Enhancing Blue. DC Water continued implementing Enhancing Blue by utilizing a maturity model framework to evaluate business performance, establishing business unit strategies, and align team and individual goals with maturity standards. In FY17, the Facilities, Safety, and Wastewater Departments completed the Enhancing Blue Project using only in-house expertise. Under this maturity model assessment, each group identified all its business processes and mapped and assigned maturity levels and strategies to advance maturity over time. The maturity model assessment creates cross-functional engagement within Departments, aligns Department and staff performance goals, and can identify efficiencies and cost savings. This allows transparent management and benchmarking of every service for effectiveness and efficiency.

Leveraging Intellectual Capital. In FY 2017, consistent with DC Water's Strategic Plan, Blue Horizon 2020's objective to "Leverage innovation to develop alternative revenue sources," DC Water conducted exploratory efforts to commercialize innovations to its water and wastewater process and smart water systems such as sensors and analytics. For these efforts, funding requirements have included support assistance from third parties, and legal costs to review and develop contracts. In 2017, DC Water executed two commercial agreements for engineering support to assess upgrade options for wastewater treatment plants. DC Water also executed a joint licensing agreement with ARA Consult GmbH and a related sideletter agreement with the University of Innsbruck to jointly use and commercialize the parties' jointly developed intellectual properties. Together, the IPs result in an enhanced process under the well-known DEMON trademark, offering. DC Water has also collaborated on a smart drinking water fountain that has sensors to monitor water quality and flow levels in real time. The cost for that program was $50,000 for six fountains; four at DC Water locations, one at OCTO and one in Flint Michigan at the school district's administrative headquarters building.

15. What has the agency done to reduce agency energy use in FY 2017? DC Water developed and issued an Open Innovation RFI for the purpose of obtaining industry input for system wide energy partnership, joint innovation and business opportunities and received robust responses. DC Water will leverage the most promising options.

DC Water continued the construction of its new headquarters building which will be one of the most energy efficient office buildings in the region. One hundred percent of the storm water at the site will be captured in a large 30,000 gallon cistern and used for all toilet flushing and irrigation. An innovative heat recovery system will heat and cool the building, transferring energy to and from the sewage flowing through the pumping station. The new headquarters is expected to open sometime in May and staff will transition to the new building over the summer of 2018.

The majority of DC Water energy use is at the Blue Plains AWWT facility. We are continuously evaluating our processes for both improvements in environmental performance as well as energy efficiency improvements. One of those processes is the Secondary Biological Treatment Process which requires a large amount of air to provide the oxygen required by the microorganisms. This air is provided by 6 very large ‘Blowers’ which compress the air and discharge it into the Secondary Reactors. These six Blowers range in size of 1800 HP to 3000 HP. These Blowers are a significant portion of energy use at Blue Plains. In 2017 DC Water completed a project that included upgrades to this system which helped to increase the energy efficiency of the overall process. The Secondary Aeration System upgrades included: rehabilitation of the blowers, installation of a new diffuser system in all reactors lowering the diffuser depth to increase oxygen transfer efficiency and providing new air control valves and Dissolved Oxygen (DO) probes to properly control the amount of air fed to each pass of each reactor.

In DC Water’s East Side Pump Station an automatic controls Proportional-Integral-Derivation (PID) approach was implemented to replace existing proportional controls for pumps speed. The resulting benefit of these control modifications is reduced power usage as the number of pump starts/stops are decreased and pump speed is dynamically adjusted to rate of change based on the level in the wetwell. Similar to the above controls modifications, the new Poplar Point Pump Station will have PID controls as well as an initiative to further fine tune water pumping stations at Fort Reno and 16th & Alaska

Maintenance Services: Underspending includes maintenance contracts for calibration of system controllers and electrical power distribution equipment due to insourcing of some of the corrective and preventive maintenance work related to these activities.

Water Services: Overspending primarily in personnel services due to impact of the ratified union contract, other employee salary adjustments and overtime costs during the winter months for higher water main breaks.

Sewer Services: Underspending in personnel services costs due to vacancies, and non-personnel costs due to prior year adjustments for electricity and water usage costs.

Wastewater Treatment - Operations: Underspending mainly due to materialized savings from lower production and hauling costs of Class A biosolids from the Digesters, lower electricity costs due to onsite generation from the Combined Heat and Power (CHP) facility, and chemicals due to use of less expensive and safer chemicals, and lower unit price for major chemicals used in the wastewater treatment process.

Distribution and Conveyance Systems: Underspending primarily due to lower than anticipated spending in water purchases and various professional and maintenance contracts.

General Counsel: Overspending primarily for litigation costs and other legal contingencies.

Customer Services: Overspending primarily in rental costs due to early termination fee and additional office space for the lease of the 80 M St SE facility. The expiration date of the lease agreement was through October 2020 and negotiated for an early termination through December 2018 due to the anticipated relocation of the Customer Services team to the new headquarters.

Finance, Accounting and Budget: Underspending mainly in the areas of various professional services including rate consulting, bond counsel services, financial advisory services, contract staffing support, and accounting policies and procedures update.

Debt Service: Underspending is primarily due to lower than anticipated interest rates on existing debt and refinanced debt.

- $7.21 million carried over to the next fiscal year

The following items contributed to the surplus:

- Revenue receipts were higher at $617.0 million or 103.6 percent of the FY 2017 revised budget primarily due to higher revenue of $9.6 million for residential, non-residential and multifamily categories; higher Development Contractor water and sewer service fees and miscellaneous revenue as compared to revised budget.
- Operating expenditures were 95.6 percent of the budget due to lower spending in utilities, contractual services, supplies & chemicals and water purchases.
- The Debt Service was lower than budget primarily due to refinancing of the Authority's debt.

C. LAWS, AUDITS, AND STUDIES

26. Please identify any legislative requirements that the agency lacks sufficient resources to properly implement. There are no legislative requirements that DC Water lacks sufficient resources to properly implement.

27. Please identify any statutory or regulatory impediments to your agency's operations.

Water and Sewer Operations Amendment Act of 2002, effective October 1, 2002 (D.C. Law 14-190, § 3902; D.C. Official Code, § 34-2107 et seq.) prohibits DC Water from charging customers the costs for treating groundwater discharged from improved real property. This results in higher sewer rates for all rate payers to compensate for the lost revenue from the customers that receive free sewer treatment for their groundwater discharges. Revisions to this statute would authorize DC Water to charge for these costs and address equity, compliance and budget issues. DC Water would like to work with the Council to amend this legislation.

The Public Works Act, effective May 18, 1954 (68 Stat. 104, ch. 218; D.C. Official Code 2101 et seq.) sets a 30 day period within which a DC Water customer must pay their bill before they can be charged a 10% late fee. This provision was reasonable and effective when the District/DC Water rendered water and sewer bills on a quarterly basis. Since 2002, however, DC Water has employed the use of automatic meter reading meters and changed the billing period from quarterly to monthly, which is before the 30 day statutory payment period has elapsed. The current statutory payment period prohibits DC Water from including the late fees on the next bill creating customer confusion on the total amount that they owe. Pursuant to 15 DCMR 305, bills rendered by District Utility, Energy Supplier, or Telecommunications Service Providers must be paid within 20 days after the date their bills are rendered. Shortening the statutory bill payment period for water and sewer bills will improve the effectiveness of DC Water billing processes consistent with DC Water current metering system and other District Utilities. DC Water would like to work with the Council to amend this statute and related legislation

28. Please list all regulations for which the agency is responsible for oversight or implementation. Please list by chapter and subject heading, including the date of the most recent revision.

