Councilman Stanley J. Anderson ----- Presents the following Resolution:

Whereas, nations in many parts of the world contribute to free international athletic competition during each Olympic year.

Whereas, each community within our United States takes pride in the earnest dedication of its aspiring young citizen-athletes.

Whereas, constructive athletic competition has immense value in motivating youth toward those principles which contribute to good citizenship.

Whereas, the following cities have competed with Washington during past Youth Games: Atlanta, Baltimore, Birmingham, Boston, Cleveland, Detroit, Louisville, Miami, New Orleans, New York City, Patterson, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, San Francisco, San Juan, St. Louis.

Whereas, the Commissioner of the District of Columbia on July 20, 1968, issued a statement declaring Washington, D.C. the site of the Third Annual U.S. Youth Games.

Now, Therefore, Be It Resolved,

Section 1. The District of Columbia City Council joins with the Commissioner of the District of Columbia by concurring that the District should host the 1969 U.S. Youth Games. The Council urges the Department of Recreation to work with local youth and adult representatives in planning this special event, and we strongly support the efforts of such a coalition to procure adequate funds and facilities.

Section 2. We assert that the Youth Games contribute to a youngster's confidence and sense of dignity and directs him toward responsible and productive citizenship.

Section 3. The continued support of such constructive activities is of immeasurable value to the community because its citizen participants often emerge therefrom imbued with such basic principles of good sportsmanship as fairness, humility and graciousness in victory or defeat.

Conventions designed to further Human Rights, in order that each of us may grow in our understanding of the inherent dignity and the equal inalienable rights of each member of the human family.

In gratitude for the liberties we enjoy, we, as representatives of the people work to advance universal freedom and justice and stand ready to uphold the rights of others which are inextricably linked with our own. We welcome the enlightened voluntary self-interest of Nations in securing world peace as indicated by important international agreements such as the nuclear test ban, the non-proliferation treaty currently being ratified, the convention for the settlement of investment disputes, the convention and declaration of Human Rights and other international instruments.

We reiterate our insistence that justice must be sought internationally without the threat of oppression and without resort to assassination or civil disturbance.

We call upon all men everywhere to rededicate themselves to specific action which seeks and end to all forms of injustice, and moves at national and local levels to develop international law as a cornerstone for building future world peace.

Adopted by the District of Columbia City Council.
