps moving. No man alone can rape a woman.

MYTH

- One man alone can rape a woman and it is a common occurrence. A man may use physical violence, threats, manipulation, confusion or a weapon to force a woman to have sex with him.

Myth or Fact?

#5

Most rapes are interracial. Most rapes are committed by black men against white women or white men against black women.

MYTH

About 80-90% of all violent crimes against women are intra-racial; most rapists attack persons of the same race.

MYTH

77% of completed rapes are committed by someone who is known to the victim and 90% of children under the age of 12 know their assailants. A rapist may be a friend, family member, acquaintance, partner or caretaker.

Myth or Fact?

#7

Rapists are mostly psychotic men. You can identify a rapist by the way he looks.

MYTH

Most rapists are men with no obvious signs of mental illness. In study after study, researchers are unable to find any significant psychological difference between men who rape and men who do not rape.

Myth or Fact?

#8

Men rape because they need sex.

MYTH

Men do not rape because they need a sexual partner. Men rape in order to humiliate and dominate a woman. In fact, 75% of men who rape are either married or have regular sexual partners

Myth or Fact?

#9

Men who rape other men are gay.

MYTH

Rape is an act of control and domination, whether the chosen victim is male or female. Rape is not a sexual act and it does not relate to sexual orientation.

Myth or Fact?

#10

Most rapes are spontaneous. A man sees a woman and has to have her.

MYTH

Most rapes are planned. A man may watch a particular woman for a while and try to learn her daily routine. Many men also test women's reactions to hostile or sexual remarks to see if they can intimidate her.

Myth or Fact?

#11

It is impossible for a man to rape his wife.

MYTH

A husband can rape his wife and a boyfriend can rape his girlfriend. Even if a woman has had consensual sex with someone in the past, that person can rape her if he forces her to have sex when she does not want to.

Myth or Fact?

#12

Rape only happens if you are out on the street late at night.

MYTH

Rapes occurs at all times of the day and 6 out of 10 rape/sexual assault incidents occurred in the survivor's home or at the home of a friend, relative or neighbor.

Myth or Fact?

#13

Only men rape.

MYTH

In 2005, 2.2% of single-offender rapes/sexual assaults were perpetrated by females. 9.5% of multiple-offender rapes/sexual assaults were perpetrated by females.

Myth or Fact?

#14

In same sex relationships, if sexual assault occurs, the physically larger, more masculine or "butch" partner is usually the perpetrator.

MYTH

Sexual Assault is an act of domination and is always about power and control. This does not directly correlate to physical stature or gender expression. This assumption can prevent the survivor from being identified as such, and worse can have him/her treated as a perpetrator.

Myth or Fact?

#15

Sexual Assault does not happen

MYTH

Studies have shown that sexual assault occurs in LGBTQ relationships at the same rate as it does in heterosexual relationships. This assumption is often rooted in seeing same sex partners as equals and as such, this type of violence is minimized. Also, as LGBTQ individuals are often stereotyped as hypersexual, the myth is rooted in the belief that one would not have to sexually assault them as they are willing to participate sexually.

The Neurobiology of Trauma for First Responders

Melinda Coles, MSW
Director of Community Education
DC Rape Crisis Center

Detective Sergeant Ronald K. Reid
Metropolitan Police Department
Sexual Assault Unit

Objectives

First Responders are expected to gain:

- An understanding of the key elements that constitute trauma.
- An understanding of the neurobiological response to traumatic events, such as sexual assault or abuse.
- An increased awareness of how trauma impacts survivors' abilities to provide information to first responders as well as why survivors have widely varying responses to the trauma.

Examples of Traumatic Events :

- Terrorist Attack
- Natural Disasters

Examples of Traumatic Events :

- Street Violence
- Severe Accidents
- Physical or Sexual Violence

What Constitutes A Trauma?

Any incident perceived to be life threatening

Any incident that exceeds an individual's range of tolerance

TRAUMA

****Every person experiences trauma differently

Common Responses to Trauma

Hyper-arousal (fight)

Dissociation (flight – not necessarily physically)

Constriction (freeze)

Post-Traumatic Brain Response

The diagram illustrates the brain's response to trauma, divided into three main regions:

- Limbic - senses threat/fear and records emotion (represented by a diamond shape)
- Reptilian - Activates survival mode (represented by a rounded rectangle)
- Neocortex - By passed (represented by a diamond shape)

The central image shows a cross-section of the brain with these regions highlighted and labeled.

Rape Trauma Syndrome

- Type of PTSD
- Collection of responses to Sexual Assault
- Consists of Three Stages
  - I. ACUTE STAGE: Disorganization (immediately after assault)
  - II. CHRONIC STAGE: Reorganization (2-6 weeks to several years after assault)
  - III. INTEGRATION/RECOVERY STAGE: "New Normal" (Ongoing)

ACUTE STAGE: Disorganization

- A. Initial Reactions Immediately Following Assault
  1. Expressed Emotions

METROPOLITAN POLICE DEPARTMENT

---

The staff of the Metropolitan Police Academy develops, coordinates and delivers education and training programs that provide Department members with the knowledge and skills required to accomplish the mission of the Department.

Professional Development Training

The Professional Development Training (PDT) Program is designed to refresh and add to the knowledge and skills of MPD members. Summaries of the PDT curricula for Calendar Year 2014 are listed below.

In Calendar Year 2014 the Professional Development Training program was initiated on February 25, 2014 and ended December 16, 2014. A total of 3,725 members completed some form of training. The distance learning modules portion of the Professional Development Training program included 10 modules.

In calendar 2014 Professional Development Training was offered in a three -day 8 hour training session for Sergeants and Officers. Lieutenants and Captains received 2 day 8 hour training sessions. Detectives and Investigators conducted their own outside training. Inspectors and above, received rank specific training also. Members completed their Firearms Pistol Requalification on their own for both Phase I and Phase II. All ranks received ASP and CPR training as is required.

Firearms Re-Qualification Training

Sworn MPD members are required to successfully complete 8 hours of firearms re-qualification training bi-annually. This training re-familiarizes members with the MPD's use of force policy and procedures and gun safety. The cleaning and storage of firearms, as well as changes in the MPD's use of force policy, based on recent case law or internal amendments, are also discussed. Members are required to successfully complete simulated discretionary use of force exercises and a marksmanship test/course.

Starting in Phase I we incorporated a basic move and shoot course; we incorporated multiple targets with the emphasis on moving by locating cover and concealment; and judgment and target acquisition when discharging your weapon. In Phase II we did a "back to the basics" class focusing on basic firearms drills and skills.

PDT 2014 training [Sergeants and below] at MPA consisted of a three day cycle where each day was independent of the other. On Tuesday of every week each member was placed in a group, A, B or C. Above is the schedule for each group.

MPA also conducted Phase I and Phase II pistol requalification's which accounted for two days of training; Phase I was a continuation of the "move and shoot" concept-Phase II was a "back to the basics" instruction.

The curriculum for CPR/AED is provided by the American Heart Association which we teach directly from their manual.

The Investigative Services Bureau and the Internal Affairs Bureau conducted their Bureau training independently of the training described above.