D. PROGRAM-SPECIFIC QUESTIONS

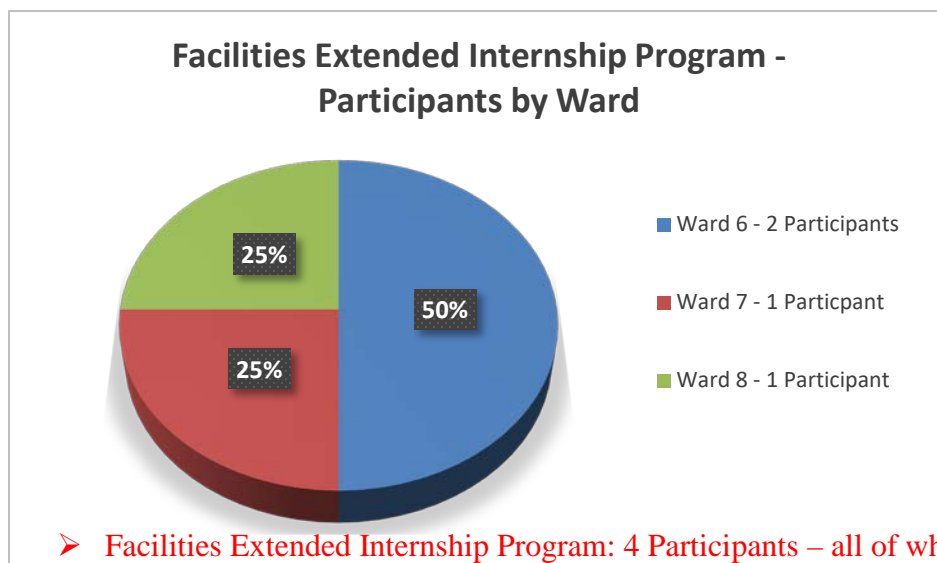

Human Resources and Customer Service

35. In its FY 2016 Performance Oversight Pre-Hearing Questionnaire, DC Water reported that it had been unable to finalize a successor Master Agreement on Compensation with the unions. Has DC Water finalized this Agreement since that report? Yes, DC Water and the five locals (AFGE 632, AFGE 872, AFGE 2553, NAGE R3-06, and AFSCME 2091) collectively signed and ratified the Master Agreement on Compensation on July 6, 2017. The current contract runs through September 30, 2019 and both parties will begin preparing for negotiations towards the end of 2018.
36. Please describe how DC Water has worked to increase its hiring of District residents during FY 2017. How many graduates of the DC Water Works program have been hired by DC Water? As part of DC Water's Strategic Initiatives, the DC WaterWorks program was designed to encourage and support the development and employment of District and local residents as employees on DC Water construction and service projects. In FY 17, DC Water contractors filled 125 job vacancies through the DC Water Works Program. Of the vacancies, 74 (60%) were filled by District residents.

Included in this number were District residents who participated in the DC Water Skills Training programs. In FY 2017, DC Water conducted three different programs as follows:

- Commercial Driver's License Program: 10 Graduates of the program – all of whom were employed by DC Water Contractors

- Facilities Extended Internship Program: 4 Participants – all of whom worked with DC Water's Department of Facilities for the year.

- Green Infrastructure Certification Program – 16 Graduates – 7 of whom were employed by DC Water Contractors. Another 8 were employed with other contractors. Please see tab 15 and 16

How many graduates have found other employment opportunities? Specifically of the skills training programs, twenty-nine (29) of the thirty (30) graduates were employed either with DC Water contractors, federal government, non-profit or other private sector employers (96% placement rate). As an aside, the 30th graduate obtained employment in the first quarter of FY 2018.

Employers who have hired skills training program graduates from the Water Works Programs include: Anchor Construction; Bread for the City; Bulldog Construction; Centerra Group; Constituent Services Worldwide; DC Line; Environmental Quality Resources LLC; Fleet Pro; General Services Administration (GSA); K Neal Trucking Monumental Concrete; OAW Trucking; Parts Authority; and Washington Parks and People.

What percentage of DC Water contracts were awarded to certified business enterprises in FY 2017? Pursuant to its Procurement Regulations, for projects not funded by federal grants, DC Water employs every reasonable effort to ensure that certified small businesses principally located in the DC Water User Jurisdiction (the District of Columbia, Prince George's County, Montgomery County, Fairfax County and Loudoun County) are afforded full and equitable opportunities to participate as vendors, prime contractors, subcontractors and joint ventures for goods and services, and construction contracts funded by the District of Columbia and the user jurisdictions.

In Fiscal Year 2017, DC Water awarded 66 new (non-federal) awards valued at $66.5M. Of this, certified local small businesses were awarded $35.5M (53.5%) in contracts and subcontracts, including $31.4M in awards specifically to Certified Business Enterprises (47.3%).

37. Please describe the status of the construction of DC Water's Administrative Headquarters Building. When is the project scheduled to be completed? Is the project on budget to spend $55 million in hard construction costs, as reported in the FY 2016 Performance Oversight Questionnaire

The DC Water Administrative Headquarters Building (HQO) is nearing completion along the Anacostia River. The building itself is fully constructed. We are now putting the finishing touches to the exterior skin and continuing the work inside on mechanical and plumbing systems. As we described last year, the budget did increase from the original 2013 estimate of $55M to $60M for hard construction costs after the design was finalized. This increase was well within the rate of inflation, and allowed us to include a raised floor for all data/electrical needs as well as the modular wall system that will allow DC Water to grow and be flexible regarding space management in the future. DC Water intends to move personnel into HQO over the summer of 2018, with our first public Board meeting scheduled to take place on September 6, 2018.

Background/Rationale

In 2012 DC Water started updating the 2010 Non-Process Facilities Master Plan (NPFMP), incorporating new information related to historic preservation and green building compliance. This update also analyzed existing space needs and pressures at Blue Plains. It quickly became apparent that preserving space at the Blue Plains campus for safe and efficient operations, as well as maximizing opportunities for future innovations and process requirements, was critical.

Another key driver was the need to eliminate the amount of leased office space DC Water was occupying and reduce exposure to increasing rents for office space in DC. The result was a new NPFMP, approved by the Board in 2013, that reallocated money from existing projects into the new Headquarters Administrative Building at O Street and strategic deployment of our operations across the District. Principles aligned with the Board's Blue Horizon 2020 Strategic Plan that directed:

- Optimize operational efficiency and the best use of DC Water land and facilities.
- Reduction of Risk at our facilities by maximizing flexibility for future treatment needs, distribution system operations and innovative opportunities.
- Promote Financial Viability, by planning with a 50-year outlook not just 10 or 20 years
- World-Class Utility - the safest, most sustainable & efficient WWTP in the World.

DC Water has taken advantage of this headquarters project to increase the resiliency of our Main & O campus by building HQO above the 500-year floodplain and incorporating over $1 million in FEMA Pre-Disaster Mitigation grant funding for floodproofing the historic Main Pump Station into the project. Additional unique features included in the construction are:

- Deep pile foundations in an area with excavation restrictions
- Extensive structural bridging
- Demolition over/around active sewer infrastructure
- Construction over/around active sewer infrastructure

Modifications to the HQO Construction Budget

Original Budget:	Current	2016 Revised Budget based on GMP
• Hard Cost: Design	$ 5,000,000	$ 4,149,620 (actual costs to date)
Building Construction	$50,000,000	$55,392,311 (now includes raised access floor w/electric and data)
Furniture/Fixtures/Equipment	$ 5,000,000	$5,500,000 (now includes modular walls)
• Total Hard Cost	$60,000,000	$65,041,931
• Owner Contingency / Soft Costs	$10,600,000	$10,600,000
	$71,100,000	$75,641,931

Budget Increase $4,541,931

($428,000 less than inflation, and HQO includes more features and flexibility!)

Clean Rivers Project

38. Please provide an update on the progress of the Clean Rivers Project, including:

- For each component of the Project, including Tunnel development and Green Infrastructure installation:
 - A description.
 - The amount of capital funds available.
 - A status report, including a timeframe for completion.
 - Planned remaining spending each year until completion in 2032.
 - The expected maintenance costs for the tunnels and infrastructure per year after 2032, once the projects are complete.

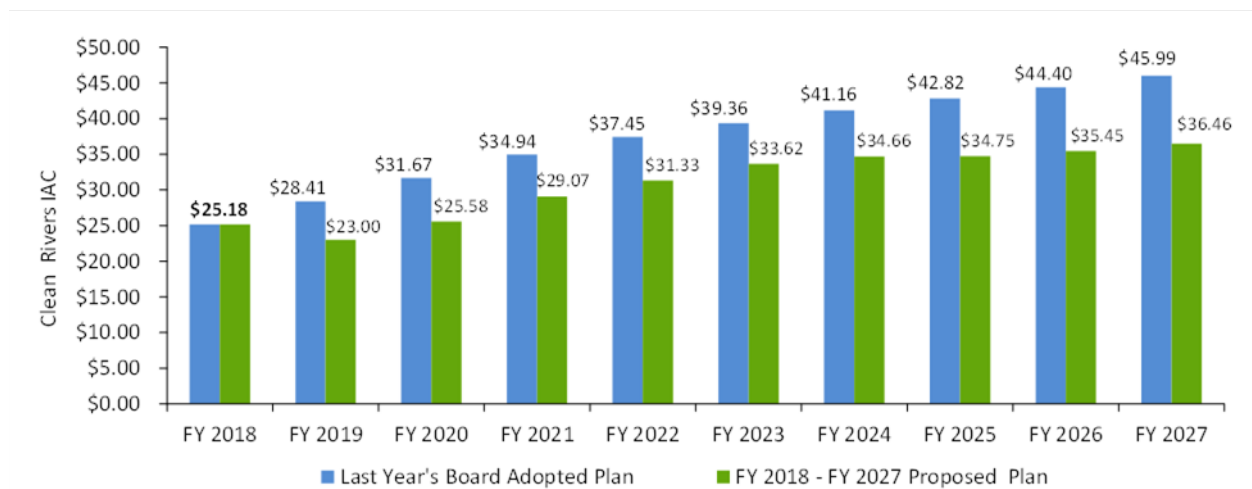

Please describe how DC Water is funding the Clean Rivers Project, including what bonds, loans, grants, and other funding are being drawn from to pay for the project each year. How much of ratepayers' CRIACs are going towards debt service and interest vs. directly into the Project? The Clean Rivers project is funded by the following sources (Green Bonds):

- Series 2014A = $350 million
- Series 2015A = $100 million
- Series 2017A = $100 million
- Series 2016B (Environmental Impact Bond) = $25 million
- Prior to 2013, Clean Rivers was funded as part of debt issued for capital projects.

