Don maccord is an old friend of jack's. KS, were you in the meeting Jack had with him about a year ago? He was a david Abramson guy which means nothing to you but jack does know him very well.

I don't believe we should be meeting with them unless there is some fact I don't know about. This sounds like a business that wants to give us a sales pitch, and this approach is a little too pushy. They should direct their energy toward the executive.

Thank you for getting back to me. I look forward to meeting with Kevin but would really like to have my JV partner Chris McCarver from Branded Cities meet Jack as he will be very important part of our project going forward. Please let me know when Jack has a little time over the next couple of weeks.