- (1) The project is also funded by Federal CSO Grants. In FY2017 DC Water received $14 million. However, it is not certain if DC Water will receive any Federal CSO Grants funding in the future.
- (2) As per the Inter-municipal Agreement (IMA), the Wholesale customers contribute approximately 7.1 percent of eligible project costs.
- (3) Approximately 70% of ratepayers' CRIACs are going toward debt service and interest and 30% directly to the project.

39. Please provide the projected CRIAC per ERU that ratepayers will be charged in FY 2019 and future fiscal years for which DC Water has projections.

- Please describe DC Water's efforts to decrease these rising charges for ratepayers.

The chart above shows the CRIAC charges for FY 2018-FY 2027 Proposed Plan vs Last Year's Board Adopted Plan. It can be seen that the proposed CRIAC charges are much lower than the last year's plan. In every three years DC Water undertakes cost of service study in order to charge actual cost of service for Clean Rivers Impervious Area Charge. In addition, effective from May 1, 2017 (FY 2017), DC Water provided 50% CRIAC discount to low-income CAP customers.

In the triennial cost of service studies for the Water and Sewer rates and the Clean Rivers Impervious Area Charge to update actual and projected expenditures to ensure that these charges are appropriately recovering costs. DC Water has taken several actions over the last several years to lower CRIAC costs, including 100 year (Century bonds, where debt service is paid back over 100 years), refinancing older debt for savings, and structuring debt so that relief is provided to today's customers. These savings are now reflected in the projected charges.

40. Please explain the discrepancy between DOEE's and DC Water's estimates of the number of ERUs in the District Right-of-Way that are exempt from the CRIAC. DOEE estimates that it is 267,464 ERUs while DC Water estimates that it is between 102,500-123,000 ERUs. What is the correct number?

There may have been some confusion in the response DC Water provided back in November related to the amount of impervious area in the public right of way (ROW). Since the ROW is currently exempt from billing, we have not done a detailed plot analysis to determine the exact number of ERUs in the ROW for those areas controlled by the District government and the presumably small percentage that would be assigned to the federal government. This is a significant initiative that would take approximately two months to complete; something we intend to do with the next flyover data should a decision be made to bill all impervious area cover in the District. However, our analysis of the amount of impervious cover mapped out in GIS for every lot in the District compared to the remaining impervious area cover that is mostly in the ROW determined that there is approximately 274,000,000 square feet of impervious area cover in the public ROW. Since an ERU is equivalent to 1,000 square feet this value translate to 274,000 ERUs which is about 2.3% more than DDOE's estimate. Keep in mind that every blank space is not exactly divisible by 1,000 sq. ft. so the estimates by both agencies are within an acceptable margin of error.

41. In November 2017, DC Water reported to the Committee in its Pre-Hearing Questionnaire that DC Water could not determine how many non-profit organizations (including religious organizations) are paying CRIAC fees in excess of $5,000, $10,000, or $15,000. However, DC Water said that it was rolling out a new Customer Information Service (ECIS) system that would enable it to identify this information. Can DC Water provide that information this year? If not, when will the ECIS be fully operational?

The challenge in making this identification is not necessarily related to our customer information system. The challenge involves determination of the legal customer of record. In the District of Columbia, the property owner is the legal entity responsible for paying the water and sewer charges. DC Water will accommodate any tenant/landlord arrangement that is brought to our attention with regards to the water and sewer bill as a third party arrangement; however, the entity responsible for payment defaults to the property owner should the tenant not uphold its lease agreement or fail to pay. When we update the new customer information system later this summer with data for non-residential customers, the employer identification numbers (EIN) will default to the property owners EIN and not a tenant or leaseholder who may be a non-profit entity. For example, a non-profit may be leasing space from a separate entity and our system would default to that entity and not the non-profit if they are not one and the same.

We performed a preliminary analysis of all accounts charged over $5,000 per month in CRIAC. A total of 196 accounts met this threshold with 107 being federal or municipal accounts that are technically non profits. If we exclude these categories there are at least 17 non profits paying over $5,000 per month in CRIAC. In order to be billed this high, a customer would have to have at least 198.5 ERUs based on the current rate of $25.18. The spread between $5,000 and $15,000 for these 15 accounts is:

Colleges:	1 - > $10,000
	6 - > $15,000

Cemeteries: 1 - > $10,000
 2- > $15,000
 Other Non-Profits 7 > $5,00070

The other category is churches, high school, hospitalThis list is based on imperfect data since our systems do not break out non-residential account classifications based on non-profit status.

Water Rates

- Please provide an update on DC Water's Customer Affordability Programs.
- How many customers has the Customer Assistance Program (CAP) assisted and how much money has the program given out? Since FY2001 customers have received discounts totaling $11,340,928 under CAP averaging 5,024 customers and $708,808 in assistance annually. DOEE assists eligible low-income District households with energy costs associated with heating and cooling through the Low Income Home Energy Assistance Program (LIHEAP). DOEE also qualifies DC Water customers provided they receive a bill. Every DC Water customer that DOEE certifies to us under LIHEAP receives CAP. The reason DC Water has a lower percentage of customer on CAP compared to Pepco for example is because tenants in subsidized housing typically do not receive a water bill. The income guidelines for FY 2018 are:

	Household Size	Maximum Annual Income
1	$30,142
2	$39,416
3	$48,681
4	$57,965
5	$67,239
6	$76,514
7	$78,253
8	$79,992

- How many customers received the 100% credit for the Water System Replacement Fee in FY 2017 and FY 2018, to date? 4,244 customer accounts received the WSRF credit in FY 2017 and 2,906 customer accounts have received the credit so far in FY 2018.

How many customers has the SPLASH program assisted and how much money has the program given out? The SPLASH program was implemented in 2002 to help families in sudden need avoid termination of critical water and sewer services. The program is administered by the Greater Washington Urban League. Every dollar received by DC Water is distributed to eligible customers.

- Since its inception, SPASH donations have resulted in $1,261,526 in assistance to needy families averaging 273 families and $84,102 annually.
- Has DC Water created any new programs to help low-income consumers pay their water bills and prevent disconnection in FY 2017 or FY 2018 to date?
 - In FY 2017, CAP assisted over 4,244 customers and provided $810,295.

□ In FY 2017, DC Water assisted 4,244 customers and provided $195,328.13 WSRF credits. In FY 2018 (October & November) DC Water assisted 3,042 customers and provided $9,128.18 WSRF credits.

□ In FY 2017, SPLASH assisted 331 households and provided $103,283 in contributions to low-income customers.

□ For low-income CAP customers, the CAP discount was expanded from May 1, 2017 to include a 50% discount on the Clean Rivers Impervious Surface Area Charge (CRIAC).

42. Please describe how the Blue Drop program raises revenue to provide customers with relief from rising rates, fees, and charges. How much has been raised since Blue Drop was created and how have those funds been spent?

Blue Drop, LLC generates revenue by selling goods and services. Revenue generated in excess of expenses will flow back to DC Water to relieve the burden on ratepayers. One of Blue Drop's activities is the sale of Bloom, DC Water's Class A biosolids soil amendment.

DC Water uses thermal hydrolysis and anaerobic digestion to generate clean energy, produce Class A biosolids and reduce the overall quantity of biosolids that require handling. The DC Water Board opted to build the digesters -- an elective capital expense -- to address regulatory uncertainty surrounding the Class B biosolids previously generated at Blue Plains. DC Water's economic model included the cost savings from energy and reduced volume before Bloom was a product and Blue Drop was a company.

In Fiscal Year 2017 (ended September 30, 2017), Blue Drop revenues as reported in the audited financial statements are:

Bloom-Net of Cost of Sales (5,011)

Consulting 127,755

Marketing Fees 30,810

This revenue remains in Blue Drop. Also during FY 2017, Blue Drop marketed and sold 7,806 tons of Bloom. As a result, DC Water ratepayers saved a total of $254,511 from avoided biosolids hauling costs.

When will DC Water schedule its public meetings to discuss future rate increases? Where can residents learn about the dates and locations of these meetings?

- Tuesday, March 27-Ward 2 Town Hall
- Thursday, March 29-Ward 1 Town Hall
- Tuesday, April 3-Ward 3 Town Hall

Infrastructure and Drinking Water Improvements

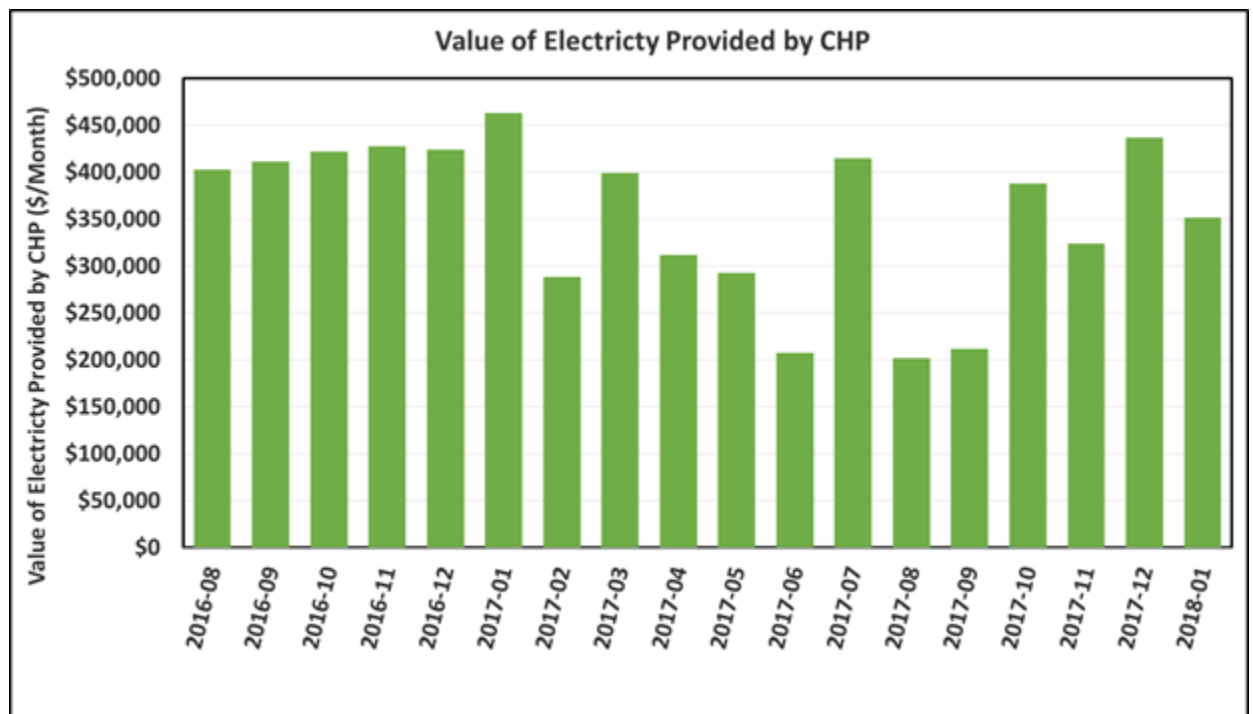

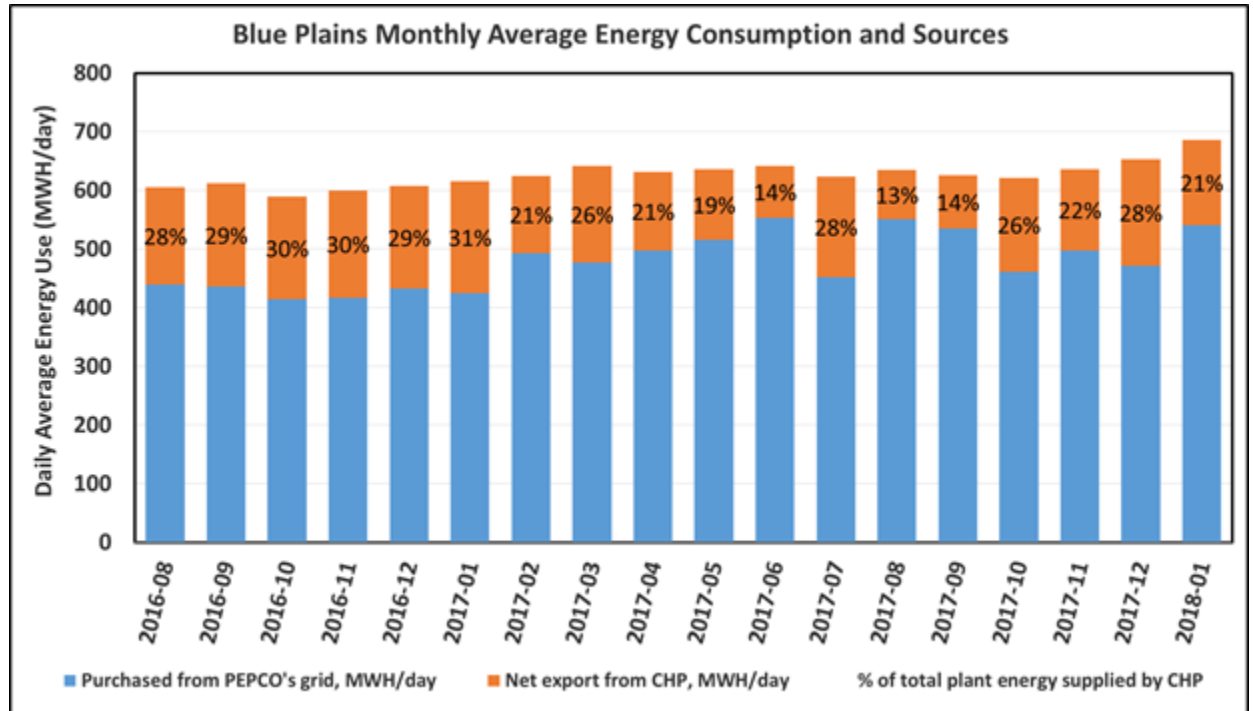

43. Please describe the status of DC Water's Thermal Hydrolysis and Anaerobic Digester Project, including:

- The status of the study being conducted by DC Water and DPW regarding the feasibility of the digesters accepting food waste and other organic waste from the District. DC Water is working with the DPW consultants to complete their study of the feasibility of bringing food slurry to Blue Plains for digestion. We collaborated to produce model runs from the economic /environmental co-digestion model DC Water developed last year. The model is quite comprehensive and includes all operational costs and benefits. It may be the most comprehensive codigestion model in the industry because it takes into account the cost to treat additional ammonia nitrogen that comes in with the food and returns to the plant via filtrate.
- In discussing the goals of the project, DC Water made it clear that we could not justify added capital expenses for a receiving station for a monetary break-even proposition. In order to secure additional capital funds, we would have to produce a business model showing revenue generated beyond costs. For the sake of the model we assumed that DC Water would have to see a minimum of $500K added revenue annually from this project. Revenues and savings come from additional power produced, Tier 1 RECs, and tip fee. Costs included additional maintenance, capital recovery, treatment of the additional byproducts.
- While the report is not yet complete, the model shows that these assumptions require a tip fee for the material in the range of what is considered to be the industry norm. What still needs to be determined is if there is a third party involved who will convert the food waste into a slurry suitable for introduction to the digesters. As noted in previous responses, the Authority has decided to delay introduction of any outside organic wastes to the thermal hydrolysis and digestion systems until such time the capacity and operational parameters are very well understood and established. In addition the impact of new processes, such as the new Wet Weather Treatment Facility on the performance of both the thermal hydrolysis and digestion processes have to be observed before introducing external organic wastes. This period of process optimization is expected to take up to 24 months. There continue to be some challenges in this technical process, including foaming and formation of vivianite residuals that we are working diligently to resolve and control. In addition, the digester heat exchangers have to be replaced to improve reliability of the Anaerobic Digesters. This is a biological system with complex equipment and controls that require time to establish process and equipment reliability, before we commit to receiving external organic wastes.
- The amount of energy the digesters are currently generating, the proportion of DC Water's energy use now generated by the digesters, and any plans to expand the Digester Project to create more energy in the future.

Please see below a graph showing the power generation from the digesters and the CHP turbines, and a second graph showing the value of the power. Aside from the investigation into codigestion (described above) there are no plans to expand the digester project for the purposes of generating additional gas or electricity.

- The amount of revenue generated in FY 2017 and FY 2018, to date, by the sale of Class A biosolids produced by the digesters? RESPONSE: We set a goal for sale of Bloom in 2017 at 9000 tons, and we nearly met this goal (8600 sold). The financial benefits include revenue from sales (~$30,000) and savings over our contract hauling options ($387,000). This was our first full year of attempted marketing, and we moved this quantity into the market in DC and MD. Until recently we were negotiating our distribution and marketing permit in VA - we received the permit last week on February 2nd, so we will be able to focus some of our efforts there in 2018. Our 2018 goal is 20,000 tons, which would represent ~$70,000 in revenue and $900,000 in savings. To date we have sold about 400 tons in 2018, a good start to the year with winter sales.

- How does DC Water ensure that the biosolids are free of metals and other toxic materials that could be harmful to users? In order to recycle our biosolids, we are required by EPA to have an industrial pre-treatment program, designed to permit and police industrial dischargers. We have inspectors that go out and sample (sometimes unannounced) to ensure that dischargers are not violating their limits. If we find a discharger in violation, we initiate enforcement action to bring the discharger back into compliance, and have legal authority to revoke a permit, levy a fine, or cap the sewers, if necessary. So, they take the responsibility very seriously, and we have very low levels of metals in our Bloom. For each of the metals EPA monitors, we are an order of magnitude below the limits they set. The concentrations are very low. Of course, toxicity has to do with concentration, and not the mere presence of the metals. To illustrate this point, please consider that of the 10 metals regulated by the EPA 503 rule (for biosolids use), 6 are contained in Centrum vitamins at concentrations required for healthy human living. The concentrations are in some cases comparable to that in Bloom. Take Selenium for instance – one would have to eat over 100 pounds Bloom in a year in order to get what the recommended daily amount (RDA). Forget about toxicity – this is what the body needs for healthy living.

44. Please describe the status of the fire hydrant inspection and maintenance program, including:

- The current number of known mechanically defective hydrants in the District. Is DC Water currently meeting its goal of having less than 1% of fire hydrants out of service? As of February 1, 2018, there are 9,547 Public Fire Hydrants of which 9,509 are in service; where 38 are out of service (19 defective requiring repair/replacement and 19 out of service due to inaccessibility or temporary construction work).
- Yes, as of February 1, 2018 the percentage of out of service fire hydrants requiring repair or replacement is 0.20%.
- The number of hydrants replaced in the District in FY 2017. 310 hydrants were replaced by DC Water crews in FY 2017 in conjunction with our hydrant replacement program. All 310 hydrant replacements under this program were installed by DC Water crews.

45. Please provide a status update on all ongoing Sewer Rehabilitation projects, including:

- A description.
- The amount of capital funds allotted.
- A status report, including a timeframe for completion.
- Planned remaining spending on each of these projects

- A list of projects to begin in FY 2018 and FY 2019, including expected costs and completion dates. Please see Tab 13

46. Please describe DC Water's progress with water system upgrades during FY 2017 and FY 2018, to date.

- Please provide a chart of how many small and large water mains have been renewed/rehabilitated in FY 2016, FY 2017, and the projected number to be renewed/rehabilitated in FY 2018.

What drinking water pumping stations were upgraded in FY 2017 and which will be upgraded in FY 2018? The water system upgrades for DC Water are broken down into five primary categories: water pumping stations; water storage facilities; large water mains; small water mains; and services/metering.

For water pumping stations: FY2017 is considered the end of a 20 program to upgrade the four DC Water pumping facilities. Future capital projects for pumping stations will depend upon needs identified.

For water storage upgrades:

- four facilities are completely upgraded;
- one major upgrade is scheduled to start construction in FY2018;
- two facilities needing minor upgrades are scheduled within four years; and
- St. Elizabeth's tank, a brand new facility, is under construction, to be completed in FY2018.

For large diameter water mains, starting in FY2017 the pipeline condition assessment program is being run through dedicated contracts. Prior condition assessments have led to pipeline rehabilitation projects, three of which are under design, and several other segments in various stages of project planning.

Small diameter water main metrics are presented in the table below. Short term challenges to meeting the 1% replacement goal will continue due to funding constraints. Longer term budgeting has been established to meet the 1% goal.

The water service lines are predominantly replaced together with small diameter water main renewal projects. The program to replace lead service lines is adequately funded to meet the requirements of previous Board directives. The meter replacement program is progressing, though tracked separately from the water system CIP.

Miles of Water Mains Renewed/Rehabilitated

	FY2016	FY2017	FY2018 (projected)	3 –year Average
Small Diameter Water Mains Renewed (Capital Program)	8.3	3.6	9.3	7.1
Large Water Mains Rehabilitated	1.9	0.1	0.2	0.7

Fort Reno PS upgrades were finished in FY2017. No additional significant upgrades are scheduled in 2018 because Bryant Street PS was upgraded in 2004, Anacostia PS was completely rebuilt in 2008, and 16th & Alaska PS upgraded in 2016. Minor rehabilitation needs are funded in future years.

47. Please describe DC Water's role in the Cleveland Park Drainage and Streetscape Project. How is DC Water working with DDOT on this project?

Generally, how is DC Water keeping track of development in the District and ensuring that infrastructure is improved to meet the demands of this new development? This project is being coordinated through the standard DDOT and DC Water coordination meetings. As of now, it is exclusively a storm drain improvement project, as neither significant renewal of either water mains nor sewer system is planned.

To date DC Water has:

- Provided all available as-built drawings to DDOT;
- Cleaned out all the catch basins in the project area so that DDOT surveyors could obtain the invert and other important field information required for the hydraulic study;
- Reviewed and commented on 30 and 60 percent design submittals; and
- Continued to participate in the bi-weekly Cleveland Park coordination conference calls.

Development projects are coordinated through the Permit Operations Department which functions together with DCRA permitting.

Standard building connections to the water and sewer system are handled per new services policies. Larger development is coordinated with DETS to ensure system adequacy and other potential requirements for infrastructure renewal that need to be imposed before private development is approved.

If developments require renewal of water or/and sewer mains, developers have two options:

1. Wait for DC Water to replace/rehab water or sewer mains via the DC Water Capital Improvement Program; or
2. Developers may opt to complete any required improvements themselves.

48. In its response to the Committee's FY 2016 Performance Oversight Questions, DC Water reported that it had experienced setbacks in replacing small diameter water mains in the system in FY 2016 and FY 2017, but projected that it would make up for this delay in FY 2018. Will DC Water make up for the setbacks in FY 2018 so that over the 3 fiscal years, it will have replaced on average 1% each year? The previous setbacks are being resolved. But separately, as a result of budget constraints for FY2018, several projects are currently being delayed. The end result is that FY2018 projects will not make up enough miles for a three year running average of 1% renewal.

49. Please provide an update on the Pressure Reducing Valve projects. How many valves in each Ward have been replaced thus far and how many still need to be replaced? When does DC Water project that this project will be completed?

What homes were eligible for the free PRVs provided by DC Water? The Committee heard reports that certain condominiums and townhome developments were told they were not eligible for the free valves. Was that DC Water's eligibility policy and if so, why? For the 4th High West Pressure Zone project (portions of Wards 3 and 4), a total of 427 PRVs were installed out of a total of 747 eligible customers. For the Anacostia 2nd High Pressure Zone project (Portions of Ward 8), there are 1,763 eligible customers. To date, 1,050 customers have signed up for the program and 568 PRVs have been installed. Note that for both projects, these are not replacement valves, these are new valves for premises that don't currently have a PRV.

For the 4th High West Pressure Zone project, the last PRV installations were completed in October 2017. The pressure increase occurred in November 2017. That project is complete. For the Anacostia 2nd High Pressure Zone project, it is anticipated that PRV installations will be completed by the end of April. The deadline for customers to sign up for the free PRV program is March 1st.

The DC Water free PRV program is for residential customers. Condominiums and other similar buildings that are classified as commercial or multi-family properties are not eligible for the free program. These type of properties often have plumbing configurations which make prv installation difficult and/or very expensive compared to residential installations. Additionally, some have larger service sizes and may have onsite pumping arrangements. However, DC Water has provided information on the upcoming pressure increase to the property owners for multifamily and commercial properties so that they can take appropriate steps prior to the pressure increase.

50. Please provide an update on the Water Meter Rehabilitation Project. How many water meters has DC Water replaced, to date, and how many more need to be replaced? When does DC Water project that this project will be completed?

Through February 16, 61,256 residential meters have been replaced under this program. There are approximately 27,000 remaining meters to be installed and we expect to be completed by the end of the summer.

- To date, how many billing inquiries has DC Water received associated with the meter exchange, and how many of those have led to DC Water adjusting a customer's bill?

DC Water has been reading meters both manually and electronically at a 94% actual read rate per month so we would not expect many billing adjustments resulting from the replacement project since only 6% of the meters are being estimated monthly on average. See chart below:

Overall Inquiry Breakdown - Various Wards As of 11/28/2017
Generic Inquiry (AMR)	66
Billing	56

- How many District residents have been charged retroactively to correct calculation errors by the old water meters? How much, on average, have these residents been charged? The Committee asked this question in Pre-Hearing Questions in November 2017 but did not receive a sufficient response.

At the November Hearing we attempted to clarify the billing process that resulted in a number of high bill complaints last year when the replacement project first started. The problems last year were related to excessive estimated meter readings and not calculation errors by the old water meters. There are two components to our electronic meter reading system at a customer's home. The meter registers continuously and the meter transmitting unit transmits the reading on the meter register to our central office. The meter does not require power; however the transmitting unit that sends the reading electronically is battery powered much like a cell phone. Unfortunately the batteries started failing in over 30,000 transmitting units requiring DC Water staff to manually read the meters. We were not set up to handle this volume so many customers usage was estimated based on their monthly historical consumption. Unfortunately, a problem surfaced last year with multiple months of estimates. If the usage had increased for any reason, a leak for example, the increase would not be accounted for until the meter was actually read manually since the meter continued to register. When the meter was replaced under the program, the installer would capture the out reading on the old meter and the in reading on the new meter and the account would bill. If we did not have an actual meter readings (electronic or manual) before the change out and the consumption was under estimated then the resulting bill would be high. There was never an issue with regards to the metered usage since the customer did use the water. The challenge was more around fairness since had we read the meter any increase in consumption would have been detected in the month it occurred. In April 2017, we adopted a policy that if a residential customer was estimated for three consecutive months (over 90 days between actual reads) that resulted in a high bill after the meter exchange, then we would take the average daily usage over three months but only bill the customer for a single month to avoid what was termed retroactive billing. The DCMR address estimated reads for less than 90 days where the account is billed actual to actual read. It appears that about 64 accounts had a high bill due to excessive estimates as a result of the replacement project and every customers' bill was adjusted to reflect their normal monthly usage at the exchange in accordance with the policy above. In the event that the Council is aware of any that may have slipped through, then the customer(s) should be referred to our customer services department and we will adjust based on the policy referenced above that will remain in effect until the project is completed.

51. Please provide an update on lead service line replacement in the District, including:

- ◆ How many public lead service lines were replaced in FY 2015, FY 2016, FY 2017, and FY 2018, to date?
 - ◆ FY 2015 – 467 public-side replacements
 - ◆ FY 2016 – 564 public-side replacements
 - ◆ FY 2017 – 534 public-side replacements
 - ◆ FY 2018 – 181 public-side replacements (reported through 01.31.2018)
- How many District residents used DC Water to replace their private lead service lines? Of those, how many were replaced while DC Water was replacing the public side of the water mains, and how many were independent projects? How much did these replacements cost, on average? 5,188 addresses have a record of the private-side service line having been replaced (reported through 01.31.2018) via DC Water's Programs/Projects. Of the 5,188 total private-side replacements, 994 were labeled as Demand/Voluntary replacements, leaving 4,194 that were completed as part of the DC Water CIP. The average cost for completed service agreements associated with DC Water CIP over the past 5 years (does not include the Demand/Voluntary program) was $1,069. If we were to add the voluntary program, the costs are far greater because of restoration in the public right of way. We estimate this cost to range between $2,000 and $2,500 for the private portion of the lead service line under the voluntary program.
- How many remaining public lead service lines exist in the District? How many public lead service lines have been replaced? How many were replaced in FY 2017, and when does DC Water project that all public lead service lines will be replaced? As of December 1, 2017, DC Water's service line data has 11,388 public lead service lines in the District. There are 16,031 service lines listed as unknown. For planning purposes, DC Water assumes half the unknowns are lead, bringing the total estimate to 19,404. Through January 31, 2018, there have been 20,960 public-side lead service replacements; 534 public-side replacements were completed in FY 2017. If 500 public-side lead service lines are replaced per year, it would take 38.8 years to replace the estimated 19,404 lead services (includes services with lead data and no data).
- How does DC Water conduct outreach to homeowners and renters about the dangers of lead in drinking water and information on replacing lead service pipes? Does DC Water send any information by email to customers, especially those that receive online billing and therefore don't get monthly mail from DC Water? We publish an interactive map on DCWATER.COM to help customers identify their service line tap. In addition, we attend ANC meetings and Townhall meetings discussing topics such as lead. We publish news articles on lead in our customer newsletter 'What's on Tap' and in our annual Water Quality Report that is distributed to every household in the District. We also send out advanced materials on lead replacement on every water main replacement advising customers of the lead danger and encouraging that they replace the private side while we are replacing the public side of the service line.

52. Please describe any progress on DC Water's plan to install solar panels over its roofs, tanks, and other property. The DC Water RFP for solar panels to be installed on the Blue Plains site was initially advertised on 11/06/2017. The scope of the RFP originally envisioned solar panels to be mounted on rooftops, parking facilities and settling tanks at the Blue Plains plant. This project is procured through a Power Purchase Agreement delivery. In December, the project was downsized due to proposer uncertainty with the structural integrity of the settling tanks. As now construed, the project will have 2 phases. Phase I will be over roofs and parking areas (3.5 MW), and Phase II will be over settling tanks (10 MW). At this point, the three shortlisted proposers are submitting proposals on the parking lots and the rooftops, and submitting designs for additional panels on the settling tanks for possible Phase II implementation. This proposal was due on February 21, 2018.

53. Please describe the status of DC Water's lawsuit against the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency for corrections to the Total Maximum Daily Load for E. coli. DC Water's 2015 E. coli TMDL complaint against the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) was dismissed on March 13, 2017. On January 13, 2017, EPA issued a revised Decision Rationale for the District's E. coli TMDL. DC Water evaluated the revised Decision Rationale and determined that it resolved the issues raised in our complaint.

54. Please describe DC Water's progress to implement the Water Quality Assurance Amendment Act of 2012.

- In its FY 2016 responses to the Committee's Performance Oversight Questionnaire, DC Water reported that its report on endocrine disruptor compounds mandated by the Act was in draft form and would be sent to the Mayor in April/May 2017. If this report was published, please share it with the Committee. Otherwise, please explain the delay and provide a status update. The final report was sent to the Mayor's office this month and a copy is submitted with this testimony.
- Have DC Water and the Mayor appointed members of the Water Quality Advisory Panel? If not, when will this panel be appointed? DC Water has reached out to academia and our consultants to determine their interest in participating on the Water Quality Advisory Panel. This list will soon be finalized and sent to the Mayor for her to take action.

Technical Memorandum: Assessing the Impact of Anthropogenic Discharges of Endocrine Disruption in the Potomac River

Summary of Key Findings

This technical memorandum summarizes a research project designed to address the impact of anthropogenic discharges of endocrine disruptors in the Potomac River which was developed and performed in accordance with the requirements of the Water Quality Assurance Amendment Act of 2012. The project was designed to provide holistic monitoring and identification of emerging and unregulated contaminants, in the form of estrogenic endocrine disrupting compounds (eEDCs), in the District's drinking water "source" (i.e. the Potomac River) and the Blue Plains Wastewater Treatment Plant Effluent (Blue Plains). The two primary objectives of the project are summarized below:

- Evaluate the upstream and downstream impacts from 'best-in-class' nutrient control, agriculture management, stormwater management and wastewater treatment strategies on concomitant eEDCs (estrogens and estrogenic activity were the template eEDCs evaluated) mitigation from the Potomac River, and
- Assess the relative contribution of eEDCs from WWTPs performing biological nutrient removal.

To address these objectives, sampling campaigns in the Potomac Watershed were performed on a bi-monthly schedule (exceeding the quarterly mandate), with an emphasis on identifying relative source contributions from point sources (including Blue Plains) and non-point sources to the watershed. Sampled locations were chosen to represent a "paired watershed" approach for studying non-point inputs and impact of BMPs. In addition, the project aimed to evaluate the impact of advanced wastewater treatment (Blue Plains WWTP), along with several other best management practices for improving wastewater quality and drinking water source quality throughout the Potomac through co-management of nutrients and eEDCs. As summarized below, major conclusions from the study indicated that:

- Implementation of BMPs focused on nutrient management showed great potential for co-managing inputs of estrogenic compounds to the Potomac Watershed (Objective 1).
- Greater than 95% reduction in estrogens and estrogenic activity were observed at the Blue Plains advanced nutrient control process (Objective 1).
- Input of Blue Plains effluent may dilute estrogenic activity and correlated with observed reductions in estrogen concentrations in the Potomac between Hains Point and National Harbor (Objective 2).
- An annual load calculation indicated non-point sources (agriculture and urban) accounted for over 90% of estrogen load to the Potomac, with Blue plains contributing less than 7% (Objective 2).

Objective 1 Results

Because of the environmental sensitivities associated with the Chesapeake Bay ecosystem, examples of point- and non-point source nutrient management Best Management Practices (BMPs) have been implemented throughout the Potomac Watershed. To date, most emphasis has been on implementing advanced nutrient control at point sources like the Blue Plains WWTP. BMPs for non-point sources (i.e. agriculture and urban runoff) have been implemented less frequently throughout the watershed. Examples of Nutrient management BMPs are shown in Figure 1 and described in greater detail in the memo and accompanying detailed report (Appendix).

Figure 1: Examples of Nutrient Management BMPs for Potomac Watershed Urban and Agriculture non-point sources and the Blue Plains Advanced Nutrient Control Facility

Results from the paired watershed evaluation indicated statistically significant differences in estrogen concentrations associated with implementation of BMPs across all sectors, summarized below:

- Measured estrogenic activity was observed to be 74% less with agriculture BMP implementation, and 87% less with urban stormwater BMP implementation.
- Measured estrone concentration was observed to be 68% less with agriculture BMP implementation, and 44% less with urban stormwater BMP implementation.
- Measurements indicated an average of 99% reduction in estrogenic activity and 96% reduction in estrone across the Blue Plains advanced nutrient removal facility.

Objective 2 Results

Using the results from the sampling plan, combined with available land use data, observed precipitation, and assumed BMP implementation rates, a load analysis was performed to estimate annual contributions from the various contributing sources of estrogenic contaminants into the Potomac watershed. Summarized in Figure 2, the analysis indicated that inputs from point sources implementing nutrient management strategies similar to Blue Plains contributed less than 7% of the observed estrogenic load to the Potomac system, with agriculture and urban runoff sources representing significantly larger proportions of the total estrogen load (>65% and >25%, respectively).

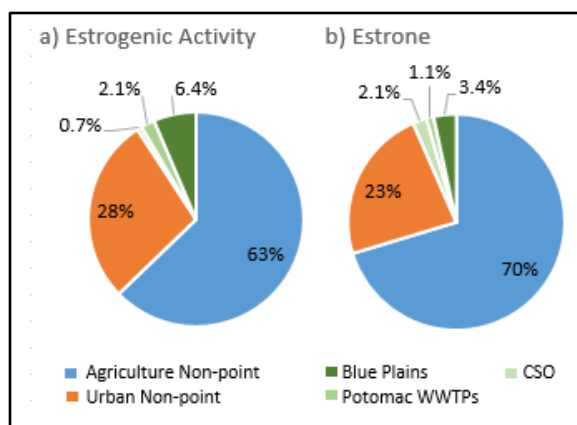

Figure 2: Summary of Estrogen Loads to the Potomac Watershed as a function of sector

Recommendations

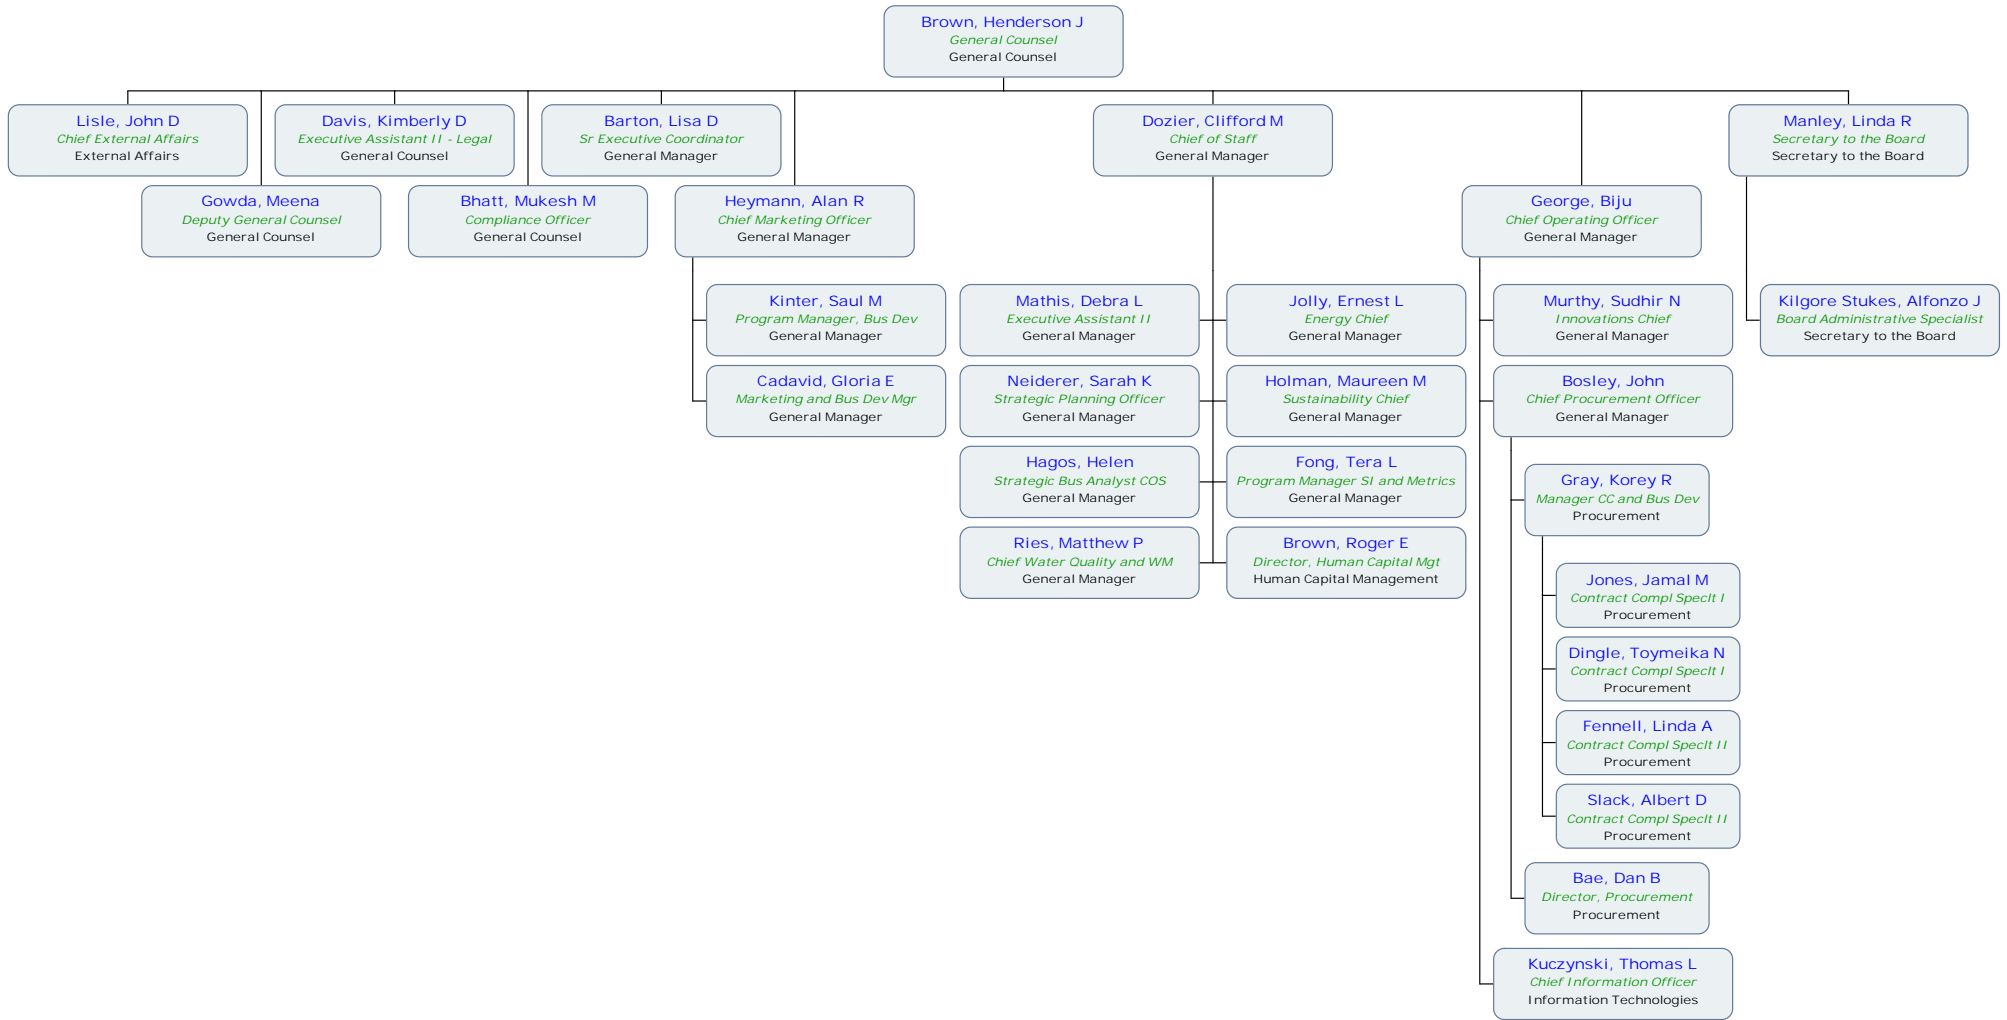

In order to best balance management of water quality for human, economic, and ecological benefit in a resource limited environment, the consideration of holistic approaches for watershed protection are beneficial. This research project, while limited in scope and geographic focus, provided evidence detailing relative contributions of various sources of estrogenic compounds in the Potomac (focusing on point versus non-point contribution), and simultaneously showed potential for co-managing estrogenic compounds and nutrients through implementation of agriculture and urban stormwater BMPs.

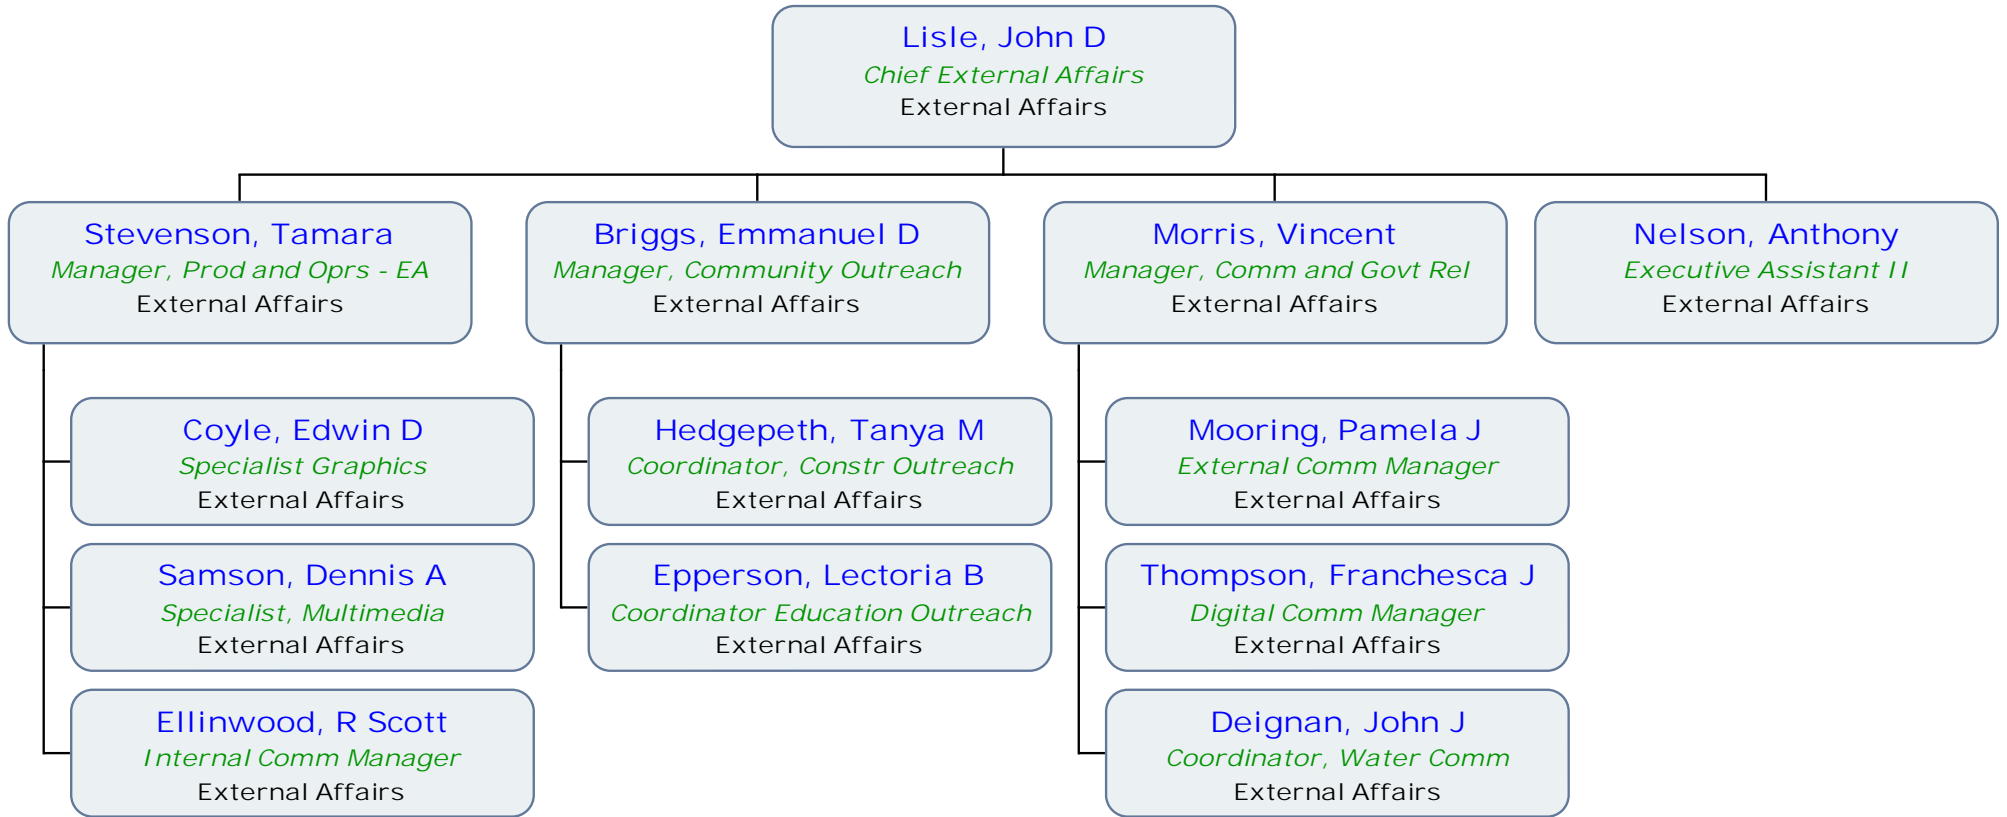

In order to more fully understand holistic benefits of co-management BMP strategies, it is recommended that the District evaluate and fund additional studies to investigate the use of BMPs more holistically for the protection of the Potomac watershed. This evaluation should consider the use of BMPs to control multiple pollutants; nutrients, estrogens, and pathogens for the protection of the watershed, and utilize a risk assessment approach to ensure maximum watershed quality benefit returns on investments. Greater detail of several potential projects for developing this improved understanding are provided in the attached technical memorandum.

10. Please describe the agency's procedures for investigating allegations of sexual harassment or misconduct committed by or against its employees. List and describe any allegations received by the agency in FY17 and FY18, to date, and whether or not those allegations were resolved.

a) DC Water's ("Authority") Procedures for Investigating Allegations of Sexual Harassment or Misconduct

- An alleged victim of sexual harassment or misconduct ("harassment"), whether directly or indirectly, or a person acting on the victim's behalf with or without the victim's consent, may report a harassment incident to the Authority's Equal Employment Opportunity Officer (EEO Officer) or to any supervisor within the Authority with whom the employee feels comfortable within 180 days from the time of the alleged incident(s)

DC COUNCIL PERFORMANCE OVERSIGHT
Beth Stachura, Manager, Labor Relations

- The EEO Officer is responsible for the receipt, acknowledgment, investigation, and reporting the findings of complaints of harassment and discriminatory employment practices within the Authority. The Labor Relations Manager is designated as the Authority's EEO Officer
- Supervisors or other employees to whom an employee has reported allegations of harassment, shall take prompt action to report the alleged incident(s) to the EEO Officer
- The EEO Officer or designee shall promptly initiate investigations of harassment allegations
- The EEO Officer or designee who investigates the harassment allegations shall submit a report of their findings to the Human Capital Management (HCM) Director. If an EEO complaint is filed against the General Manager, Chief of Staff, General Counsel, Chief Financial Officer, or an Assistant General Manager, the EEO Officer shall make arrangements for the complaint to be investigated by a party not subject to supervision by an Authority official, or involved in any contractual or other business dealing with the Authority
- Once the investigative report has been submitted to the HCM Director for review, a meeting shall be arranged with the HCM Director, EEO Officer and the appropriate Department Heads, and both the employee's and offending employee's supervisors to discuss the report's findings. Should the findings reveal that the allegations are "substantiated", then a resolution plan must be promptly implemented
- The EEO Office shall meet with the person who reported the alleged harassment and advise him/her as to whether the investigation resulted in a finding that the complaint was "substantiated" or "unsubstantiated". If the complaint was "substantiated", the employee will be informed of the resolution plan
- In addition to the Authority's internal procedures stated above, employees have the right to file a complaint of unlawful discrimination or harassment with the DC Office of Human Rights or the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission (EEOC)
